Politics the All Absorbing Topic

The Weariness of Even a Short, Quiet Campaign is Manifest Among the Fusion Nominees and They're Glad Election Day is Near.

Invite yourself to eat dinner and supper at the Temple theatre next Tuesday—election day. The biggest and best meal you ever saw for 25 cents.

Miss Cora Foote, of Dunning, who has been in the city the past month returned home Tuesday morning to take charge of a school near her home.

The Josephine Gamble Concert company, which was to have appeared here Wednesday night, last week for the benefit of the band, was snow bound and failed to reach here in time to fill the date.

Custer county has become one the "goodest" in the state and the county jail, which has held criminals of both high and low degree, is now vacant and the boot-heels of none but the jailer click on its adamant floor.

The fusionists nominated a ticket under railroad dictation, adopted a platform which lacks sincerity, and the fusion committee has made alliance with every corporation interest in the state in a desperate attempt to win.

C. B. Cox, for many years in the employ of the Burlington railway, returned Tuesday morning from St. Joe, Mo., where he went two weeks ago to have a cancer in his nose treated. It has not entirely healed but he was assured that he would not suffer with it again very soon.

The program for the meeting of the Custer County Medical association which will meet in Broken Bow on November 13th, has been arranged so that citizens will be interested in hearing the topics and discussions, and all are invited to be present at the meeting.

The southward flight of ducks has commenced and farmers residing from 10 to 20 miles west report a larger flight than for several years, while report comes from the Platte that there are larger numbers along the river and on the ponds adjacent thereto with plenty of hunters to attend to them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brainerd, of Mineral, Ill., parents of Mrs. F. H. Smith, arrived in the city last Saturday night and will remain for a couple of weeks. They are enroute to California where they will spend the winter and expect to stop here again on their return home.

The storm last week caused great damage to trees in both city and country, the fruit trees especially suffered with broken limbs, caused by being loaded heavily with ice and whipped by the wind. Farmers report the suffering by unsheltered stock to have been extreme and that their cries were pitiful.

The republicans are conducting an open campaign, informing the people just where they stand and what they will do. The fusionists have adopted "gun shoe" tactics, relying in corporation trickery and hoodle to pull them through. The people and especially the farmers can defeat the schemers by turning out in full force on election day.

Rev. Barrett was in the city between trains Thursday, on his way to Ansley from the Crow reservation where he drew a quarter section of land. He has accepted a pastorate near his homestead where he has been preaching for the past two months. He is very much pleased with his location and will shortly move his family there.

Clyde Marquiss and James Knox, who were induced by alluring posters and advertisements to go to Canada with the intention of locating, returned home last week. They say wages are high, but the necessities of life are higher and as they did not like the country, decided to return. Thad Smith secured a position and will remain there for a while.

Jas. Henry, of Elim township, was a city visitor Saturday.

It's pretty nearly all over now—except figuring up the majority for the republican ticket.

Any one wishing cakes of all descriptions can leave orders at Hotel Reneau. Fruit cakes a specialty.

Word comes from North Platte that Prof. E. A. Garlish, formerly of this city, is the proud father of a bouncing baby boy.

Next week the country newspapers will be profusely illustrated with pictures of the successful nominees and—roosters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bruce returned home last night from a two weeks' visit with their son and family at Naponee, Nebraska.

And many good wives in Broken Bow are heard to remark: "I never saw so many pesky flies so late in the fall as there are now."

Miss Francis Langson went to York last Saturday where she will remain for an indefinite length of time. Her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Langson, will go there next Saturday and visit for a day or so.

Something is wrong—radically wrong—in this neck o' woods in the matrimonial whirl. No marriage licenses have been issued in the county since October 23rd. We can't expect very much of an increase in population at this rate.

Among other things ordered by the ladies of the Baptist church to serve for dinner and supper at the Temple theatre on election day are 715 spring chickens and other eatables in proportion. They will have enough, however, to satisfy all, no matter how heartily they eat. Make arrangements to eat at the Temple that day.

Quite a number of pranks were played last night, some of them still in evidence at noon today, the result of celebrating Halloween. One of the ludicrous scenes to greet citizens this morning was a wheelbarrow in the top of a tree. We have heard of no destruction of property further than a strip of sidewalk turned over near the Bruce lumber yard.

The Central Telephone company has recovered from the shock given it last week by the sleet storm. Here in the city a dozen poles were broken off and about one hundred phones put out of business, while all of the twenty-three country lines, with one exception, were down in a number of places. As soon as the storm subsided the company put a force of men to work and all phones were again connected by evening yesterday.

You've no doubt heard of "some potatoes," but this time the subject is apples, of which twelve car loads have been received in Broken Bow the past four weeks, at an average of 500 bushels to the car, 6,000 bushels in all. This is certainly "some apples" and leads one to wonder what in the world a town this size will do with so many. In a couple or three months hence, when they're scarce, we'll wonder what in Sam Hill became of 'em.

About two weeks ago Miss Bertha Craig left for Purcell, Indian Territory, to visit her brother. Recently Will Osborne, deputy county clerk, leased the brick residence vacated by Joseph Huddart in the south-west part of the city. Last Sunday Mr. Osborne left for Purcell, Indian Territory. These facts clearly indicate that when the persons named return to the city it will be on the same train and that while the deputy clerk will still be Mr. Osborne the name of the lady will not be Craig. Mr. Osborne is expected home Saturday or Sunday. The REPUBLICAN "takes time by the forelock" and extends congratulations and best wishes.

County Clerk Pigman's office is one of the busy places this week, the ballots and other accessories necessary to conduct the election next Tuesday being assembled so they can be sent out to the various precincts tomorrow and Saturday.

Robert French, grand custodian, of Kearney, accompanied by other grand lodge officers, are in the city for the purpose of dedicating the new Masonic temple tonight. In addition to the regular dedicatory ceremony of the order an elaborate program has been prepared for the occasion.

Republicans in Broken Bow should not fail to make an X in the square on the ballot at the right of L. Cushman's name for Supervisor. During the time he has served as a member of the board he has proven himself worthy and ever alert to the best interests of this district. Do not get side-tracked on this proposition.

Early last spring the Republican commenced boosting for improvements and the betterment of Broken Bow, and every week since then articles have appeared in these columns along that line and it was indeed gratifying that prominent citizens became imbued with the idea and formulated an organization to work in a practical way and bring these things to pass, and as our esteemed contemporaries, the Beacon and the Chief, have signified their willingness to help, the REPUBLICAN feels that its labors have not been in vain.

Again, as winter approaches, this part of the state is cursed with abominable kerosene. A lamp filled to the brim will give a fair light until the oil is about half burned, and then all the trimming and coaxing that can be done is useless—the lamp cannot be made to give a decent light. In case the Standard Oil people come forth with the usual explanations, it may be stated that the trouble is not with the wicks and burners. It is due simply and solely to the Standard Oil company furnishing oil to patrons that will not burn decently and charging them a high price for it. It costs money to run colleges.

Vote on the Amendment.
As the republican, democrat and populist state conventions each adopted resolutions endorsing the election of a railroad commission, the tickets have been printed so that a straight vote on either of those ballots will be counted for the amendment. In fact all tickets voted by either of these parties will be valid for the amendment unless an X is placed in the square opposite "Against Amendment." As the socialists and prohibitionists did not endorse the amendment they will be required to vote For or Against the amendment to have their votes counted on that question.

Youngest Civil War Veteran.
The officials of the pension office think they have discovered in Lyston D. Howe, of Streator, Ill., the youngest volunteer of the civil war. He enlisted in 1861, when only ten years and nine months old, and served for four months, when he was discharged on account of his youth. He enlisted again in 1862, when 11 years and 5 months old, and served until the end of war. The record was brought out in connection with an application for increased pension, which was granted.
