Mrs. George Flick of Oklahoma City who has been attending the American Press League at Denver, arrived Friday evening to spend a few days visiting her son, Edward, who is attending school here.

Next week the grocery stores in Broken Bow will not close at 7 p. m., as is customary, but will be kept open each evening for the benefit of those who attend the fair and do not find time during the day to make necessary purchases.

Miss Sarah Snyder returned home last Saturday from Shelton where she went to visit with Rev. and Mrs. W. H. D. Hornaday and attend the dedication of the new M. E. church at that place, erected through the efforts of Rev. Hornaday.

Claud Wahl, Grant Drake and Ed. Love spent most of last week on the South Loup, hunting and fishing. They report having secured enough game and fish to feed their faces and were rained on more than a plenty several hours each day.

C. S. Martin has arranged to make a display of farm machinery, buggies and wagons, under canvass, on the fair grounds next week and it will be worth the while of everyone—whether farmer or not—to see the array as it will be a fine one. Mr. Martin is up-to-date and is sparing no pains to make the display complete.

The Royal Highlanders, after initiating two refugees into the mysteries of the castle Tuesday night, enjoyed a fine supper, consisting of fried chicken, coffee, cake, etc. The committee in charge of the refreshments were Misses Essie Holcomb, Maggie Orr, Emma Scott, assisted by Miss Lottie Sims, Myrtle Lyle and Mrs. Eliza Sheppardson.

C. J. Gibbons, a wide-awake merchant at Lomax, was in the city Monday and Tuesday as a witness in the case of the State against the three Callaway burglars, all of whom he saw in Lomax a few days before the robbery at Callaway. He reports the prospects fine for a big yield of corn and other farm produce and grangers and citizens alike are happy in consequence thereof.

"The Bachelor's Cafe," recently purchased from Dan Keelin by Jas. N. Peale, has again changed ownership, Will Davis having bought and assumed the management of it at 2 o'clock a. m., yesterday. The parties were "dickering" but did not "get together" until that hour. Mr. Davis is an old-timer at the business, as is well known by most Broken Bowites and as a caterer who has few—if any—equals in Central Nebraska.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Vannice was gladdened last Thursday by the advent of a baby boy.

Mrs. W. E. Warren and Mrs. Elmer Bass were in the city yesterday, delegates to the M. B. A. district convention.

There are a lot of automobiles in the state who work fine going away from home but refuse to come back—unless tied behind some farmer's wagon.

John Cadwell, Lawrence Hollandsworth, Frank Willis, Grace Cole and Lillie Amsberry went to Mason City Sunday to attend the Custer Baptist association.

Who says Broken Bow isn't becoming metropolitan? Two theatres every night next week and a Saturday matinee. Just turn that over in your think tank.

Mayor George appointed John Kenschel as city marshal succeeding William Cannon, resigned, and he assumed the duties in connection therewith last Monday night.

Herb Hall has purchased the house just vacated by C. W. Willis in the west part of the city and will move it to lots which he owns near the North Side park.

Mrs. Walter Harris suffered a surgical operation last Friday which, at present, indicates was quite successful. Although still quite weak she is gradually and firmly gaining.

The weather man has been interviewed and he says: "All right; nice, pleasant, warm weather next week and the roughest crowd ever seen at a Custer county fair."

Kirk Douglas, formerly a typo in the Chief office, who has been at Ord several months, has returned to Broken Bow and is manipulating a tilter in Claud Wahl's tousorial budoir.

On account of the threatening storm last Friday evening the band did not play in the park. If the weather is favorable tomorrow (Friday) night the concert will be given—as usual.

State Manager S. S. Hayman, of Grand Island, and F. E. Scott, Supreme director, of Norfolk, arrived in the city Tuesday morning and remained over yesterday to attend the M. B. A. district convention.

The Custer county fair supplement reached us too late for last week and is inserted this week. We go to press not later than 2 o'clock Thursday and all matter to be used must be in before 12 o'clock that day.

Attorney R. A. Moore was at Mason City last Sunday while the Custer Baptist association was in session and someone gave it out that he was there to address the meeting. He promptly and positively denied the allegations and defied the allegator.

Rev. L. L. Epley, who has been the pastor in charge of the Broken Bow U. B. church for nearly four years, has accepted a call from the church at Gibbon, Buffalo county, and will go there on Saturday. The church in this city has not yet decided upon a pastor, but will within the next two weeks.

The Amaranth Dramatic Stock company played "Uncle Sam's Consul" at Ravenna to a filled-to-overflowing house Tuesday night and report comes from that city to the effect that the audience was highly pleased with both the play and its production. The play, written by Mr. Harry B. Iszard, of this city, is said to be very meritorious. Nearly all of the reserved seats for its production in this city tonight have been sold.

Members of the Broken Bow Christian church met Monday and decided to move the church building to the lots recently purchased, north of J. C. Bowen's store, and expend $2,000 in remodeling it. A building committee composed of Ras, Anderson, P. H. Monk and Rev. L. N. Early, was selected, with Rev. Early as solicitor, and about one fourth of the amount has already been subscribed. The church edifice has, for sometime, been inadequate and this move is not only a good one for the church, but for Broken Bow as well and deserves the encouragement—financially—of our citizens.

Eastern Nebraska Drenched.

A rain storm, the heaviest in years, visited nearly every portion of Eastern Nebraska Sunday and Sunday night. In some localities rainfall exceeded five inches, doing great damage to railroad property and sweeping away bridges on the county roads, besides tearing up the turnpikes. The storm of Sunday and Sunday night was so severe along portions of the Omaha, Northwestern, Burlington and Union Pacific roads, that train service was abandoned Monday and in some instances it will be several days before trains are back on time.

Of all the roads, the lines of the Northwestern in the north-east corner of Nebraska, suffered the most. In that section cloudburst seemed to follow cloudburst. The first of the storms swept over the country shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning. There was a short cessation of the rain and then it was resumed harder than ever.

In the vicinity of Wahoo, the cloudburst seemed to come with great fury. Wahoo creek soon became a river a mile wide. The Union Pacific railroad bridge over the stream gave way and floated down against the bridge of the Northwestern. That stood the strain for a couple of hours and then went out. Each road lost several hundred feet of track.

The New Temple Opera House.

The management of the new Temple Opera House has been fortunate enough to secure the Wolford Stock Co., to open this new house. This company comes highly recommended from the larger towns throughout Neb., Kansas, Iowa, where they have been playing lately, and are acknowledged to be the best repertoire attraction now playing in the west. Miss Wolford is an actress of unusual versatility and ability, having played in the larger cities in the east, from which she has some very flattering press notices. The company is a large one, and comes with special scenery for each production. High class vaudeville will be introduced between each act, thus eliminating all long waits. The opening play Monday night will be the big New York success, entitled, "Was She to Blame?" Seats now on sale at J. S. & J. F. Baisch's drug store, at popular prices.

Two Wrecks.

The trains from both east and west were belated last Sunday on account of wrecks, No. 44, due at 11 Saturday night reaching here at noon Sunday and No. 41, due at 7 that morning, came in at about 3:30.

The high wind that prevailed in the vicinity of Ravenna Sunday morning blew a box car from its station on a siding and it began to roll and roll, gaining headway all the time. Soon it was off the siding and bowling merrily along on the main track. Just then the train came speeding eastward, crashing into the car and ripping things up generally. The wrecker was sent out from Lincoln to clear away the debris, and by the time this was done several trains were stalled, including No. 41. No casualties were reported.

A rear end collision between two stock trains occurred a mile west of Whitman Saturday evening resulting in the serious injury of a brakeman and two stockmen, together with the piling up of a number of cars containing stock. This was the cause of No. 44 being late.
