HAPPY WOMEN.

Mrs. Pare, wife of C. B. Pare, a prominent resident of Glasgow, Ky., says: "I was suffering from a complication of kidney troubles. Besides a bad back, I had a great deal of trouble with the secretions, which were exceedingly variable, sometimes excessive and at other times scanty. The color was high, and passages were accompanied with a scalding sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills soon regulated the kidney secretions, making their color normal, and banished the inflammation which caused the scalding sensation. I can rest well, my back is strong and sound, and I feel much better in every way."

GOOD MAN CORNERED

PARISHIONER TOOK ADVANTAGE OF HIS PASTOR.

Good Advice and Excellent Logic Turned to the Disadvantage of the User—Could Only Have Occurred in Sinful Chicago.

"Doctor," said the old man as he took a seat in the minister's study, "I've come to see you this morning about a matter that I've been thinking of with a good deal of earnestness for some time. I'll get to the point at once. Do you believe a taxidger can enter the kingdom of heaven?"

"My dear Mr. Bullion," the good man replied, laying a hand upon the visitor's knee and looking at him kindly, "I'm glad you have come to me with this matter, and I will be frank with you. I don't believe a man who avoids paying his just share of taxes can have favor in the sight of the Lord. One who is worth millions may think when he pays his taxes that he has a right to practice deception. He sees that Smith's taxes amount to only $15 a year, and he says to himself:

"Smith has just as many children to educate as I have. The police will protect me. He enjoys all the blessings of living in a free country, just as I enjoy them. Why, then, should I pay $10,000 a year in taxes while he pays only $15?"

"But in arriving at such a conclusion you would forget that even if Smith had as many children as you had his little ones would naturally be in less danger than yours. The police would not have to guard them so carefully as they would yours to keep them from being kidnapped. And, again, remember that while Smith might enjoy the blessings of freedom, he would not have as much to lose if our government were to fail as you would. Finally, Smith, in paying $15 a year, might be conscientiously obeying the law, while you, even though you paid $10,000, might be violating it. Thus you would be sinning just as much as if you stole, for you would, indeed, be stealing from the state."

"Um, I see. And supposing Smith, in paying only $15, was avoiding his duty. What if he ought to pay $20, to be exactly fair? Would the Lord be likely to regard him as being just as much of a thief as he would consider me for paying only $10,000 when I ought to pay $15,000?"

"Just as much. I don't believe he would have any more chance than you would to enter the kingdom of heaven."

"That's what I thought. I'm much obliged to you. I see your taxes amount to $7.50, and you're drawing a salary here of $6,000 a year. Say, if your investments have been turning out badly, come around to me and I'll put you next to a good thing or two. I always like to see a good man get along."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Terrible Price for Fame.
An engineer named Knorr, a German who has become a naturalized Russian, built four of the great bridges on the Trans-Siberian railway, including the big Yenisei and Obi bridges, which cost, respectively, $2,300,000 and $2,000,000. They were great engineering feats and brought him international fame in his profession.

He had five daughters, who were famous in Russia for their beauty, and whom he loved dearly. Just after his first great bridge was completed, one of them died; and as each of his three succeeding bridges was built, another died. There seemed to be a fatality in it.

He would not build a fifth bridge, and now all his fame and wealth are worth nothing to him, for he has never recovered from the shock of losing his dearly-loved children.

Wasp Exercise.
"There's nothing like tennis," said the young matron. "Not that we have a court of our own yet, as we hope to have some day, but we have what seems likely to prove an excellent substitute so far as exercise goes, and that is a wasp nest somewhere in the side wall of the house."

"Day before yesterday I killed twenty-two wasps—this way: You grasp the whisk broom, racquet fashion keep your eye on the wasp, and when he serves with his characteristic dash and vigor, you give a return stroke that stuns him enough to give you a chance to finish killing him off."

"I'm having lots of practice and getting in fine form for that court of ours, by and by. And incidentally, I'm chief lifeguard for my two youngsters."—New York Sun.

Admiral Schley Uses Pe-ru-na

In His Home.

Peruna Drug Co., Columbus, Ohio. Gentlemen:—"I can cheerfully state that Mrs. Schley has taken Peruna and I believe with good effect."
—W. S. SCHLEY.

Battle of Santiago, Where Admiral Schley Made History.

ONE of the greatest naval battles in the world was the Battle of Santiago. Never since the dispersion of the Spanish Armada has there been a more important victory in the onward march of civilization than in the notable event of July 23, 1898, in which the great hero, Admiral Schley, took a leading part.

It was a great naval battle. Without a moment's warning it began. Quick decision, undaunted courage, excellent discipline, resolute self-confidence—these combined in Admiral Schley to produce that dash and daring so characteristic of the American soldier.

A man must think quickly in these days. There is no time for slow action. New enterprises arise in an hour. Old ones pass away in a moment.

A multitude of great themes clamor for notice. A man must take sides for or against by intuition, rather than logical deduction.

One day this fighting admiral, Schley, happened to be in company with other admirals on various topics of popular interest. The subject of Peruna was raised,—its popularity as a cathartic remedy, its national importance, its extensive use.

One asked his opinion. Without a moment's hesitation, he said: "I can cheerfully say that Mrs. Schley has taken Peruna and I believe with good effect."

Like the Battle of Santiago, the thought was sprung upon him without any warning, and he disposed of it with the same vim and decision as he did with the Spanish fleet led by the ill-fated Viscaya.

His words concerning Peruna have gone out into the world to be repeated by a thousand tongues, because he has said them.

Like the news of his victory over Cervera, his words concerning Peruna will be repeated by the multitudes and passed from mouth to mouth, across oceans and continents.

Except for an in-born manly independence, in a country of free speech, these words never would have been uttered by an officer in such a notable position as that of Admiral Schley.

Except for a world-wide notoriety and popularity, such as Peruna enjoys, no remedy could ever have received such outspoken public endorsement by such a man.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO YOUNG GIRLS.

All young girls at this period of life are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; her advice is freely and cheerfully given, and her address is Lynn, Mass.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries.

Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality,—often it is never recovered.

A Young Chicago Girl Saved from Despair.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more.—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life; with it she can go through with courage and safety the work she must accomplish, and fortify her physical well being so that her future life may be insured against sickness and suffering.
