Woman.
This magazine will concentrate on fiction. Fiction will be its fourteen-inch gun. It may be that this isn't as good a model for a woman's magazine as the conventional one, but it has the merit of being different. If there were only one woman's magazine in the field, the other model would probably be preferable. But with several hundred such periodicals, and all built on practically the same lines, it would seem that something radically different in conception, though equally close to the nerve-centers of human interest, would be able to preempt a corner of the woman's field and hold it.

Woman is a very big magazine—192 pages, which gives it well-nigh double the reading space of the various woman's publications. By reading space is meant the space given to reading and not occupied by advertising. Whatever advertising this magazine may carry will appear on additional pages—pages inserted especially for advertising, and not taken from the reading section. All this—its bigness and its freedom from advertising on reading pages—will further differentiate this magazine from the conventional brand of woman's magazine.

Every Niece and Nephew of Uncle Sam should be deeply interested in what he, has said about soda crackers, because they are the one food with which all of them are familiar.

Uncle Sam has given out figures showing that soda crackers are richer in nutriment and body-building elements, properly proportioned, than any food made from flour.

This is saying much for common soda crackers, and much more for Uneda Biscuit, because they are soda crackers of the best quality. They are baked better—more scientifically. They are packed better—more cleanly. The damp, dust and odor proof package retains all the goodness and nutriment of the wheat, all the freshness of the best baking, all the purity of the cleanest bakeries.

Your Uncle Sam has shown what food he thinks best for his people. His people have shown that they think Uneda Biscuit the best of that food, nearly 400,000,000 packages having already been consumed.
