

HEALTH is the Most Important

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have had 40 years of scientific experience.

Every method of bread-and-cake raising has been exhaustively studied in this country and abroad.

The result is a perfect product in Royal Baking Powder. There is no substitute for it. The purity and efficiency of Royal Baking Powder have been commended by the highest authorities of the world.

These facts mean two important things to all housekeepers:

First: that Royal Baking Powder is healthful and makes wholesome food.

Second: that Royal Baking Powder makes food good to taste.

H. R. No. 49, appropriating money for the establishment of a binding twine factory at the state penitentiary has been recommended for passage; also H. R. 101, appropriating $15,000 for the Nebraska exhibit at the Lewis-Clarke exposition at Portland.

Burlington February Bulletin.

Very cheap one way rates to California, Puget Sound and the Northwest country, March 1st to May 15th.

Cheap rates east to Washington, D. C., for the inauguration. Send for printed matter and write for information. Describe your trip and let me advise you the least cost. L. W. WAKELEY, General Passenger Agent, Omaha, Nebraska.

Miss E. E. Betts of Sargent journeyed through here Tuesday on her way to Aurora for a two weeks visit with friends.

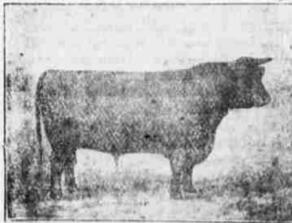

K. C. Kimble, who had been working at Merna for the past month, returned to his home at Ansley Tuesday.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's, or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. BUCKLEN & CO., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada. Lee Bros.

J. G. BRENZER, Breeder of Pure Scotch and Scotch Topped Short Horn Cattle. My herd numbers 40 cows. Will compare in breeding and quality with any cow of Chicago. My experience has taught me that to raise good milk-producing cattle, the best method is to raise them in this attitude. I expect to raise them here the equal of anything raised in the U. S. I now have 20 bulls suitable for this, and next year's service. My cows weigh from 1400 to 2000 pounds. Come and see them.

A Telephone Meeting.

A meeting of the citizens of Broken Bow was held in the city Monday to consider the plan of organizing a co-operative telephone company for the county. The present franchise of the Central Telephone Co., having about expired by limitation the question as to whether a plan could not be inaugurated to furnish everybody in the county with telephone service at a minimum price.

The plan contemplates consolidating all lines and giving every owner of a phone the free use of the lines anywhere on the system. It was believed if this consolidation could be effected that every town as well as every individual would receive equal benefit. None but owners of phones could own stock and their stock would be limited by the number of phones they use. There would be no inducement for anyone to want more stock than he has phones as the object of the consolidation is to charge no more per month for the use of the phones than is necessary for operating expenses. Where the scheme has been in operation the necessary expense to the members has not been more than from 25 to 50 cents per month.

The vote of the sense of the meeting was more than two to one were in favor of the plan.

The meeting was presided over by L. H. Jewett and Emerson Purcell was its secretary. The chair was authorized to appoint a committee of five of which he was to be one to investigate the plan and secure estimates and report at a subsequent meeting. The chair appointed to act with himself, H. M. Sullivan, H. J. Shinn, Willis Cadwell and E. R. Purcell.

Trains Delayed.

The snow storm last week was the occasion of a longer delay of trains than was ever witnessed in this vicinity before. No mail was received here from the east from Saturday morning, Feb. 11, until Monday evening, Feb. 13th. It was about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when #1 arrived at this place with the accumulated mail of Saturday and Sunday. The train was detained fourteen hours at Lincoln and eleven hours four miles east of Ravenna, where the engine was thrown off the track by a snow drift. It was the first storm of the season where the snow had drifted. There had been no wind with the numerous former snows and although the snow lay on the ground about a foot deep, rail and road travel was not interfered with to any great extent in this vicinity.

A Pretty Little Romance.

On last Sunday night, about 11.15, at the Methodist Parsonage, Rev. Chamberlain said the words that made two souls beat as one.

The contracting parties were Mr. Nelson Garwood and Miss Pearl Roberts, both prominent young people of Seneca. Mr. Garwood being an employee of the B. & M. and Miss Roberts teacher in the city schools of that city.

The groom arrived in the city on 42 Saturday, and at once secured Judge Armour's consent to the marriage, and anxiously awaited the coming of Sunday's train which was to bring the bride elect. It was a long wait, but immediately upon its arrival about 10:50 p. m. bringing the bride, accompanied by Miss Veda Gordon, a niece of the party was driven to the parsonage where the Minister and Mr. Kennedy who is an old time friend of the groom was awaiting them, and where the ceremony was performed.

Mr. Garwood and wife returned to their future home at Seneca, Monday, to receive the congratulations Sunday night.

McKinley News.

Plan your watermelon patch now.

Ben Empfield has bought John Dressels entire herd of cattle for which he paid an average price of $12.00 per head.

Henry Smith has turned into a doctor it seems. He claims he can cure any "critter" of corn-stalk disease for $5.00. No cure no pay.

Mrs. McClure is in town helping care for Mrs. Empfield who is very sick. Ben Empfield's little boy is also very sick at present writing.

So many of the citizens in this community and between here and Callaway, having expressed a desire to organize a Rural Telephone Co. and have connection with Callaway, a meeting has been called at the Spring creek school house, on Thursday evening Feb. 23rd., to discuss the subject and if possible subscribe stock and organize a company and proceed as soon as possible to put the theory in to practice. It is a worthy project and for all it costs, no progressive farmer can afford to be without one. If you are interested at all it will undoubtedly pay you to be present and present your views and perhaps you will get an office. Come anyhow.

Knew Where He Slept

John L. Sullivan, at his recent Boston benefit, said to two schoolboys who approached to shake his hand:

"Boys, if you want to get on do your work. Work is the only thing to make men happy and successful. Don't be like the lad who worked so hard that when his father wrote to the boss of the concern asking where his son slept, the answer sent back was:

"Your son sleeps in the shop in the daytime, but we don't know where he sleeps at night."

A Bunch of Fire Crackers.

A lit firecracker in the hand isn't worth two in the pack. There is no use pulling the trigger after the gun has been fired. Do not look a gift cannon in the mouth.

Trials of the Thespian.

"Yes, Bilkins and the rest of the company walked all the way on the railroad track from Bingville to Oskosh with the thermometer at four below."

"It must have been an awful trip."

"Yes it was. And peculiar, too. The leading man was always at the end of the straggling line, the villain proved the most unselfish in the bunch, the first walking gentleman had to be carried, the heavy tragedian was the life of the party, and the first comedian grew so demoralized that he tried to commit suicide."

To Tax Foreign Actors.

There is in Sweden a movement, supported, it is said, by the government, to tax all concerns and performances given by artists who are not Swedish subjects, the tax varying from $1.50 to $25 each concert, according to the amount of money taken for tickets.

Pope's Blessing.

Judge Current, who found no criminal business at Mullingar, on a visit to that city recently, attributed the happy circumstances to the Pope's blessing. At a private audience he had asked the Pope to bless the four counties which formed his circuit.

GOOD STORY BY THE SPEAKER.

The Point of Which Senator Depew Readily Anticipates.

Speaker Cannon anticipated the point of a joke which Senator Depew was contributing at a recent dinner, and the victim, in good nature, threatened retaliation.

"I will give you a chance," observed the speaker, accepting the spirit of the jest. "Perhaps you have heard how the curative properties of the hot springs in Arkansas were discovered?"

"I will guess it before you finish," challenged the senator.

"That is just what I thought at the time I heard the story," nodded Mr. Cannon. "I obtained it from a native of the district. It seems that the advance guard of civilization in the Arkansas wilderness was a trapper with the usual dog. One day a bear gave chase to the dog and the fugitive lost his tail. In his flight the dog chanced to dash through a pool of the hot water."

"My cue!" laughed Senator Depew, interrupting. "The next day a new tall grew on the dog and the springs were discovered."

"No," replied the speaker, solemnly. "The owner of the dog killed it by poor aim while shooting at the bear. The dog's tail dropped from the jaws of the bear into the spring and—"

"A dog grew on the tail," suggested Mr. Depew.

"You win," admitted the speaker.—New York Times.

SUNDAY WAS HIS PAPA'S DAY.

Youngster's Reason for the Day's Special Significance.

Like many busy fathers, George A. Beaton, president of the American Finance and Securities company, finds his keenest pleasure in talking and playing with his eight-year-old son, Bruce. Since the Beaton has moved to their summer home in Plainfield Bruce finds that his father's commuting sadly interferes with their daily association, Sunday being the only time they are able to spend any great amount of time together. That Bruce attaches great importance to the weekly arrival of his father was aptly illustrated recently as Mrs. Beaton was superintending his nightly prayer.

"Now, Bruce," she said, "you must not forget what day to-morrow is."

"To-morrow? Why, it's Sunday," he answered.

"Yes, but whose day is Sunday?" asked Mrs. Beaton, to impress him with the religious significance of the day.

"Why, it's papa's day!" he quickly replied. "Did you think I was going to forget that?"—New York Times.

"Praise Not the Day Till It is Over." Thou shalt not praise the day till night is falling. However fair its dawn and noon may be: Ortimes at eventide come storms appalling. Setting the lightning and the thunder free.

Thou shalt not blame the day till it is ending. Though it has brought thee flood and hurricane; Full oft at nightfall comes deep peace descending in sunset gold and roses, glorious gain.

Praise each fair morn that calls thee up from sleeping. And through the hot day work with all thy might. Then leave the evening hour in Heaven's keeping. Which sent both winter cloud and summer light. —Westminster Gazette.

Too Much for Bismarck.

During a visit to London Bismarck was invited to inspect a famous brewery, and, in acknowledgment of his reputation for beer drinking, an enormous tankard of old ale was set before him. "I seized the tankard," said the iron chancellor, "and I thought of my country and drank to Prussia and tilted it till it was empty. Then I thanked my entertainers and succeeded in making my way as far as London bridge. There I sat down in one of the stone recesses and for a considerable length of time the great bridge went round and round me."

Blunders in Translation.

In New Britain a missionary in translating, was seeking some native idiom to convey the idea of a binding oath, when a chief suggested that the desired phrase was, "I would rather speak to my wife's mother than do such and such a thing." In British Columbia a missionary wanted his catechist to translate "A crown of glory that fadeth not away." This was done to the satisfaction of all concerned, but ultimately the missionary found to his horror that it had been rendered, "A hat that never wears out!"

Pipe Made of Bamboo.

A traveler in the Philippines writes: "You see that girl coming along the streets carrying a long cylinder of bamboo upon her shoulder? She is returning from the water works and is carrying home a good supply of clean drinking water. Yes, it is a big bamboo tube—surely eight feet long and twenty-two inches at least in circumference. The inside divisions have been forced out by means of a stick and the internal compartments all combined into one tube—a 'ter' of liquid."

Girl Was Long-Headed.

A pretty Connecticut girl, who sent some racing matter to the soldiers in the Philippines, has captured a pair of shoulder straps, with a man under them, through her thoughtfulness of the men at the front. It always pays a girl to be good, and especially to the defenders of her country. Most any old time the defender of his country may become the defender of "last one girl."

CHILD TEACHES A BISHOP.

Lasting Impression Made by Little Girl's Remark.

The newly elected Methodist bishop, Dr. William Burt of Rome, is noted for his cheerful and placid manner. Nothing ever ruffles him. He is never heard to complain.

A clergyman complimented Dr. Burt one day on his good disposition. "You never growl about anything," he said. "No matter what kind of a meal is set before you, you eat it cheerfully. If you are feeling poorly you conceal it. How did you manage to acquire such a fine habit of good-humored tolerance and resignation?"

"Maybe the remark of a child that I once overheard helped me to learn to complain and grumble as little as possible," said Dr. Burt. "While I was studying at Wilbraham Academy I spent a few days with this child's father—a good man, but a chronic growler. We were all sitting in the parlor one night when the question of food arose. The child, a little girl, told cleverly what each member of the household, liked best. Finally it came to the father's turn to be described."

"And what do I like, Nancy?" he said, laughing.

"You," said the little girl slowly—"well you like most anything we haven't got."

THE INWARDNESS OF TRUSTS.

Traveling Man Has Hard Time in a Dakota Town.

"I have been hearing of trusts for twenty years past," said the Chicago drummer, "but I never knew the real inwardness of a trust until I struck a South Dakota town last spring. It so happened that I got into a wrangle with the bus driver on my arrival, and on reaching the hotel I was told that it was full. The hotel man not only ran the bus line, but he controlled the only two restaurants in town, and I could not get as much as a biscuit.

"I went to a livery stable to get a rig to drive across the country, but he owned that. There were two dry goods stores, but he controlled both. There was a grocery, but I was barred from buying crackers and cheese. The only show I had was to return to the depot and wait for a train. When I got there I asked the ticket agent:

"Does the hotel man also own you?"

"Well, no," he slowly replied, "but as he owns the building, is a stockholder in the road, and all this land around here belongs to him, you had better say 'please' when you address me!"

Who Got the Money.

A man, having had a sum of money left him at the death of his father, went to see his solicitor, who had the matter in hand, to arrange the final settlement. The bill of costs having been presented to him, the man glanced over the figures and, thinking the charges were excessively heavy, turned to his legal adviser in astonishment. "My father left his money to me—not to you!" he exclaimed.
