

LASTING RELIEF.

J. W. Walls, Superintendent of streets of Lebanon, Ky., says:

"My nightly rest was broken, owing to irregular action of the kidneys. I was suffering intensely from severe pains in the small of my back and through the kidneys and annoyed by painful passages of abnormal secretions. No amount of doctoring relieved this condition. I took Doan's Kidney Pills and experienced quick and lasting relief. Doan's Kidney Pills will prove a blessing to all sufferers from kidney disorders who will give them a fair trial."

Be Topical.

There has been an article received at this office, in the first part, the writer gave a mournful deprecation of his dead mother and then ending with a hot discussion in politics, by mudslinging and vituperation that he is throwing upon his colleagues. I would advise the party when he has two subjects to write one, give them under two headings.—Hyden Thousandsticks

The Fool and the Lazy Man.

The fool doesn't know a good thing when he sees it, the lazy man doesn't seize a good thing when he knows it.—Philadelphia Record.

The Union Pacific Railroad Passenger Department has put before the public a folder of the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland. It is wonderfully neat and attractive, colors having been employed in the printing. Contents embrace a very complete description of the exposition and its attractions, including a bird's-eye view of the beautiful grounds and buildings, done in numerous colors. Scenes in and around Portland are strikingly portrayed, and all contemplating visiting the exposition this summer should have a copy of the folder in order that they may know of points where the greatest enjoyment and satisfaction may be found.

IRONICAL IFS.

If some men were to conceal what they know they would be more popular.

If you think life isn't worth living you should take something for your liver.

If you are ambitious to become a prominent citizen locate in a country town.

If a female alligator could talk she would probably insist that she had a small mouth.

If a man is smart he can always manage to catch on, and if he is wise he will also know when it is time to let go.

What He Was Doing.

Joseph Jefferson stocked the lake on his Louisiana farm with bass and other game fish. Not long ago he came upon a stranger fishing in his lake.

"See here!" said the great comedian, "what do you mean by catching my fish?"

"Begorra," replied the fisherman slowly removing his pipe from his mouth, "I'm not fishing! I'm teaching these worms how to swim!"

A Mean Fling.

"Well," said a young doctor, fresh from the hospital, "I suppose the next thing will be to hunt a good location, and then wait for something to do, like Patience on a monument."

"It won't be long," said a friend, "after you do begin before monuments will be on the patients."

IN COLONEL'S TOWN

Things Happen.

From the home of the famous "Key-hel Kee-yartah of Cartersville," away down South, comes an enthusiastic letter about Postum:

"I was in very delicate health, suffering from indigestion and a nervous trouble so severe that I could hardly sleep. The doctor ordered me to discontinue the use of the old kind of coffee, which was like poison to me, producing such extreme disturbance that I could not control myself. But such was my love for it that I could not get my own consent to give it up for some time, and continued to suffer, till my father one day brought home a package of Postum Food Coffee. 'I had the new food drink carefully prepared according to directions, and gave it a fair trial. It proved to have a rich flavor and made a healthy, wholesome and delightful drink. To my taste the addition of cream greatly improves it.'"

"My health began to improve as soon as the drug effect of the old coffee was removed and the Postum Coffee had time to make its influence felt. My nervous troubles were speedily relieved and the sleep which the old coffee drove from my pillow always came to soothe and strengthen me after I had drunk Postum—in a very short time I began to sleep better than I had for years before. I have now used Postum Coffee for several years and like it better and find it more beneficial than when I first began. It is an unspeakable joy to be relieved of the old distress and sickness." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

TO SELL DALY HISTORY.

Compilation Which Cost Manager $30,000 to Go Under Hammer.

Among the numbers of a long catalogue of rare and interesting books, manuscripts and autograph letters to be sold at auction is the well-known compilation by Joseph N. Ireland and J. S. G. Hagan of the records of the New York stage from 1750 to 1860. This work was inlaid to a large folio size, extra illustrated and extended to forty-nine volumes for the late Augustin Daly by Augustus Toedteberg. The work, whose extension and extra illustrations cost Mr. Levy $30,000, was the feature of the sale of the late manager's belongings in this city in 1900. It was bought by Mr. Everett Wendell for $6,000, and he now offers it for sale, with other important items from his valuable collection. It was the greatest bargain of the Daly sale.

The admiral work of the inlayer, Augustus Toedteberg—the patience and care with which the portraits, views, programs, playbills and autograph letters were gathered, sought for in America and England, and purchased regardless of cost, when the illustration required—was a rare one and the skill of the binder in binding so well such a mass of material, all form a record of skill, patience and industry.

The work was extended far beyond the strict line of the drama and includes old and rare views of New York and of its early and famous theaters, in addition to those of a number of other cities, portraits of the real personages, who happened to be mentioned in any piece presented, as well as of the players. There are 8,000 illustrations in the work which, as a whole, is a remarkable compendium of stage history.

THINGS WELL WORTH KNOWING.

Remedies for Household Accidents of Common Occurrence.

We have just had a domestic science graduate visiting us whose exploits call for magazine publicity. When the nose was broken off a handsome pitcher our guest immediately came to the rescue. "Don't worry," she said, "give me a saltspoon of cornstarch and another of gelatin; now, a patty pan—a little boiling water will do the rest." With the end of a match she stirred these over the fire till blended, brushed the jagged edges with the mixture and held the broken piece in place till it adhered. "If you keep hot liquids out of this pitcher it will last for years," she continued. "Gum arabic dissolved in hot water and mixed to a thick paste with plaster of Paris. In this same way makes even a better cement." Shortly after dire consternation reigned when a pricked finger left several ruddy drops on an evening gown which was receiving the "finishing touches." Our emergency girl dampened a small quantity of common laundry starch with water, covered the spots and spread the damaged material in the sun. In a little while the blood left the goods, coloring the starch. The quicker the remedy is applied after such an accident the more effectual it is, we were told, and also that "old Sol" was sulking a good substitute for his rays is a hot flatiron held close over the material, with a sheet of blotting paper between the iron and the starch covered spots.—Good Housekeeping.

World's Greatest Doctor.

There is a great physician who long ago began to clear away the troubles that come to pester man; 'Tis true he is old-fashioned, but many a grievous ill That puzzles other doctors would yield to this one's skill; He makes no heavy charges, and he is always near To serve you if you want him; his full name is Good Cheer.

His practice should be world-wide, and daily it should grow; He serves in summer weather and when the wild winds blow; His night bell is in order, he answers every call. He gives no bitter doses and tortures not at all. And they have few diseases and stand in little fear Who always are serenely attended by Good Cheer.

He does not deem the wealthy more worthy of his care Than are the poor who seek him. Where walls and floors are bare He ministers as freely as where the rich abide. And all he asks in payment are hope and honest pride. The hope and pride that follow where duty's call is clear— 'Tis time to aid in spreading the practice of Good Cheer.

He Was No Ornithologist.

Wiltner Stone, one of the heads of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, has gathered together what is probably the finest collection of stuffed birds in America.

Mr. Stone was showing these birds the other day to a Pittsburg millionaire. There were thousands of life-like feathered creatures, ranged in line on line of cases, and Mr. Stone could not help praising them with much ornithological warmth.

"Yes," he ended, "this collection of stuffed birds is worth some thousands of dollars."

"Is it possible?" said the millionaire. "What are they stuffed with?"

Japanese Celebrate Victory. When the news of the great Japanese naval victory reached Pittsburg a company of acrobats from the island empire was appearing afternoon and evening in a circus. On being assured of the Russian overthrow they promptly went on strike for a day, positively refusing to work. Instead they proceeded to decorate the city a vivid red, carefully refraining from any breach of the law.

THE MONTHLY TRIAL

HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, BEARING-DOWN PAINS.

A Woman Tells How She Has Become Well and Strong after Years of Misery Due to Irregular Functions.

The fact that one woman is bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked, strong and cheerful, while another is pale, weak and depressed, is due more often than otherwise to the regularity in the one case and the irregularity in the other of the functions that are peculiar to the sex. When these are disturbed everything goes wrong; pain and discomfort are felt all over the body; the sensations are often terrifying.

"For four years," said Mrs. Davis recently, "I suffered indescribable misery from sick headache every month, accompanied by fainting spells, shortness of breath and severe pain in my left side. There were also bearing-down pains, at times so acute that I could not stand up, and my head was full of ringing sounds. It seemed as if everything was going to hit me in the eyes. I was compelled to lie down with closed eyes for hours to get a little relief. When I attempted to arise everything would whirl around and it would grow so dark that I could scarcely see any object."

"Couldn't your doctor help you?" "Five doctors in all treated me, but I got no lasting benefit. Besides I used a lot of advertised remedies. The only medicine, however, that had the desired effect was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they are truly a godsend to women. I did not have much faith in them when I began to take them. I found myself, however, so much better after using two boxes that I began to believe in them. They checked right away the decline into which I was going. My troubles kept lessening and finally disappeared altogether."

"How long did it take for a cure?" "After I had used several boxes my health was all right. I had taken on flesh and was strong and hearty. I feel today in spirits more like a girl of sixteen than a woman of my years." Mrs. C. H. Davis' address is Carmel, Maine, R. F. D., No. 2. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are confidently offered to women for the cure of anemia, chlorosis, painful and irregular periods, and all forms of weakness. They are sold by every druggist.
