

News of a Local Nature

Dr. Christensen left Monday evening for Omaha, expecting to return home tomorrow.

The Broken Bow high school baseball team go to Callaway tomorrow to try conclusions with the high school club of that village.

Will Davis made a hurried business trip to Hastings, going Monday morning and returning Tuesday evening.

David Steadman, of Brownlee, was transacting business in the city yesterday. Mr. Steadman was formerly a resident of Custer county, near Westerville.

By exact measurement the snow fell last Thursday night was exactly two and one half inches deep. If it had been a sixteenth of an inch more or less we'd say so.

In Broken Bow the scheme to move May 1st has never become the vogue. Houses are so scarce here that it is a kind of a catch-as-catch-can affair and renters move any old time there is an opening.

Indications are today that tomorrow will be clear and warm and in that event there will undoubtedly be a large number in the city from the country to see Campbell Bros. circus and menagerie.

Don't fail to follow the continued story by the Litchfield Company on our first page, concerning their guarantee for a term of five years. We fail to find any one else making such a liberal contract with their trade.

A P. Dobesh, of Ansley, was in the city Tuesday on business and during a lull in the proceedings piloted himself to this office and regaled us with reports of the recent cold snap in his vicinity which, he says, beats anything the oldest settler can remember.

I. A. Reneau intends to do his share toward the beautifying of Broken Bow and is this week having the grounds of Hotel Reneau filled-in and leveled. This will not only beautify, but greatly improve the sanitary condition of the locality.

Fifteen members of the Knights of Pythias lodge of this city went to Ansley Tuesday evening and associated with their brethren in that village who conferred degrees on three candidates. Our fellows report a royal good time and say the Ansley bunch cannot be out done as entertainers.

Editor Hyatt, of the Sargent Leader, untangled himself from alleged poetical effusions long enough last Saturday to visit his county seat capital and indulge with county students in their field day sports, declamatory contests, et cetera, which means trying to learn that the Broken Bow and Western railroad would not be built.

The K. P. boys who attended lodge at Ansley Tuesday night arrived there in time to partake of supper at George Wright's restaurant and each of them are liberal in praise of the excellent service and are advising friends when in Ansley at meal hour, or any time, to remember Wright's restaurant, where everything is right.

Guaranteeing a machine for five years, means a great deal. Particularly do we think this an all important question when considering such a machine as a manure spreader, that has a record hardly equaled by any other machine for breakages or repairs. Read the continued story this week by the Litchfield Mfg. Co., on first page.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Graves and four children, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, are in the city and will become residents if they can secure a house in which to reside. Mr. Graves is engaged with the Council Bluffs nursery and has been assigned work in this part of the state. If there were residences here to rent—as there should be—the population of Broken Bow would reach 5,000 before 1910.

The school board very wisely decided that there should be no session of school tomorrow—circus day. The board is composed of men who were—once-upon-a-time—boys, and they knew that quite a number of pupils would not attend and those who did would have their mind on the circus instead of the lessons, hence they voted to give the young people a free and unfettered opportunity to see the elephants.

Moore & Carlos, the new law, real-estate and insurance firm, composed of R. C. Moore and Clyde Carlos, are now located on stairs over McComas' drug store and at your service.

S. S. Hayman, state manager of the M. B. A. order, was a city visitor Tuesday morning. He is arranged for an M. B. A. county rally and class contest to be held at Broken Bow May 31st.

The sun rises early these mornings. Get up with him, take a walk through the park, around a couple of blocks and get your lungs filled with pure invigorating air before breakfast. It will put you in better shape for the day's work.

The flag staff presented for use at the court house by W. W. Cowles before he left for Peoria, Ill., was placed on the tower of the court house Tuesday and the flag, also a present from Mr. C., will hereafter be displayed on all National and public days.

One delinquent subscriber said: "I will pay you Saturday, if I live." He's dead. Another said: "I will see you tomorrow." He's blind. Another, a profane one said: "I'll pay you this week or go to hell." He's gone. Anyhow none of them have paid.

S. C. Rumery, a highly respected citizen of Mason City, 86 years of age, sent his regards to the REPUBLICAN, Tuesday, for another year, by the hand of F. T. Nusbaum, the expert blacksmith and farrier at Mason, and our thanks are herewith extended.

J. G. VanCott doesn't lay claim to be a poet of the Longfellow class, but now that spring has arrived—or he thinks it has—he writes very entertainingly in prose on that subject which REPUBLICAN readers will do well to peruse on the opposite page.

J. M. Shively, of Lincoln, deputy commissioner of public lands and buildings, who has been looking over lands in this part of the state—in the discharge of his duties—was a Broken Bow visitor last Friday and a pleasant caller at the office of this great family journal.

"Bob" Skinner has a new front. Not to himself, as nature has personally supplied him abundantly, but to his blacksmith shop in the shape of an awning so that when it's hot inside he can sit out doors in the shade and allow the cool breezes to fade away the perspiration from his manly brow.

Gust Taylor, who has held a position as clerk in the office of Register of Deeds the past year or more has resigned his position to accept a position as clerk in the office of the county treasurer. He assumed work in his new position Monday morning. Ray McCall succeeds him in the office of the Register of Deeds.

On the first page of the REPUBLICAN this week the Eagle Grocery Co., announce prices for a few staples which will certainly appeal strongly to the purses of those who have been touched for excessive fees for the same goods. The Eagle store has a fine stock of groceries, and always make prices right on everything.

A number of the members of the Royal Highlanders, of Ansley, attended the meeting of the Royal Highlanders of this place Tuesday night. They came up on the evening local and returned Wednesday morning. They were Messrs Harris, Russell, Daniels; Messdames Daniels, Varney; Misses Morris and Frona Zimmerman.

MARRIED—On Friday afternoon, May 3, 1907, Mr. Charles H. Koening and Miss Jennie Wardrobe, both of Merna, Neb., at the Baptist parsonage in Broken Bow, the knot being tied by the pastor, Rev. J. D. Brady. Here's hoping all the "air castles" they have builded for the future may stand intact and the roseate hues they have pictured for the future may never grow dim.

In the office of the Grand Central hotel a few days ago a commercial traveler told of a fellow-traveler who was visiting his uncle in the country and was unexpectedly called upon to ask grace at dinner. He met the delicate emergency without flinching and executed the job thusly: "We acknowledge the receipt of your favor of recent date. Allow me to express gratitude for your expression of good will. Trusting that our house may merit your confidence and shall have many orders from you, we are, yours truly, Amen."

Frank R. Roberson is the foremost illustrated lecturer in America. He will give two of his addresses during the Chautauqua in Broken Bow.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church will serve dinner on May 25, at Temple theatre.

Mesdames McCormick and Draper, of Ansley, were visiting in Broken Bow Tuesday.

Jas McAllister, of Mason City, was among the friendly callers at this office last Friday morning.

L. D. George is having a fine barn and grainery built on his premises in the east part of the city.

Ruemont Pigman, who closed a term of school in the McColl district ten days ago, is now engaged in the office of the county clerk.

H. A. Watts will opening the ice cream and soda season in Broken Bow tomorrow. He promises music constantly, day and evening, which will undoubtedly please all patrons.

Work was commenced yesterday tearing away the board walk on the north side of the court house yard, with Supervisor Cushman in charge. It is thought the laying of the cement walk will be commenced by Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kiser, of Grand Island, have been visiting in the city several days with old acquaintances. They returned to Grand Island Tuesday morning to close up their business there with the view of moving to Oklahoma where their daughter has located.

A. H. Read, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, father of Mrs. J. G. Leonard, arrived in the city last Saturday and will visit here for an indefinite length of time. About two weeks ago he suffered a stroke of paralysis on his right side and he comes here, away from business care, in order that he may rest and recuperate.

Frank Grabel, who returned to Broken Bow last January after an absence of twelve years, has leased the Bachelor's Cafe, on the north side of the square, which has been conducted by Will Davis the past winter. Mr. Crabel is an old hand at the business and patrons will find the service entirely satisfactory under his supervision.

"Keep your hand on your pocket-book" tomorrow. Although the Campbell Bros., endeavor to keep pickpockets and short-change men away from their shows there are always followers who are on the alert for every dollar they see—or think they see in your pocket. Don't take bills of any denomination over $1 with you to the circus grounds, and then if you are caught by a short change artist the loss will not be much. The best way is to take what money you'll need in silver and then make change yourself, otherwise you are liable to pay double price, or more, for what you get.

The increase in the population of Broken Bow is handicapped because there are no houses for rent. The Improvement club could not do any better work in the interest of Broken Bow than to induce capital to come here and build residences, and it could be easily induced if facts, as they exist, were shown. For instance, houses costing $800 and containing four or five rooms rent for $12.50 per month. If twenty per cent isn't a pretty good rate of interest on an investment, then will someone kindly inform an anxious public where there's a better one.

Sewing Machines Made Good as New.
Frank Theiler, of Ansley, will be in Broken Bow next Monday, May 13th, to repair sewing machines. Satisfaction guaranteed or no pay. He has followed this business for forty-five years and is an expert. Leave orders at Konkels' furniture store on or before the above date and he will call at your residence and prescribe for the machine if it is not feeling well.
