The Ten Trails.

Once there were two Indians who went out together to hunt. Hapeda was very strong and swift and a wonderful bowman. Chatun was much weaker and carried a weaker bow; but he was very patient.

As they went through the hills they came on the fresh track of a small deer. Chatun said: "My brother, I shall follow that."

But Hapeda said: "You may if you like, but a mighty hunter like me wants bigger game."

So they parted.

Hapeda went on for an hour or more and found the track of ten large elk going different ways. He took the trail of the largest and followed for a long way, but not coming up with it, he said: "That one is evidently traveling. I should have taken one of the others."

So he went back to the place where he first found it, and took up, the trail of another. After a hunt of over an hour in which he failed to get a shot, he said: "I have followed another traveler. I'll go back and take up the trail of one that is feeding."

But again, after a short pursuit, he gave up that one to go back and try another that seemed more promising. Thus he spent a whole day trying each of the trails for a short time, and at night came back to camp with nothing to find that Chatun, though his inferior in all other ways, had proved wiser. He had stuck doggedly to the trail of the one little deer, and now had its carcass safely in camp.

Moral: The game is always at the end of the trail.

HOSPITALS CROWDED
MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saves Many From This Sad and Costly Experience.

It is a sad but true fact that every year brings an increase in the number of operations performed upon women in our hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow white beds are women and girls who are awaiting or recovering from operations made necessary by neglect.

Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, leucorrhoea, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the womb or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb, and if not heeded the trouble will make headway until the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness, at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

The following letter should bring hope to suffering women Miss Luella Adams, of the Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"About two years ago I was a great sufferer from a severe female trouble, pains and headaches. The doctor prescribed for me and finally told me that I had a tumor on the womb and must undergo an operation if I wanted to get well. I felt that this was my death warrant, but I spent hundreds of dollars for medical help, but the tumor kept growing. Fortunately I corresponded with an aunt in the New England States, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it was said to cure tumors. I did so and immediately began to improve in health, and I was entirely cured, the tumor disappearing entirely, without an operation. I wish every suffering woman would try this great preparation."

Just as surely as Miss Adams was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability and nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. Address: Lynn, Mass.

Harvest Song.
Farther to the south the sun
Droops his falling head,
Now the summer's course is run
And her pride is dead;
Rich along the weeded roads
Goldenrod stands tall,
And the purple thistle mist
Plumes the summer's pall.

Now in drowsy autumn dreams
Locked the landscape lies,
While a chastened glory streams
From the azure skies;
Lies the harvest moon
On ripe fruit, the day's
Morning's blush and evening's dyes
Blur in mist-blue haze.

Deep the mellow languor falls
On the silent noon;
No bird save the blue-jay calls,
Woods and meadows swoon;
Ghoulter than on summer nights
Winds sound from afar,
Weak the sun pales as the moon,
Or the evening star.

So the tide of life ebbures,
Waxes, wanes, and falls,
While earth's mystery immures
Souls in mortal walls;
Still to joy my heart will cling,
What though winter come,
I have heard the throste sing
And the brown begu hum.

Sweetest season of the mist,
When the summer waxes,
Skies of tender smoky
Fields of golden grain;
Blessed days of ripened joy,
With the harvest crown'd—
Nourisher of Nature's pain,
As roll the seasons round—

SCRAPPLE MADE BY A TRUST

Former Pennsylvania Dish Now in Very General Use.

"Scrapple used to be made altogether by the Pennsylvania farmers, but it is now made practically altogether by a trust, the Philadelphia Scrapple trust, which turns out thousands of pounds daily from the first frost till the spring thaw."

The speaker, a Philadelphia butcher, knew his subject. He resumed: "Our scrapple plant is uptown. Trains of cars containing live pigs come in at one end of it. Out at the other end pass trains of cars containing pale scrapple in silver colored tins.

"This delectable stuff is made of pig's heads, livers, pork, sage, thyme, and a dozen other ingredients. The meat is first boiled on the bone in vats as large as swimming pools. Then it is cut up into chunks the size of your fist by rows of bare-armed experts with scimiters. Then it is ground to a gray powder in steam power grinding machines.

"The gray powder is taken to a secret room. There, under the direction of the mixer, a high salaried official, it is seasoned and touched up in many unknown ways. Afterward it is boiled in enormous boilers.

"Still hot and soft from the boiling, it is put in new, bright tins. It cools and is a firm substance of a pearl gray hue—the world famed Philadelphia scrapple of song and story.

"Philadelphia scrapple is eaten all over America. If it were a summer as well as a cold weather food it would perhaps supplant pie as the national dish."

SAVED HALF MILLION DOLLARS

When Looked Into, Occurrence Is Not So Remarkable.

The accumulation of half a million dollars from a grammar school principal's salary, ranging from $1,500 to $3,000 a year, for fifty years, is the remarkable achievement of Prof. Alpheus Du Bois of New York.

It is an achievement as mysterious to the ordinary mind as is the rapid accumulation of millions by some public officials whose salaries are less than their cost of living.

Three thousand dollars for fifty years aggregates $150,000—$350,000 less than a half-million.

Yet reference to the interest table will show that the feat which seems so extraordinary, if not impossible, may be accomplished very easily.

Nothing accumulates faster than money at compound interest.

Ten dollars saved every year and invested at 5 per cent will amount to $1,000 in thirty-five years, and $2,000 laid aside from a salary of $3,000 and allowed to accumulate for forty years will grow to about $250,000. Another ten years will put it very near the half-million mark. Du Bois had the advantage for many years of 7 per cent legal interest.

So the wonder is, not that his modest salary proved the seed of a big fortune, but that any one well paid for years should come to old age with empty hands.

Prayed for What Was Best.

Some sixty years ago there lived in Gorham, Me., a quaint character, Parson Bradley. He was an itinerant preacher of the Methodist church, and was noted for his original and familiar expressions in prayers.

Upon one occasion he was preaching in North Yarmouth, a township near Gorham, but not its equal as a farming community. There had been dry weather and some one requested the parson to pray for rain.

In his prayer he said: "Oh, Lord, these people say they need rain. I say they need manure. Give them what they need most."

A Practical Wish.

At Atlantic City last week I heard a good one from a five-year-old girl. Her mother, seeing the new moon, took a quarter from her purse and wished on it. She then gave it to the child and told her to make a wish and it would come true. After the wish was made the mother asked what it was, and the child said: "I wished I could keep the quarter."—New York World.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

The leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases, it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

"The Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisons or harmful agents and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful ingredient in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

For testimonials from eminent, medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
