

LOCAL LORE AND PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

W. Y. Amsberry and wife, of Mason City, are here attending the fair.

Henry Hontz of Brownlee, came down Tuesday to visit his mother and take in the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Cover, of Mason City, helped swell the throng in the city this week.

Herbert G. Myers, republican candidate for supervisor district No. 6, made us a pleasant call Wednesday.

Angelo Dundero, brother and son, of Anselmo, all of Italian birth, made us a pleasant call today. Angelo is a prosperous rancher and says he likes to read the REPUBLICAN, 'cause it don't take long.

C. W. Redfern of Oconto, who has been a subscriber to this family journal over twenty years, dropped in the office Wednesday and advanced the editor a little change with which to carry on business during the cold winter months.

C. C. Connely, who has been residing at Gandy the past seven years, was in the city this week visiting relatives and attending the Custer county fair as he has done every year for the past twenty-five years—regardless of wind and weather.

Died—at her home in Berwyn, Nebraska, Mrs. Emma Hopkins, the beloved wife of William Hopkins, aged 42 years and 20 days. Funeral services were held at the M. E. church in Berwyn, at 3 p. m., September 11, 1907, conducted by R. Bellis. The remains were interred in the Janesville cemetery.

Several new frames for residences have appeared in the city during the past few days. Every house that can be built in Broken Bow is badly needed, as there are a good many families greatly embarrassed because of their inability to secure convenient living quarters.

Ross Armour left on Tuesday morning for Lincoln, where he enrolled at the State University for a 6-year course in engineering. He was accompanied by his brother, Attorney Martin Armour, who will hang out his shingle in an Iowa town.

The republican voters of Berwyn township are called to meet at the Berwyn school house on Saturday, Sept. 28, 1907 at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a township ticket and to transact such other business as may legally come before them.—R. R. WELCH, Com.

Thos. W. Myers became the owner of a nice piece of property last Friday by purchasing of Sarah J. Fool a parcel in section 33, township 17, range 20, for the sum of $1650. This is a tract of about four acres of ground, three quarters of a mile east of the square, the intention at present being that his son Charlie will occupy the premises. Mr. Myers has acquired a good property and the sale goes to show that the Broken Bow realty prices are going higher and higher day by day.

James Chittick, the old-time, energetic and progressive farmer, who lives a half mile south of Etna, has been engaged as manager of the Farmers' Co-operative association at Gothenburg, which deals in grain, lumber, coal, etc. and has decided to quit farming that he may be better able to attend to his duties at Gothenburg. He is advertising a public sale of horses, cattle, hogs and farm machinery, on the farm at Etna, on Wednesday, September 25, beginning at 10 a. m.

Julle Simonson returned to the city Monday night from his eastern trip of nearly three months, during which time he was connected with the Deagon Theatre company, which has been making week stands through Indiana and Michigan. Mr. Simonson is a clarinetist of a very high order. He returned to attend to some matters in connection with the bicycle business, in which he was engaged before leaving here. Fay Thorpe is still with the show and is happy, getting fat and sassy and making love to pretty girls in every town.

Geo. Zuderwent, of Dunning, has been among the throng in the city this week and seemed to enjoy the occasion.

Orvis Pike of Walworth, was in town Thursday attending the fair. He also swelled this paper's exchequer a two spot.

Miss Jennie Allen, of Mason City, enroute to Merna, stopped for a day in this city and saw the big crowd in attendance at the fair.

E. B. Johnson, of Hoosier, was among the bunch who saw the sights in Broken Bow this week and came through without a scratch.

Mrs. James V. McCue, who has resided at Alliance the past two years, is visiting relatives in the city and will remain till the latter part of next week.

With saloons does anyone suppose Broken Bow could have been as orderly and free from drunkenness and brawls, as it has been this week? Then, too, were this a license town an extra force of police would have been necessary.

The republican central committee met this morning at the court house and re-elected Jules Haumont chairman and A. J. VanAntwerp secretary. The team is a good one and the chances are there will soon be a rattling of dry bones in the camp of the enemy.

Editor Roy Barnard, of the Callaway Queen, visited the fair and, so far as his vocal statements went, was not displeased with the exhibits or entertainment. He claimed to have come by way of Grand Island and regretted having to go home—'cross country.

Both the Opera house and the Temple theatre have been crowded each night to their fullest capacity—1000 each—and with two dances and a merry-go-round also crowded, at least three thousand persons were entertained on the square by a moving picture exhibition, free.

Mark Boots has purchased from M. W. Miley the livery, feed and sale stable—known as the Tooley barn—and doing a splendid business. "Mark" knows how a first-class livery should be conducted and he is following those lines, consequently all patrons are so well pleased they do not hesitate to call again.

F. E. Delano, residing between Westerville and Arcadia, in that beautiful garden spot of Nebraska known as Lee Park, is in the city attending a meeting of the republican central committee and at the same time attending to business. He is getting fat, all right, and just as good natured and jolly as ever.

One of the real joyful meetings of the M. B. A., Auxiliary was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Wallace last Thursday night with more than fifty members in attendance. A home-made merry-go-round, constructed especially for the occasion, created much merriment and was quite liberally patronized. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace proved themselves able entertainers.

Dan Walton, who was so long connected with the Advo Grocery, has severed his connection therewith, disposed of his city residence and will go to California to reside. Inasmuch as Dan knows everybody—hereabout—and everybody knows Dan—he will find himself and family a lonesome community—for a while—in his new location.

A watermelon in Frank G. Christy's patch, at Walworth, was marked "EDITOR REPUBLICAN" when it was quite young was pulled from the vine this week, after having grown to large proportions, that is about two feet long and nearly as big around as a wash boiler. The mark had grown with it and loomed up conspicuously. Thanks, friend Christy, it was the best we've had yet.

W. W. Bittner, the fellow who is plenty large enough to hold his own in a gale, a member of the Arlington Comedy company, who assumes all his roles in a manner worthy an Edwin Booth and never fails to elicit an uproarious outland smile—when there is a smile coming—is a cousin of our own "Bob" Skinner, who is built much on the same plan as Bittner, both as to avoidpouse and jollity and there has been quite a family reunion of Bittners and Skinners—big and little—old and young—in Broken Bow, this week.

Wm. Edmunds and family of Anselmo, visited in the city today.
