

LOCAL LORE AND PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Rev. Jno. D. Brady goes to Anselmo tomorrow and at night give his illustrated lecture, "A Journey Through the Bible Lands."

Charley Baisch, who is taking a course in pharmacy at Creighton college, Omaha, reached home Tuesday night for the summer vacation.

The large pile of dry goods boxes in front of Drake's store the past few days indicate that Mr. Drake made extensive purchases of new summer goods while in Chicago last week.

S. R. Lee, "the busy druggist," attended the association meet of the state druggists, held at Seward last week, and found that city so attractive—or something—he did not reach home until Monday morning this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Martin have returned home from an eastern trip of four weeks. At Cleveland, Ohio, two weeks ago, they met up with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Willing and together they visited New York, Washington and the Jamestown exposition.

The ladies of Christian church will serve dinner at the Temple theatre on Saturday, July 13. The Christian church ladies have an enviable reputation when it comes to preparing a palatable dinner and this will not be an exception to the rule. Everybody invited.

Regardless of the howl for a sane Fourth of July, eliminating the cannon cracker and bombs, there will undoubtedly be a large number of smart alecks hold the cannon cracker in their hand while igniting the fuse and a few moments later be picked up in sections—if not blown away entirely.

Next Sunday will be observed by Knights of Pythias lodges everywhere as Memorial Sunday. In Broken Bow members of the order will go to the M. E. church in a body at 3 o'clock p. m., where memorial address will be delivered by N. T. Gadd and remarks by other members of the lodge in memory of the deceased brothers. The public is invited to be present at the services.

E. H. Kennedy—"Ellis, for short"—who went to Halsey last fall, opened a general merchandise store and engaged in purchasing live stock, came in yesterday to visit parents and a friend and his royal right is receiving a severe shaking today by a horde of acquaintances who are glad to see him looking handsome and prosperous. He will take advantage of the occasion and remain over tomorrow to witness the Broken Bow boys "wallop" the Merna baseball gang.

Six weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hunter went to Kansas City, where Mrs. H., underwent four surgical operations and has remained at the hospital since that time, but is expected home this week. "Bob," after being satisfied that all was well with Mrs. Hunter, started out to do missionary work in Iowa and Missouri and informs, us having reached home last Saturday, that he interested quite a number of men who will come here and inspect with a view to investing in real estate. Mr. Hunter has located many eastern people in Custer county and all of them have proven good and desirable citizens, which is his especial aim when negotiating the sale of land, instead of urging every Tom, Dick and Harry to come here and reside, which is certainly commendable in Mr. Hunter.

The Broken Bow baseball aggregation has "gone up against the real thing" three times in succession—all the games they have played this season. The first of last week they went to Anselmo and then came back again—the score being 9 to 0. Last Friday the Ansleyites came to this city and finished the game with 5 runs to their credit while the Bow boys were still banking for one or two. Tuesday of this week the home team went to Merna and again they failed in having a hiker cross the home plate while Merna tramped it down 3 times. Tomorrow afternoon the Merna ski-ys come to the Bow and the fellows here are "just about desprit" enough to smash the sphere into the back window in Dick Brega's law shebang in Arbor county every time they go to bat, while the Merna rooters are determined to put another kink in the sails of our wouldbe pennant people.

The Broken Bow and Western railroad project is not dead nor is it sleeping, but merely meditating and considering as to the most feasible route, and the day is not far distance when the toot of its locomotives will be heard in this bright, beautiful, bountiful land.

Mrs. W. R. Pennington, son and daughter, James and Luella, who have been visiting at the old home, Easton, Mo., since Decoration Day, reached home last Saturday. "Jim" says the "show me" farmers are getting ready for harvest and that corn is knee high to a 6-footer.

The "30 Old Maids" entertainment at the Opera house Tuesday night was witnessed by about half a house, those in attendance not being "almost tickled to death" by what the traveling promoter of the production characterized as "the funniest thing ever presented in your city."

There has been an increase of fourteen since last week in the attendance at Junior Normal which gives an enrollment of a hundred and a dozen. While the attendance is not as large as was anticipated it compares favorably with the number enrolled at the other State Junior Normals, the number here being in excess of some of the others.

George Wright, of Ansley, was a Broken Bow visitor, yesterday in consultation with B. W. Blair, of the City Bakery, and transacting other business. Mr. Wright conducts a first-class restaurant and those of our citizens who celebrate the glorious 4th in that village will be admirably served at his place when eating time arrives.

In another column will be found the program for the Eighteenth annual Old Settlers of the Northwest part of the county which will be held at Lindley's grove, near Anselmo, on Wednesday, July 10th. Arrangements have been made with the railroad company to stop passenger trains Nos. 41 and 42 at the grove on that day, which will be a great accommodation to those residing east of Anselmo, who attend the meeting.

Cement walks are this week being laid on both the east and west sides of the square with a full block of walk to follow on the north side. The floors in only two buildings on the north side of the square are as high as the established grade and a step or two down will have to be made to get into some of the places of business or new floors laid above the old ones and the ceilings pushed up. In the case of Tierney's meat market the easiest plan would be to move onto the present roof and build a new roof over cutting blocks, juicy steaks and Fred Ebert.

The cares of life for J. M. Kimberling continue to increase. Not only by an increase of business at the Broken Bow State bank and official duties as alderman of the First ward, but paternal affliations have increased about 120 degrees Fahrenheit, a young man of more than ordinary beauty, intelligence and lung power having arrived at the Kimberling home on Monday. The latest wireless messages do not say that he has made an engagement to deliver a 4th of July oration, but such announcement is expected on the next wave current.

Scott Cooper, who janitorates at the court house, plucks dandelions from the lawn and shoots dogs and puppies from the grounds, has received an illustration of an improved lawn sprinkler and is so favorably impressed with its appearance that he will request the supervisors, when they meet next month, to invest in it. Whether it is the three nozzles or the shape of it that pleases Mr. Cooper has not been made known by him, but that he needs a new one, of some kind, is a sure thing.

The new laws, which were not decorated with an emergency clause, passed by the legislature last winter, go into full force effect next Monday, July 1st. The one which will be met up with by most people is the "paint your gasoline can red" provision and it will perhaps be the one most violated, especially in the smaller country towns where everybody knows everybody and that everybody is wise enough to know gasoline from coal oil or water without having the can painted a crimson color.

Attorney Gadd went to Dunning yesterday and closed up one of the worst of all the holes-in-the-wall in Nebraska.

A new six-foot wide cement walk has been laid the entire length of the block in which A. W. Drake and T. W. Edwards reside, on the North side.

If you intend to be a candidate for office this fall, let the fact be known by announcement in the REPUBLICAN which goes everywhere and is read by everybody in the county.

The Lawn social arranged to be held tomorrow evening at Frank Taylor's has been postponed until Saturday evening on account of the lecture at the Temple theatre by Prof. O. J. Kern.

Lock Xanders, son of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. H. Xanders, of this city, who has been attending Trinity college, at Hartford, Conn., has returned to Kearney and engaged with the baseball club of that city, the same team he played with last year.

Tomorrow night—in the Junior Normal course—Prof. O. J. Kern, author of "Among Country Schools," will deliver a lecture, illustrated with a stereopticon. The management consider this one of the best numbers on the course and fearlessly advise their friends to not fail to be present.

A heavy hail storm is reported in the southeast part of the county Monday evening, accompanied by a hard rain and fierce lightning and thunder. During the next two months hail storms may be expected, and insurance against destruction by the icy pellets is a wise move on the part of every one whose crops are too large to bring into the house when a hail storm arrives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willing reached home this morning after an absence of several weeks, during which time they visited a number of the large eastern cities, also the Jamestown exposition which Mr. Willing says is considerably "small potatoes," not being as gigantic as one is led to believe by the articles published by the exposition management.

Members of the M. B. A. auxiliaries loaded themselves onto a hay rack last Friday evening and went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Callen, 5 miles north-east of the city, where they were most hospitably entertained and made merry until midnight. Ice cream and cake was served and the entire contingent returned to the city in a happy mood, declaring that Mr. and Mrs. Callen's is one of the most hospitable homes in the west.

First Lawn Social of the Season.
The Ladies Guild of the Episcopal church will give a Lawn social Saturday evening, June 29, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor. A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend. Ice cream and delicious cake served.

Married.
At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Davison, in Broken Bow, Nebr., at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening June 26, 1907, Mr. James McMillen and Miss Edith Davison were united in marriage in the presence of about fifty relatives and personal friends.

This event, which binds two young and loving hearts, has been a forgone conclusion for some time, consequently none of their acquaintances, upon learning that it has occurred, will suffer a severe nervous shock.

The contracting parties are popular with all acquaintances and all hope they will encounter few, if any, obstacles in their travel down the prosperous path of life, the REPUBLICAN joining the hosts of well-wishers.
