Sympathy and Love.

Sympathy is helpful. It is a balm to the wound that rankles in our sensibilities. The world is not so lonely a place when there is some one in it who shares our sorrows.

Shoemakers in Canton.

The seven hundred shoemakers' shops in Canton, China, employ eight thousand men and twenty thousand women, who work from daylight till dark.

Coins in Suggestion Box.

The Alhambra Music hall, London, placed at its door a box with a slot in it for the receipt of suggestions from patrons for the name of a new exhibition to be given.

New Match Cases.

One of the new trinkets displayed by jewelers is a metal case designed to hold the little books of pasteboard matches.

Get Full Information.

A lawyer in a western city once went to another part of the country on business. On arriving at his destination he found he had forgotten the name of the firm he had come to see.

Advice for Money-makers.

To some money-making seems so simple that they have given very simple advice on the subject. Barum said: "To get rich is easy. Save more than you spend."

Successful Women Inventors.

Besides the inventions brought out by women under their own names in their own rights, there are every year dozens of successful inventions patented for women by their employers and produced under the firm name.

For Penal Institutions.

A "bar" which cannot be sawed through has been patented by a Pennsylvania inventor, specially intended for use in penal institutions. The bar has a number of longitudinal holes near the surface, which are filled with glass.

Comparative Attractions.

One of life's injustices: When a woman with a lot of children and baskets and valises leaves on the train, there is no one to see her off.

Woke Up a "Dead" One.

The late Dr. Austin Flint once saw in consultation a desperately sick man. Waiting a reasonable time for some one of the family to pay his fee, he sent a bill "To the estate of _____, deceased."

Statue of Virgin on Mountain.

A huge statue of the Virgin has been successfully placed on the summit of the Dent du Geant, a mountain in Italy 13,000 feet high, near Milan. Divine service was performed on the summit in celebration of the event by the vicar of Courmayeur.

Life Saved by Hatpin.

The life of Miss Dorothy Josephine Lumley of Enham, near Andover, England, was saved by her hatpin. She was struck behind the head by a revolver bullet while on a lonely path, but, thanks to the hatpin, the bullet was deflected from its course.

High-Priced Real Estate.

The highest-priced real estate in London is near the Bank of England. Land sells there at the rate of $375 a square foot—$16,250,000 an acre.

Petroleum-Bearing Strata.

The petroleum-bearing strata show remarkable resemblance in formation and composition in the world over. Everywhere they are bituminous clay-shales and variegated clays interstratified with sandstones and conglomerates.

Fathers and Sons.

Observers are struck with the camaraderie carried to the verge of equality which obtains between fathers and their schoolboy sons; so that their mutual companionship is a source of unfeigned pleasure to both, and should prove a safeguard against many evils in the future.

Finns Live on Wood.

The trees of Finland are the money bags of the people. A peasant even makes his shoes from birch bark, and thatches his roof with shavings. He virtually lives on wood.

To Relieve Insomnia.

A Rochester woman declares that a water bag filled with ice water and applied to the base of the brain will relieve insomnia.

Scattered the Mourners.

"What's doing?" was the brief utterance that came from James Black of Omaha as he raised himself from his coffin just as the lid was being put on. There was considerable doing in that undertaker's shop for the next few minutes.

Receipts From Japanese Forests.

Japanese progress is shown in the fact that the receipts from her state forests for timber, firewood, bamboo and other products rose from $129,000 in 1880 to $1,204,000 in 1903, an increase of $1,075,000.

The Grand Mulets is a mass of granite on Mount Blanc "rising up like an island in a tremendous billowy ocean of ice and snow."

Straw Hats Supersede Silk.

In London the unusual heat of the last summer gave a further vogue to the straw hat and made silk hats so unpopular that the factories dismissed many of their workmen.

Same with a Man.

Even a postage stamp is no good if it gets stuck on itself.

Logical Theory.

Singleton—I wonder why some folks think the moon has anything to do with making people crazy? Wedderly—The idea probably originated with some man during his honeymoon.

When Can Jackle Sleep?

Says Admiral Sir John Arbuthnot Fisher, first sea lord of the British navy: "In our future sea fights, with destroyers haunting us by night and submarines dogging us by day, the two chief requisites will be endurance and nerve. A machine has no nerves and never gets tired. In the Neolithic days they could go to sleep at night. When the destroyers arrived we settled to go to sleep by day. Now the submarine has come, you can sleep neither by day nor night!"

But Lived to Tell It.

Upgardon—What on earth would you up like that, old fellow? Been kicked by a mule, or run over by an automobile? Atom—Both. The one kicked me in the way of the other.

Where the Student Falls.

"How is your son doing at college?" "Well," answered the solicitous father, "he does very well in philosophy and the dead languages, but he is a mighty poor football player."

Stated in Diplomatic Fashion.

The fierce fellow—So you wouldn't say that Longfellow was a liar, eh? The mild man—No; but if he were conducting a newspaper I should not hesitate to assert that he had an exclusive news service.

Uncle Eben's Thinker.

"When a m-a has done in'ves' his money in circus tickets an' hoss races," said Uncle Eben, "I ain' got much patience wif his indignation 'bout de trusts."—Washington Star.
