Alum baking powders are unhealthful. Do not use them for raising food under any circumstances. So detrimental are alum baking powders considered, that in most foreign countries their sale is prohibited. In many States in this country the law compels alum powders to be branded to show that they contain this dangerous acid, while in the District of Columbia, Congress has prohibited the sale of all food that contains alum.

Alum baking powders are sold to consumers at from to cents a pound to 25 ounces for 25 cents, or 25 cents a pound, and when not branded may generally be distinguished by their

Ed. Nichols went to Omaha last week and has accepted a position in a machine shop, and shall probably learn to be a machinist, although he has not decided definitely on this point until he has tried his hand for awhile.-At any rate, Ed. has abandoned farming.

George Strathdee and son are having a public sale today, although it is snowing. It is not likely that it will materially affect the attendance as all of the sales thus far have been well attended and everything sold well, especially so the stock for a great many are wanting milch cows which will be fresh in the spring and some are wanting cows to take up on their homesteads in the western counties of Nebraska.

The merchants of Arcadia were in a big hurry to get their icehouses filled. Little did they think we would have as cold weather as we are having of late or they would not have had their ice shipped from Loup City when they could have gotten it right out of the river at home.

There seems to be considerable talk of the section homesteads of late among our young men and a

Our school closes in two weeks and we presume some of the youngsters will be glad and some not so glad-especially the large boys-who must go into the fields to belp with the seeding; but just such work is what makes our strong young men of today, both for intellect and strength, and it is no wonder that our young men from the farm are sought out by the business man of the city to fill the trusty positions.

> Uncle Sam has given out figures showing that soda crackers are richer in nutriment and body-building elements, properly proportioned, than any food made from flour.

> This is saying much for common soda crackers, and much more for Uneeda Biscuit, because they are soda crackers of the best quality. They are baked bettermore scientifically. They are packed better-more cleanly. The damp, dust and odor proof package retains all the goodness and nutriment of the wheat, all the freshness of the best baking, all the purity of the cleanest bakeries.
