

TORTURED WITH GRAVEL.

Since Using Doan's Kidney Pills Not a Single Stone Has Formed.

Capt. S. L. Crute, Adj. Wm. Watts Camp, U. C. V., Roanoke, Va., says: "I suffered a long, long time with my back, and felt draggy and listless and tired all the time. I lost from my usual weight, 225, to 170. Urinary passages were too frequent and I have had to get up often at night. I had headaches and dizzy spells also, but my worst suffering was from renal colic. After I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I passed a gravel stone as big as a bean. Since then I have never had an attack of gravel, and have picked up to my former health and weight. I am a well man, and give Doan's Kidney Pills credit for it."

Known as Memory Bells. Memory bells are toys given by the Japanese youths to their sweethearts. They are constructed of slips of glass so delicately poised that the least vibration sets them jingling. The delicate tinkling serves to remind their owner of the giver; hence the pretty, fanciful name.

JAP YOUTH ON SCHOOLSHIP. Will Get Thorough Training on an American Boat.

The first Japanese youth to be admitted to the crew of the schoolship St. Mary's is Kazern Artyoshi. Art yoshi, who is 17 years old, has been in the revenue cutter service on the Pacific for the last three years.

As it is necessary for all foreigners who wish to become members of the schoolship's crew to have a guardian Artyoshi was forced to get one before he could be admitted to the crew. He succeeded in getting Capt. Osborn to act in that capacity. Capt. Osborn will coach the boy along and help him over the hard points in his lessons.

Artyoshi has not made up his mind yet whether he will remain in this country or go home to Japan after he has been graduated from the schoolship. A term on the schoolship fits a boy for service in the merchant marine. Artyoshi says he likes the United States and may stay here, but if Japan ever goes to war he will return home quickly as possible to take part in it.

CRIED EASILY. Nervous Woman Stopped Coffee and Quit Other Things.

No better practical proof that coffee is a drug can be required than to note how the nerves become unstrung in women who habitually drink it. The stomach, too, rebels at being continually drugged with coffee and tea—they both contain the drug—caffeine. Ask your doctor.

An In. woman tells the old story thus: "I had used coffee for six years and was troubled with headaches, nervousness and dizziness. In the morning upon rising I used to belch up a sour fluid regularly.

"Often I got so nervous and miserable I would cry without the least reason, and I noticed my eyesight was getting poor.

"After using Postum a while, I observed the headaches left me and soon the belching of sour fluid stopped (water brash from dyspepsia). I feel decidedly different now, and I am convinced that it is because I stopped coffee and began to use Postum. I can see better now, my eyes are stronger, a friend of mine did not like Postum but when I told her to make it like it said on the package, she liked it all right." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Always boil Postum well and it will surprise you.

Passing of Historic Posts

The rapid development of the west and the fact that the Indian is no longer a menace to the welfare and safety of the settlers has forced upon the consciousness of the war department the uselessness of longer maintaining many of the forts which have dotted the western plains and mountain districts for years. For this reason many historic spots dear to the novelist and the historian, but really dreaded by the common soldier, are to pass away, and of the 275 posts now in existence from 100 to 150 will be abandoned.

This action follows a tour of inspection and investigation by Secretary Taft of the war department, which was undertaken for the two-fold purpose of selecting sites for a chain of brigadier posts, and the determining which of the minor posts could be best dispensed with. It is probable that with the abandonment of the posts eight or nine brigadier posts will be established.

Only a few days ago came the announcement of the abandonment of Fort Niobrara, Nebraska, around which half a century ago raged an almost incessant Indian warfare and which has been the scene of many military romances. For several years the government has been abandoning one by one of these frontier posts and concentrating the troops at the larger forts. Recently there have been abandoned these posts, once of importance: Fort Brown, Texas; Fort Grant, Arizona; Fort Ringgold, Texas; Fort Yates, North Dakota; Allegheny Arsenal, Pennsylvania; Columbia Arsenal, Tennessee; Indianapolis Arsenal, Indiana, and Kennebec Arsenal, Maine.

"The purpose of these changes," said an army officer, "is in accordance with the general plan of army reorganization. It will be much less expensive to maintain large bodies of men at central points than it is to maintain small scattered garrisons which are often one or two hundred miles from the railroad and where the supplies must be transported by wagon.

"Furthermore, discipline can be much better preserved and an army raised to a higher degree of proficiency when the men are held in large bodies. It is believed, too, that the soldiers, having more companionship and more commodious quarters in a large fort, will be less likely to desert than when stationed in lonely and remote places.

"Fort Ethan Allen, about six miles from Burlington, Vt., which was established principally through the influence of Senator Redfield Proctor, will probably be made one of the brigadier posts of the east. The present reservation contains 962 acres, and when the proposed additions are made to enlarge the drill grounds it will cover 1,300 acres. Since its establishment, about ten years ago, the government has spent close on to $2,000,000 on this post.

"Secretary Taft was very favorably impressed, too, with Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, which is the home of Senator Warren, chairman of the senate committee on military affairs. He also inspected another important post, Fort Robinson, in Nebraska. The selection of a large post for that part of the country will most probably be made from these two. On the Pacific coast Vancouver barracks, Washington; the Presidio at Monterey, Cal., and some fort in southern California will likely be retained. Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia; Fort Douglas, Utah, and Fort D. H. Wright, Washington, are also mentioned favorably as candidates for brigadier honors.

"The secretary was especially impressed with Forts Leavenworth and Riley in Kansas, Fort Sill in Oklahoma and Fort Sam Houston, near San Antonio, Tex.

"Of course these brigadier posts will not be the only army posts that the country will maintain. Smaller garrisons will be continued at such forts as Snelling, near St. Paul, and important points in the interior and along the coasts. But leaving these out there still remain nearly 150 posts that can be disposed of without injury to the service."

Fort Sill has for a number of years been considered one of the most important posts of the Indian territory. The reservation contains 50,000 acres, and adjoining this is 40,000 acres more which may be used for military purposes. The department plans to make this especially a post for the instruction and training of field artillery.

Both Riley and Leavenworth, the two Kansas forts, have figured not only in the history of the state, but also in the development of the west.

Riley, near Junction City, has for the last few years been the scene of extensive maneuvers of regulars, as well as of the militia of Kansas and neighboring states. The reservation is extensive and is considered by army officers as especially adapted to the drilling of large bodies of men. The department has kept up here for several years a school of instruction in army cooking.

The best known of all these forts is Leavenworth. It was established in 1847 on a bluff overlooking the Missouri river, and during the years of the settlement of the great west that lies between the Missouri and the Rocky mountains it was the principal depot of supplies for the posts that sprang up on the plains for the protection of the settlers.

From here also were sent out the military escorts for the wagon trains that crossed to the gold fields of California and Colorado and to the silver mines of Mexico, that guarded the wagon trains along the old Santa Fe trail and the pony express riders to Denver and the mountain country.

Keep Your Blood Pure. No one can be happy, light-hearted and healthy with a body full of blood that cannot do its duty to every part because of its impurity; therefore, the first and most important work in hand is to purify the blood so that every organ will get the full benefit of a healthy circulation. There is no remedy so good as that old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills. Each pill contains one grain of the solid extract of sarsaparilla blended with two grains of a combination of pure and mild vegetable products, making it a blood purifier unexcelled in character. One or two taken every night for awhile will produce surprising results. Brandreth's Pills have been in use for over a century, and are for sale everywhere, plain or sugar-coated.

Those things on which philosophy has set its seal are beyond the reach of injury; no age will discard them or lessen their force, each succeeding century will add somewhat to the respect in which they are held; for we look upon what is near us with jealous eyes, but we admire what is farther off with less prejudice.—Seneca.

Chinese Superior to Japs. Discussing the little rumpus with Japan, Senator William A. Clark expresses the opinion the Chinese in this country are superior to the Japanese. "I have loaned thousands of dollars to Chinamen," said the senator, "and never have I known one to fail to meet his obligations." He emphasized his opinion as to the superiority of the Chinamen by calling attention to the fact that the Japanese in their banking institutions employ Chinamen in positions of trust in preference to their own countrymen.

ELEVEN YEARS OF ECZEMA. Hands Cracked and Bleeding—Nail Came Off of Finger—Cuticura Remedies Brought Prompt Relief.

"I had eczema on my hands for about eleven years. The hands cracked open in many places and bled. One of my fingers was so bad that the nail came off. I had often heard of cures by the Cuticura Remedies, but had no confidence in them as I had tried so many remedies, and they all had failed to cure me. I had seen three doctors, but got no relief. Finally my husband said that we would try the Cuticura Remedies, so we got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent Pills. Of course I keep Cuticura Soap all the time for my hands, but the one cake of Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment cured them. It is surely a blessing for me to have my hands well, and I am very proud of having tried Cuticura Remedies, and recommend them to all suffering with eczema. Mrs. Eliza A. Wiley, R. F. D. No. 2, Liscomb, Iowa."

Horses Still in Demand. Happily the horse has a faculty for upsetting the gloomy predictions that he is fated to be put out of business by the automobile. The horse business has kept right on developing in spite of the fact that the automobile industry has been engaged in similar undertaking. The demand for horses is still great. The supply of some classes of them is inadequate. The prices are high. The automobile may scare the horse into the ditch, but it isn't likely to crowd him to the wall. There will always be a field for the horse, as there will always be a field for the automobile.—Hartford Times.

Rothschilds Never Prosecute. While the Bank of England makes it a point never under any circumstances to relinquish the prosecution of those who have defrauded it in the slightest degree, being willing, if need be, to spend thousands of pounds to capture and prosecute people who have robbed it of even a few shillings, the Rothschilds make it a rule never to appeal to the courts or to the police in such matters. Of course, they are, like every other banker, occasionally the victims of dishonesty, but neither the police nor the public ever hear about the matter. This has always been a principle of the heads of the house, who take the ground that it is better to bear the loss in silence than to disturb popular confidence in the safety of the concern by allowing it to be seen that its treasures are not adequately safeguarded.

Art in Hand-Made Articles. Oscar S. Straus, the new secretary of commerce and labor, is a connoisseur of pottery and porcelains. "Machinery," he said, "has robbed us of our useful arts to a great extent. In machine-made things there can be no artistic quality, no individual expression. In hand-made things, even the humblest, there is always an opportunity for art to show itself."

No Advance in Wisdom. Mark Twain tells how four years ago he was invited by the University of Missouri to go out there and receive the degree of LL. D. At the same time he visited Hannibal, his boyhood home. Just as he was about to leave, being accompanied to the station by a crowd of citizens, Tom Nash, a school-fellow, came up—white headed, but still a boy. He shook hands with his friend of many a year and nodding toward the crowd said: "People of this town are the same blamed fools they always were, ain't they, Sam?"
