

COMPLETELY RESTORED.

Mrs. P. Brunzel, wife of P. Brunzel, stock dealer, residence 3111 Grand ave., Everett, Wash., says: "For fifteen years I suffered with terrible pain in my back. I did not know what it was to enjoy a night's rest, and arose in the morning feeling tired and unrefreshed. My suffering sometimes was simply indescribable. When I finished the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills I felt like a different woman. I continued until I had taken five boxes. Doan's Kidney Pills act very effectively, very promptly, relieve the aching pains and all other annoying difficulties."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hail's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hail's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have secured a meritorious award, and the product is now sold by all druggists. It is the best for all cases of Catarrh. Hail's Catarrh Cure is the best.

A genius is a man who refuses to believe in the impossibilities of other people.

Sweet Potato Bread.

Place one pint of lukewarm water in the mixing bowl, add one tablespoonful of butter, one level tablespoonful of salt, half a cup of good yeast or a half compressed yeast cake which has been dissolved in four tablespoonfuls of lukewarm water, sift in one quart of flour, beat well and stand in a warm place over night. In the morning bake four sweet potatoes, scoop out the pulp and mash through a sieve into the sponge, beat well and add sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Knead lightly, roll out and cut into biscuits. Place these in greased baking pans and very lightly bake in a quick oven twenty-five minutes. When the biscuits are half done take from the oven and brush over with the white of one egg beaten with one tablespoonful of water. Place again in the oven until thoroughly done.

Southern Sweet Potato Pudding.

Wash and boil two pounds of sweet potatoes very soft, but not soggy. Mash the potatoes while warm and add one cupful of butter and beat the mixture until very light in color. Beat four eggs very light with one cup of white sugar and stir into the other mixture, stirring rapidly. Add grated nutmeg to taste, half a pint of sherry wine, one pint of rich milk and the grated yellow peel of one rich lemon. Mix, turn into the pudding dish and bake in a quick oven. Delicious.

KNOWS NOW

Doctor Was Fooled by His Own Case for a Time.

It's easy to understand how ordinary people get fooled by coffee when doctors themselves sometimes forget the facts.

A physician speaks of his own experience:

"I had used coffee for years and really did not exactly believe it was injuring me although I had palpitation of the heart every day.

"Finally one day a severe and almost fatal attack of heart trouble frightened me and I gave up both tea and coffee, using Postum instead, and since that time I have had absolutely no heart palpitation except on one or two occasions when I tried a small quantity of coffee which caused severe irritation and proved to me I must let it alone.

"When we began using Postum it seemed weak—that was because we did not make it according to directions—but now we put a little bit of butter in the pot when boiling and allow the Postum to boil full 15 minutes which gives it the proper rich flavor and the deep brown color.

"I have advised a great many of my friends and patients to leave off coffee and drink Postum; in fact, I daily give this advice." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Many thousands of physicians use Postum in place of tea and coffee in their own homes and prescribe it to patients. "There's a reason." A remarkable little book "The Road to Wellville" can be found in each package.

WHAT FASHION DECREES FOR WOMEN

Newest in Jewel Bags.

The undershirt jewel bag is an English idea, and constitutes a decided improvement over the smaller affair worn with a ribbon around the neck. Cleverly constructed, this new bag is worn underneath the dress. It is made of suede leather in some dark, useful color, and is lined with silk or leather. The large pocket, which seems to be placed on the outside in the center near the top, has a strong purse-clasp. Should it ever be possible that this could come unfastened, it cannot gape open at all when being worn, on account of the two side flaps that come over the back of the pocket and keep all taut, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Of the strongest webbing, long straps are securely fastened at the top edge of the bag, and at the other end they meet a waistband of webbing that buckles firmly around the waist. Another style for this traveling jewel and money bag is of similar materials, the large pocket having several compartments inside; and the top of the bag coming over like a flap to fasten with patent clasps.

Negligee With Stole Collar. Simple negligees are always attractive and fill so evident a need as to be counted among the necessities of the wardrobe. This can be gathered or accordion plaited as preferred and includes the fashionable wide collar with stole ends. The model is made of pale pink crepe albatross with the collar of white, edged with a pretty fancy braid, but any soft and pliable fabric is appropriate and the collar can be of the material, of contrasting color, or of silk on wool as may be liked.

The negligee consists of a shallow yoke to which the fronts and back are joined, the full sleeves and the wide collar. The sleeves are fuller below the elbows and snugger above and are gathered into straight cuffs. When accordion plaiting is preferred both the fronts and back are cut of sufficient width and are finely plaited before being joined to the yoke. The collar is arranged over the shoulders and seamed to the neck, its stole finishing the front.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 5 3/4 yards 21 inches wide, 5 3/4 yards 27 inches wide or 3 3/4 yards 44 inches wide, when negligee is gathered; 7/8 yard 21, 6 3/4 27 or 3 3/4 yards 44 inches wide, when it is accordion plaited, with 3/4 yard of contrasting material for collar and 3 yards of fancy braid to trim as illustrated.

The pattern 4601 is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40-inch bust measure.

Flat neck effects prevail.

Lace bands, in some modish instances, are lulaid.

Some exquisite floral brooches are used for linings.

Collars are so deep as to amount to full-fledged coats.

Widely flowing sleeves seem to come first in favor.

Round capes seem to be preferred to pointed hood effects.

Some immense balloon-like sleeves are caught into ornate flaring cuffs.

The hat that flares up at the left and away off the face is oftenest seen.

Hand-embroidered robe gowns of velveteen are among the beautiful novelties.

Squirrel fur is not seen at all in Paris this winter and mole skin is promised as brief a reign.

Beads, buckles, chains and straps—it's enough to make the fashionable woman feel as if she were in harness.

We are still wearing cream and champagne colored cloth and etamine coats trimmed with silk incrustated lace of the same color.

Changes in Fashion of Sleeves.

Sleeves are certainly growing smaller and the puff at the elbow seems doomed to extinction. The ruffled sleeve reaching to the elbow with a tight-fitting undersleeve is at once becoming and satisfactory.

A gray velvet is made with a sleeve of this description, the undersleeve being tucked gray mousseline de soie.

Another velvet gown, this in champagne color, has even more abbreviated sleeves. They are mere shoulder caps cut in points and almost tight-fitting. The undersleeve is of the heaviest Russian lace piped except at the wrist, where they are slightly fluted. This gown is cut out at the throat to show a glimpse of lace.

Bodice Girdles.

The vogue of the deep belt, or girdle, appears to gain adherents week by week until no wardrobe is considered complete that does not include one or more. These varying styles suit the needs of varying figures and are some full, some plain. As illustrated Number One is made of black Liberty satin, Number Two of black and white taffeta, Number Three of peau de cygne and Number Four of crepe de Chine, but any of the materials used for bodices of the sort are appropriate and the color can be made to suit the demands of the special gown.

The girdles consist of the foundation, which is shaped and fitted to the figure and is used for all, and the full portion of each.

Number one is shaped and shirred on indicated lines, then arranged over the foundation which is boned in order to retain its shape.

Number two is cut in sections which are arranged over the foundation and held by lacing, the whole being boned at back, sides and front.

Number three consists of three portions, which are laid in folds, the center parts being arranged over the centre of the foundation at front and back and the outer portion shaped to give a pointed effect at the front where it terminates and one end is passed through an ornamental ring or buckle.

Number four is similar to number one but is narrower and shows fewer shirrings, so being better adapted to the waists of larger size.

The quantity of material 21 inches wide required for the medium size is 1 yard for number one, 3/4 yards for number two, 1 3/4 yards for number three and 3/4 yards for number four.

The pattern 4603 is cut in three sizes, small or 20 inch waist measure, medium or 24 inch waist measure and large or 28 inch waist measure.

Velvet in Great Variety.

Velvet, which is being much used for visiting and reception gowns, is of a new and wonderful softness and comes in many varieties. Besides the many stamped and printed designs there are some lulaid with satin spots and stripes and others of changeable colors, which shade from brown to deep orange or from petunia to pale heliotrope. The trimming of velvet gowns is, of necessity, simple, and lace—Irish or renaissance—is much used for this purpose.

The candles will burn slowly and steadily through the evening if they are kept on ice all day.

For marks made on painted woodwork by matches, try rubbing first with a slice of lemon, then with whitening, and in a few moments wash with warm soapsuds.

Pickle bottles and jars that smell of onions will be quite sweet and odorless after being left out of doors for three or four days filled with sand or garden mold.

Coffee Grounds a Disinfectant—Coffee grounds are generally thrown away, although they make a capital disinfectant and deodorizer if they are burned on a hot fire shovel and borne through the apartment.

Frequent washing with soap will dim the surface of a mirror. The occasional use of alcohol is recommended, but for frequent washing damp newspaper with a polishing with chamois skin will keep mirrors and table glassware in good condition.

The cloths used in waxing floors or polishing furniture should be kept in a covered crock as long as clean, then, instead of letting them accumulate in closet or storeroom, burn them immediately, since vegetable oils are so liable to spontaneous combustion.

To make your tumblers look bright, add a little ammonia to the water in which they are washed and rinse in clean, cold water.

When Making Cakes—In greasing tins for cakes, instead of butter use lard, as the salt in the butter makes the cake stick to the tin.

A Use for Stale Bread and Butter—Spread half the slice with jam, cover with the other half. Cut into neat squares, dip in batter and fry in boiling fat.

If Your Feathers Get Uncurled—Through being out in damp weather, shake them for a few minutes over a fire on which you have thrown a handful of salt.

To Prevent Doors Banging—A cork neatly covered with some dark material and nailed to the floor about three inches out from the wall will prevent the door banging back and spoiling the wall.

Spot Embroidery.

Many of the very best French models in gowns, separate waists and short coats are embroidered with wafer spots in silk or wool to match the fabric. The fashion is suggestive to the girl who has a plain gown she wants brightened up, for these wafer spots are easily embroidered, and worked upon bodice and skirt-yoke of a cloth dress will make it an altogether new garment.

Powdered Borax.

Powdered borax is a harmless and exceedingly useful article to keep in the house. A tablespoonful added to hard water successfully softens it. It is an agreeable addition to the dishwasher and helps to keep the hands soft instead of irritating them, as does soda.

Shirred Waist and Three Piece Skirt.

Shirred gowns of soft materials continue to hold the fancy of woman-kind and are first favorites of the hour. This one is eminently graceful and shows the drooping shoulder line with shirrings below that give the desired breadth to the figure, and a graduated flounce finished with wide tucks. The model is made of almond green voile with unlined yoke of 4592 Shirred Waist, 32 to 40 bust. 4375 Three Piece Skirt, 22 to 30 waist.

dotted white net and trimming of cream Venetian lace, the effect of color being most satisfactory, but various combinations can be made. To make the gown will be required, for waist 4 3/4 yards 21, 3 3/4 yards 27 or 2 3/4 yards 44 inches wide, with 1 1/4 yards of all-over lace and 3/4 yard of net; for skirt 13 yards 21, 10 3/4 yards 27 or 6 3/4 yards 44 inches wide. A May Manton pattern of waist, No. 4592, sizes 32 to 40, or of skirt No. 4375, sizes 22 to 30, will be mailed to any address on receipt of ten cents for each.

For Evening Wear.

A pretty gown intended for evening or reception wear is made of white silkenne, deeply hand tuckered and effectively decorated with heavy gold cords. The corsage yoke is made of tuckered and shirred maline with a bertha of chiffon, which is knotted at intervals. The entire upper portion of the skirt is tucked to below the knee and a shirred flounce is applied beneath the heavy cord. The sleeves are in elbow length and finished with a chiffon drapery, while the same gold cord does duty for a girdle.

To Make a White Gown Smart.

A white gown may be made very smart with a trimming of orchids, which is expensive to buy, but easy to make if one can embroider. These flowers and leaves are applied. They look especially beautiful on gold and silver cloth.

Readers of this paper can secure any May Manton pattern illustrated above by filling out all blanks in coupon, and mailing, with 10 cents, to E. E. Harrison & Co., 63 Plymouth Place, Chicago. Pattern will be mailed promptly.

AS THE WORLD REVOLVES

DEATH OF GEN. LONGSTREET.

In Him Passed the Last of the Great Confederate Commanders.

The death of Gen. James Longstreet at Gainesville, Ga., Jan. 2, removes the last of the great generals of the Confederate army. Gen. Buckner and Gen. Gordon survive him, but though brave soldiers and good officers they did not take so prominent a position in leadership as Gen. Longstreet, who ranked among the ablest of the Confederate generals.

Gen. Longstreet was a soldier from his youth up. His career began as a West Point cadet and included the Mexican war and the civil war from Bull Run to Appomattox. In the latter struggle he was everywhere conspicuous, but nowhere more so than at Bull Run, Chickamauga, Gettysburg and in the battles of the Wilderness, where he commanded Lee's first corps. In all these memorable battles he displayed not alone the bravery of a dashing soldier and hard fighter, but the technical knowledge and strategic skill of a great general.

GEN. JAMES LONGSTREET.

Perhaps he was the only leader in the Confederate service who ever questioned a decision of Gen. Lee, which he did at Gettysburg, and it led to an estrangement between them for many years.

After the close of the civil war Gen. Longstreet was made successively surveyor of the port of New Orleans, postmaster at Gainesville, Ga., United States marshal, minister to Turkey and United States commissioner of railroads, a position he held at the time of his death. All of these positions he filled with signal ability. History will assign him a high and brilliant place as one of the foremost defenders of the Southern Confederacy, although Southern writers will always contend that if he had obeyed Gen. Lee at Gettysburg the federal army would have been defeated and the Confederate cause might have triumphed.

PLENTY OF SUITORS.

Fortune Hunters in Plenty Willing to Marry Inebriate.

Anna Amelia Miller Garrison, the inmate of the Oneida (N. Y.) county almshouse who has had several thousand dollars in her name for some time, has just now come into possession of an additional legacy of $6,000, and still she clings to the poorhouse. Since the announcement was made in the local papers that Mrs. Garrison had fallen heir to more wealth she has received numerous marriage proposals. C. D. Smith, superintendent at the county home, says that the would-be suitors have not only written to her that they wanted to marry her, but even went so far as to call at the home to talk of love.

Mr. Smith says no one can get Anna away from the home as long as he is there, and neither will he let fortune hunters have an interview with her. Though now 35 years old she is but a child in intellect and does not appreciate the fact that she now has so much money in her own right, some $12,000.

GEN. GILLESPIE IN LUCK.

GEN. GEORGE L. GILLESPIE.

Brig. Gen. George L. Gillespie, whom President Roosevelt has decided to promote to the rank of major general, will be doubly honored when Lieut. Gen. S. B. M. Young retires from the place of chief of staff this month. Gen. Chaffee will succeed Young and Gen. Gillespie will advance from chief of engineers to assistant to the chief of the general staff.

Everybody's Magazine, January, 1904.

In each succeeding number of Everybody's Magazine is found some significant and valuable article bearing on the subject about which the people are most interested at the moment of its appearance. Nothing could have been better than O. K. Davis's explanation of the issues between Russia and Japan in the December number. Every day, since, there have been telegrams from Tokio and St. Petersburg telling of the progress of negotiations between the belligerent powers. The readers of Everybody's had been informed by one of the most entertaining of war correspondents just what to expect when "Slav met Jap." At the moment Congress is the live topic. What's happening in Washington is of paramount interest to the American public, and in Everybody's is found "What Will Congress Do?" written by no less an authority than the ex-Speaker of the House, David B. Henderson, of Iowa.
