CITY WILL FALL

JAPANESE HAVE PORT ARTHUR AT THEIR MERCY.

POSITIONS COMMAND TOWN

Mikado's Men Can Drive Russians from Main Forts at Their Pleasure — Japanese Losses in Last Assault on Port Arthur.

CHE FOO—Port Arthur is doomed. The correspondent of the Associated Press here has received information, the reliability of which is beyond question, that the Japanese now occupy positions which place the east side of the town at their mercy.

The last assault has gained for them positions which insure their ability to capture the main east forts whenever they are ready. It is calculated by the Japanese that if the Russians do not surrender the former will be capable of prolonging their final stand at Liaotai mountain on the Tiger's Tail for a much longer time, with the mere hope of prolonging the struggle. Long before the second Pacific squadron arrives the Japanese flag will wave over the wrecked citadel. This will end Viceroy Alexieff's dream of an unconquerable city.

The Japanese have not occupied the main forts and highest points of the hills, but they occupy in overwhelming numbers positions which will enable them to drive the Russians back whenever they desire.

When the Japanese occupy the east fort ridge they will completely dominate the other Russian forts with their artillery.

LONDON—The Daily Telegraph's Che Foo correspondent, telegraphing Thursday, says that the Japanese losses during the last assault on Port Arthur were heavier than on any of the previous attacks. The bombardment, he says, was so fierce that the streets of Dalny were said to tremble, as though from an earthquake.

The same paper's correspondent with General Oku, under date of November 2, says that the indications are that a terrific engagement is about to commence.

CHE FOO—The Japanese are now in a position to commence the beginning of the end of the operations to capture the eastern fortified ridges. Their siege park has been completed by the placing of 11-inch howitzers. During the night of October 29 all the reserves advanced through a network of trenches in front of the eastern fortified ridges from south of Keekwan to west of Keekwan and to the west of Rihlung mountain, called by the Japanese Shochosan.

The bombardment began at dawn October 30, and infantry attacks were planned to go against Rihlung mountain, an untreachered hill between the coast of Banjusan and the east of Keekwan and on three Keekwan forts.

SLOWLY GETTING TOGETHER.

Russia Agrees to Part of Terms on North Sea Court.

ST. PETERSBURG—Negotiations regarding the North sea court of inquiry have not yet been concluded.

The Associated Press is informed the present position is as follows: The terms of the draft of the treaty of the legislation of the court are under consideration by the emperor, who may desire some modifications, but these, if any, are not expected to be of importance. One of the plans already agreed on is that Great Britain and Russia will jointly propose that France and the United States appoint a high naval officer as a member of the court, which probably will sit in Paris.

The four officers of the Russian Baltic squadron, who, it was originally arranged, were to remain in Paris until the arrival of Admiral Kaznakoff, are coming on to St. Petersburg to present the report of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky to the emperor.

No Spirit for Gayety.

ST. PETERSBURG—There was little attempt Thursday to celebrate, except in a perfunctory way, the tenth anniversary of the accession of Emperor Nicholas. The imperial family attended a Te Deum at the Kazan cathedral and there were services in all the churches. Later the troops were paraded, the theaters gave free exhibitions to the school children, and there was music and holiday displays in the parks, but on account of the anxiety regarding Port Arthur everything was on a small scale.

BEGIN AN ATTACK.

Furious Assault on Port Arthur Outer Defenses.

CHE FOO—The general assault upon Port Arthur, which began in a preliminary way October 24, developed into a fiercely raging battle Monday, when, according to a hitherto infallible authority, the Japanese flung heavy forces against the fortress in their third attempt to secure a commanding position.

The Japanese have been preparing for this assault for a month. It is believed that the Japanese did not expect to capture the town on this occasion, but to accomplish another important forward step. This plan was adopted following the first assault, when thousands of lives were sacrificed in an attempt to swarm over the fortifications by a mere force of number, regardless of loss.

This assault, like the previous one, was a climatic incident of weary weeks of trench digging, gun mounting and small engagements. In the opinion of experts the assault will cease when the Japanese have secured such position as will enable them to creep steadily closer under the noses of the Russian guns. It is believed that two more general assaults will be necessary before the distance between the belligerent lines is sufficiently shortened to make an attempt to enter the main forts and make the end of the siege practicable.

A steamer which has just arrived here from New Chwang reports having heard heavy firing at Port Arthur Monday night and Tuesday until it was out of earshot, indicating a continuance of the battle which began October 24 in a preliminary manner and developed Monday into the third attempt of the Japanese to secure a commanding position.

The Japanese opened fire with their artillery along the whole line, incidentally continuing their daily practice of dropping shells into the harbor. The Russians replied, the sounds, as of distant thunder, telling the inhabitants of Port Dalny that the long expected assault on the fortress was imminent. The bombardment continued furiously until the afternoon of October 26, when the Russian guns on the Etso mountain, Antse mountain and Rihlung mountain became briefly silent.

The town was decorated in red, white and blue, and pictures of President Roosevelt, President Amador and Governor Melendez were prominently displayed.

GLOOM IN RUSSIA

FEAR EXPRESSED FOR THE SAFETY OF PORT ARTHUR.

DESPERION IN THE WAR OFFICE

General Nogu Making a Supreme Effort to Capture the Fortress—Feels Confident That Success Will Soon Attend His Efforts.

ST. PETERSBURG—There is considerable anxiety here over the military situation. No late news has been received from Mukden, General Sakharoff's report of November 1 merely indicating that matters were at a deadlock around Shakhe. The Japanese have made some tentative moves on both flanks, which were checked, but there are no signs yet of a general advance by their army.

Foreign reports from Port Arthur are decidedly gloomy, while the authorities continue to profess confidence in General Stoessel's ability to hold out, the popular feeling is that the heroic garrison, which already has made a historic defense, must now be near the limit of human endurance.

The official reports from Tokio describing the desperate assaults on Port Arthur, beginning October 26, have created visible depression at the war office. The sustained character of the bombardment with siege guns and the breaching of the walls by underground mines, but above all the fact that the Japanese government after weeks of silence regarding the operations of the besiegers have given out these reports before actual success has crowned their efforts, convinces the military authorities that after long preparations General Nogi is not only making a supreme effort to carry the fortress, but feels so confident of success that the result of the preliminary operations has been made public. They believe the assault was timed for the announcement of the fall of the fortress to be made upon the birthday of the mikado tomorrow, which, by a strange coincidence, is the tenth anniversary of the accession of Emperor Nicholas and a great Russian holiday. Tomorrow, therefore, is expected to be marked by fate for a day of immense rejoicing either for Japan or Russia, according as the present assault succeeds or fails. The war office is trying to buoy up the Russian hopes with references to the long and successful defense Lieutenant General Stoessel has thus far conducted, but things have now reached such a pass with the garrison and the character of the present attempt upon the fortress is evidently so determined that the authorities frankly admit they would not be surprised if the end was at hand. In the face of the gloomy reports direct from the Invalid Russ, the army organ, today announces that the storming operations ended with a repulse of the Japanese on Monday, but the paper fails to give its authority for this important statement. No official report warranting it has been received by the war office.

BATTLE MAY BE DEFERRED.

There May Be No More Fighting This Year.

ST. PETERSBURG—The expectation of serious developments at the theater of war has again failed of realization. Today's official dispatches record nothing more serious than the usual skirmishes. The strategists at the war office are generally inclined to believe that the expected great battle may be deferred and possibly may not occur this year, though the Japanese may make a desperate attempt to flank General Kuropatkin and compel him to surrender Mukden. If General Kuropatkin is convinced that the Japanese are now numerically superior, he may decide to draw off, as it would obviously be unprofitable to risk a general engagement until the vast armies to be placed under his command can reach Manchuria. Whatever happens it is not likely that the Japanese can take Kuropatkin unawares. Repeated reconnaissances beyond the Japanese lines betray the strength and purposes of Field Marshal Oyama's movements. If the Japanese really intend to advance it is likely they will do so immediately, and not await the arrival of the eight Russian corps the first installment of which is already at Mukden.

Requiem Mass for Alexander III.

ST. PETERSBURG—The emperor and empress and the imperial family attended a solemn requiem mass at the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul in memory of Alexander III, who died ten years ago Wednesday. It is now understood that General Linovitch's army will be designated the first and General Kanibar's the third, the composing standing as explained in former dispatches.

President Cabrera of Guatemala has turned against Toledo.

Payne, a sheep man from Boise, Ida., to H. E. James, St. Paul, Minn., when they will be shipped for feeding purposes. The sale consisted of 6,000 head of 62-pound lambs and 80-pound wethers.
