

Miss M. Cartledge gives some helpful advice to young girls. Her letter is but one of thousands which prove that nothing is so helpful to young girls who are just arriving at the period of womanhood as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly, for it is the only medicine I ever tried which cured me. I suffered much from my first menstrual period, I felt so weak and dizzy at times I could not pursue my studies with the usual interest. My thoughts became sluggish, I had headaches, backaches and sinking spells, also pains in the back and lower limbs. In fact, I was sick all over.

"Finally, after many other remedies had been tried, we were advised to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am pleased to say that after taking it only two weeks, a wonderful change for the better took place, and in a short time I was in perfect health. I felt buoyant, full of life, and found all work a pastime. I am indeed glad to tell my experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it made a different girl of me. Yours very truly, Miss M. Cartledge, 533 Whitehall St., Atlanta, Ga."

At such a time, the grandest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the necessary changes, and is the surest and most reliable cure for woman's ills of every nature. Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. Address, Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Estes, of New York City, says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to you because I believe all young girls ought to know how much good your medicine will do them. I did dress-making for years before I was married, and if it had not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I do not believe I could have stood the strain. There is no other work that is such a strain on the system. Oh, how my back used to ache from the bending over! I would feel as though I would have to scream out from the pain, and the sitting still made me so terribly tired and weak, and my head throbbed like an engine. I never could eat after work, I was so worn out. Then I was irregular, and had such frightful cramps every month they would simply double me up with pain, and I would have to give up working and lie down. But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound changed me into a strong, well woman. Yours very truly, Mrs. MARTHA ESTES, 513 West 125th St., N. Y. City."

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of female troubles cured. Sold by druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutions. Remember every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

EAGLE'S FIGHT FOR ITS MATE.

After a Brave Battle It at Last Was Lost in the Darkness.

A vicious attack was made upon the crew of the lifesaving station at the mouth of the Chicago river recently by a wild gray eagle, measuring nearly six feet from tip to tip.

Perched on the foremost of the steamer Langdon as it entered the other night was a gray eagle which had alighted there when the ship was still some miles from shore. Twice it left its perch as the Langdon neared the harbor, but each time returned. Close astern of the ship its mate followed.

When the Langdon reached the mouth of the river there was a rush for guns among the crews of the waiting tugboats. Thomas McGinn, mate of the tug Perfection, fired the shot which brought the eagle tumbling to the deck of the Langdon.

While bringing the dead bird ashore, McGinn was forced to fight off its mate, which swooped down upon him repeatedly.

Again and again it swept down out of the darkness and fluttered for a moment just above the heads of the men on the wharf. Half a dozen guns were blazing at it by this time, but it was moving two swiftly to be hit.

A dozen times it braved the shot-guns leveled at it, to swoop down as near as it could to the body of the great bird lying on the wharf, until at last, baffled and desperate, it swept straight upon the deck, and with beak and talons attacked the marksmen.

For more than two hours it circled around the station. Suddenly it dashed straight at the little group surrounding the body of its mate, clawed and pecked at the nearest vicinously for a moment, and then flew lakeward and was lost in the night—Chicago News.

IMPRESSED WITH DUSKY RULER.

Americans Think Well of the Emperor of Abyssinia.

Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia is thus described by a member of Commissioner Skinner's party: "We were received by the emperor, seated on his throne, surrounded by his leading chiefs, a bright, intelligent-looking group of men, all richly clad. The emperor is a large, powerfully built man of about 69, with a bright, pleasant eye and kindly face, although much disfigured by smallpox. He is still alert and active and impresses one as being a man of great force and ability in his country. His clothes—the style of dress peculiar to Abyssinia—were of silk. He also wore a dark satin cape trimmed with gold, had large diamond earrings and around his head a white cloth was tightly drawn and knotted behind. After receiving the commissioner's party and the officers with a cordial handshake he directed us to be seated close to the throne, and in the half-hour interview which followed the emperor impressed us as a progressive ruler of great force and ability."

A Legend.
There comes to my mind a legend, A thing I had half forgot, That throbs in the pulses of life, And well it matters not. It said, in heaven's twilight A great bell softly swings, And man may listen and hearken To the wonderful music that rings. If he puts from his heart's inner chamber All passion, pain and strife; Heartaches and weary longings That throbs in the pulses of life, If he thrust from his soul all hatred; All thoughts of wicked things, He can hear in the holy twilight How the bell of the angels rings. I think there is in this legend, If we open our eyes to see, Somewhat of an inner meaning, My friend, for you and me. So, then, let us ponder a little; Let us look in our hearts and see If the twilight bell of the angels Can ring for you and me.

The Indian Stork.
Of the Indian storks, or adjutants, a recent book says: "Their appearance is a strange medley—a bizarre combination of the greatest splendor with the basest squalor. Were one to see only their wings with their magnificent proportions, one would regard them with unmix'd admiration, but the head clothed in disgustingly scurvy skin and straggling hairs, the malignantly sneaking expression of the pallid eyes and the ponderousness of the huge beak have an almost mesmeric effect in distracting attention from any redeeming features in the picture. Even the splendid gamboge, orange and vermilion hues that paint the distended pouch as it hangs down in front of the chest, in place of redeeming the hideous and almost indecent character of the appendage, only serve to accentuate the horror by attracting attention to its presence."

Headaches very often come from over-tired nerves, and can be relieved by hot applications to the back of the neck. If you have that "fired feeling" and it affects you so that you cannot sleep, try bathing the neck and temples with hot water. This treatment seems to relax the tired muscles and has a soothing effect. Lie down to sleep in peace, for it will come surely.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the system and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Joke On General Miles.

General Miles was standing in the lobby of the Arlington the other night, and happened to overhear a remark made by a small, thin young man who was standing near. "During the Spanish war," the young man had said, "I took five Spanish officers without any assistance from the army or navy." "What's that?" asked General Miles, turning upon him abruptly, "you say you took five Spanish officers without the assistance of the army or navy?" "That's exactly what I said, sir," replied the young man; "by myself and without any loss of blood. It happened at Boston. Here is my card. I am Smallsmith, the photographer. Now, if you will allow me to pose you, General ——" but the general had fled.

Causing Iron to Swim.

Elisha required a stick to make the ax of iron swim. We have never learned the properties of that stick. But there is a pretty trick of causing a piece of iron to swim of its own accord. Let it be a half inch thick, say, and two inches square, or have it round, and perfectly smooth on one side at least. Place the smooth side against the perfectly smooth, square end of an open glass tube, say an inch and a half in diameter, and hold it there until it and the tube are lowered into a vessel of water to a depth greater than about eight times the thickness of the iron. Remove the hand and the iron will remain in its place, the upward pressure of the water preventing its sinking. This is the principle of the iron ship.

He Learned Something.

"I like your preachin'," said a tall, gaunt native who had heard Bishop Potter one night in a small Adirondack town near which he had his summer camp. "I alluz I'arn somethin' new from ye. I rid ten mile to-night to hear ye, an' as usual, I heard somethin' that I never knowed afore." "Well, I'm glad of that," said the bishop, shaking the outstretched hand, "and what was it you learned to-night?" "Why, bishop, I found out fer the first time in my life that Sodom and Gomorrah wazn't twins."

A "J.P." that Fined Himself.
Robert Malzahn, justice of the peace at Good Thunder, Minn., dispenses liquor at retail when not occupied with his judicial cares. A food inspector secured from Mr. Malzahn's place of business a sample of blackberry. A complaint was sworn out and Judge Malzahn in his judicial capacity, heard the case of Malzahn, the saloonkeeper. Finding Malzahn, the defendant, guilty, Judge Malzahn imposed a fine of $25, and then as Malzahn, the saloonkeeper, he paid the fine. The money has been remitted to the state treasurer.

Shad and Their Bones.

A genius who invented a machine for removing the bones from shad is promoting a company with a capital of $1,000,000 to rush the apparatus on the market before the end of the shad season. He says: "I have counted in a single shad of five pounds 3,000 bones and 147,000 eggs. I have eaten 2,500 bones at a meal, for bones do not hurt me, but they are a menace to the world at large. My machine is simply a powerful magnet which is passed slowly over the fish from end to end. The small bones leap right out of the flesh in handfuls. You can use the invention either before or after cooking. I prefer it after, because the fish is sweeter if cooked with the bones in."

An "Angry Tree."

There has just been discovered in the far east a species of the acacia tree, which closes its leaves together in coils each day at sunset and curls its twigs to the shape of pigtails. After the tree has settled itself thus for a night's sleep, if touched the whole thing will flutter as if agitated or impatient at being disturbed. The oftener the foliage is molested the more violent becomes the shaking of the branches, and at length the tree emits a nauseating odor, which, if inhaled for a few moments, causes a violent dizzy headache. It has been named the "angry tree."

A Sure Protection.

Barton, N. Dak., May 9th.—Many cases are being published of how diseases have been cured and lives saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, but there is a family in this place who use this remedy as a protection against the coming on of diseases and with excellent results.

Mr. W. A. Moffet says: "We have no very serious illness or complaint for we always use Dodd's Kidney Pills the very moment we feel the least symptom of sickness and they soon put us right. If we have a touch of lame back or think the kidneys are not right, we take a few Dodd's Kidney Pills and the symptoms are soon all gone."

"My brother had diabetes and the doctor told him he could not live until spring. I got some Dodd's Kidney Pills for him, and although that was several years ago, he has lived through all the winters and springs since and is still living. Dodd's Kidney Pills are a wonderful medicine."

The Czar and the Kaiser.

The last-time the czar and the kaiser met was in the Baltic, where each had a fleet. As their boats drew away from each other the kaiser, from the Hohenzollern, semaphoned to the czar, "The admiral of the Atlantic salutes the admiral of the Pacific." The reply required tact. The czar did not want to offend the British by expressing his belief that the kaiser was right, neither did he wish to show discourtesy to the latter by making no reply. So he quietly rebuffed him by signaling "farewell," and steaming away.

Port Arthur's Name.

Since the war in the east began a good many newspaper readers have wondered how Port Arthur came to get its name. The first foreign vessel to enter that bay was a british war vessel in charge of Lieutenant Commander Arthur, who modestly gave his own name to the place. That was about fifty years ago, and as Port Arthur it has been known ever since.

IN AN OLD TRUNK.

Daby Finds a Bottle of Carbolic Acid and Drinks It.

While the mother was unpacking an old trunk a little 18 months' old baby got hold of a bottle of carbolic acid while playing on the floor and his stomach was so badly burned it was feared he would not live for he could not eat ordinary foods. The mother says in telling of the case: "It was all two doctors could do to save him as it burnt his throat and stomach so bad that for two months after he took the poison nothing would lay on his stomach. Finally I took him into the country and tried new milk and that was no better for him. His Grandma finally suggested Grape-Nuts and I am thankful I adopted the food for he commenced to get better right away and would not eat anything else. He commenced to get fleshy and his cheeks like red roses and now he is entirely well."

"I took him to Matamoros on a visit and every place we went to stay to eat he called for Grape-Nuts and I would have to explain how he came to call for it as it was his main food. "The names of the physicians who attended the baby are Dr. Eddy of this town and Dr. Geo. Gale of Newport, O., and any one can write to me or to them and learn what Grape-Nuts food will do for children and grown-ups too." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

AN ILLINOIS FARMER IN WESTERN CANADA.

A recent issue of the Shelbyville, Illinois, Democrat contains a long and interesting letter from Mr. Elias Kost, formerly a prosperous farmer of that state, who recently emigrated to Western Canada, taking up a claim for himself and for each of his three sons.

From Mr. Kost's letter, which was written Feb. 3, 1904, we publish the following, believing it will prove of great interest to those who have contemplated settling in the Canadian Northwest:

"I had in August, 1902, secured a claim for myself, and filed on three quarter sections for my sons. My claim is one-half mile south of the Edmonton and Lake St. Anne trail.

"Coming so late in the season we had little opportunity to break and to prepare ground for a first year's crop, still we raised over 100 bushels of very fine potatoes, and sowed a few acres of barley, but the season was too far advanced for the barley. However, we secured good feed from it, and on rented ground 18 miles east of us, raised a fine crop of oats, so that we will have plenty of feed for horses. We cut about 60 tons of hay and thus will have an abundance. We have all told, about 240 acres of hay meadow, which would yield the past year over three tons to the acre, and in an ordinary season the meadow would furnish 600 tons of hay. The grass is very nutritious, and cattle on the ranges become very fat without being fed a pound of grain.

"On the upland the grass grows from eight to ten inches tall. This is called range grass, and is suitable for stock at any time, even in the winter when the ground is not covered too deep with snow. Horses subsist on it alone, at all times, provided they are native stock. The grass in the hay meadows here is called red-top, and grows from five to six feet in length, and when cut at the proper time yields an abundant crop of nutritious hay.

"Our cattle have not cost us a cent since we came on our homestead, only the small outlay for salt and labor in putting up hay and shelter. All cattle have been doing well this winter, and feeding up to the first of January was unnecessary, as there was good range up to that time.

"All the snows up to that date were followed by winds from the northwest that melts it very rapidly; these winds are called Chinook winds, and are always warm. In one night a Chinook wind may take away three or four inches of snow.

"We have built on our claim a comfortable house of hewn logs, 20x26 feet, one and one-half stories in height, with a good cellar. During the latter part of June we rafted logs down the Sturgeon to a sawmill, about eight miles away, and thus secured 5,000 feet of good lumber which was needed for the house. Later in the season a shingle mill located six miles away. To this we hauled logs and had shingles cut for the roof.

"We had an abundance of wild fruit the past season, consisting of gooseberries, strawberries, raspberries, elderberries, blueberries, cherries and saskatoons. The latter are a fine looking berry, red, and quite pleasant to the taste, but not much to be desired in cookery. The strawberries are the same as those that grow wild in Illinois. Raspberries are red in color, large and equal to any of the tame varieties, and so are the gooseberries. The cranberries consist of the high and trailing varieties. The latter are most sought and contiguous to the swamps. The ground is literally covered with them as with a red carpet, but the best and most sought is the blueberry, so called by the Indians. This is the famous "huckleberry" (whortleberry) of the Blue Ridge Mountains in Pennsylvania, and cannot be excelled for excellence by any fruit cultivated. It is found here both on the prairie and in the timber in immense quantities.

"Game is very plentiful so far as prairie chickens, pheasants, ducks of all kinds, and geese are concerned. We have taken nearly 500 chickens and pheasants, also a great many ducks. "An occasional deer is seen, but are not plentiful, only one having been taken during the season in this settlement.

"Fish are very plentiful at all seasons of the year. Fish wagons and sleds are passing almost daily along the trail with heavy loads of fish, destined for St. Albert and Edmonton. From the latter point they are shipped south on the Calgary and Edmonton railroad to points along the line, and also to Assiniboia, on the Canadian Pacific railroad."
