

Condensed Local and Personal Paragraphs

The arduous duties of Christmas shopping already looms up in the not far distant.

William Worth has gone to Creighton, Nebr., where he will remain a couple of weeks soliciting and writing insurance.

R. T. Walker was in the city the first of the week and went to the southern part of the state in the interest of the Gold Medal Mining company.

The printer made an error in the date of Sup't J. L. McBrien's letter—published on the first page of this edition of the REPUBLICAN. It should read "August 19" instead of "October."

Mrs. Turnbull, who resides with her son, Thomas, in this city, is seriously ill. Her son, Grant and another son, who resides in Omaha, arrived in the city yesterday, her recovery being doubtful.

Last week Frank Willis went to Hastings to take an examination for the U. S. navy as a musician in a Marine band. He was successful and on Tuesday of this week, in company with other recruits, was sent to San Francisco.

Editors Pinch of the Merna Postal Card, and Anderson, of the Mason City Star, accompanied by Mrs. Anderson and the baby, were Broken Bow visitors Monday securing pointers on division, pro and con.

Frank Dean disposed of the Never Close restaurant two weeks ago to James Sloggett and Monday purchased the B & M, restaurant, which has been a first-class one and will be kept fully up to the standard under Frank's management.

H. H. Burton is building a barn and an addition to his residence on the ranch five miles northwest of the city. This is another instance of what Nebraska soil can and will do for energetic young men, regardless of the fact that his four boys are all girls.

Dr. Morrow, of Merna, was a pleasant caller at the REPUBLICAN office Monday. The doctor has out a petition for signers in order to have his name placed on the official ballot for the office of coroner and informs us he is meeting with much encouragement.

James Largey, accompanied by mother and sister, Margaret, left Tuesday night for London, Ohio. Mrs. Largey and daughter reside in that city and have been visiting here the past six weeks. James went to renew acquaintance and see how the old town looks after a lapse of several years.

The "oldest settler" was completely beaten out by the late spring this year and did not remember anything like it "afore" and now he's seeking tall timber again because of the excellent fall weather. If it ever before occurred in these "diggins" it was prior to his advent.

Clyde and Stella Walters left last week for Mountain Grove, Mo., a large number of friends and school-mates being at the depot to bid them good bye. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Walters, will join them in a few days at Mountain Grove, where he will engage in the manufacture of cigars.

Dr. Fox will lecture under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. at the Temple theatre, on Thursday evening, October 24th. He is among the foremost lecturers on the platform and one of the greatest attractions ever presented to a Broken Bow audience. Don't fail to hear him. Season tickets $2.00; single admission 50c.

Mrs. Jos. Pigman left Monday morning for Grand Island where she visited with her son, Rue-mont, who is a student at the Baptist college, until Tuesday evening when she went to Omaha a delegate from the Broken Bow lodge to the State Assembly. Daughters of Rebekah, I. O. O. F., which is in annual session this week.

W. J. McCullough was in from his plantation 9 miles from Ansley one day last week transacting business, a part of which was with the REPUBLICAN. He said that the corn crop would not be as large nor as good grade as last year in his vicinity, but that unless the price took a tumble they would make about even with the results of last year.

Two children, Mr. and Mrs. Rittenhouse residing in the north part of the city, are reported very ill with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Effie Dodds, clerk of the U. S. land office, left last night for Cheyenne, Wyo., for a visit with friends. She will be gone about thirty days.

Ole Johnson, of Round Valley, who recently purchased the Amos Noble property in the east part of the city is building a new barn on the premises.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Amsberry arrived in the city from Spokane, Wash., Tuesday night. After a few days' visit here they will go to Missouri and visit with Mrs. Amsberry's mother, who is in poor health.

The Broken Bow lodge of Odd Fellows is being represented at the grand lodge, in session at Omaha, by A. W. Drake, Mayor George, Jos. Pigman, Dr. Bass and Will Purcell are also in attendance.

Our country correspondence is unusually good this week, but it is unavoidably crowded out. Additional pages will be added to the regular edition of the REPUBLICAN next week and the correspondents' offerings will be given space.

James R. Sterner, a prosperous young farmer of near Callaway, was in the city yesterday on business in connection with making final proof for a chunk of Uncle Sam's domain which he has established a right to claim as his own and his only.

J. L. Gandy, who moved from this city to Oklahoma a number of years ago and has not been here for six years, arrived last Friday for a visit with his brother, Jesse, and old friends.

Mr. Gandy easily notes the great improvements in Broken Bow during the past six years and says he does not know of another town that has made as many and substantial improvements.

Two weeks from next Tuesday is election day, yet one would hardly think it, judging from the amount of campaigning which has been so extremely silent as to be painful—almost—to those candidates who, in other years, have had a strenuous time, been ripped up the back and plastered all over from the filth tank which is now the exclusive property of the Custer County Beacon.

Tuesday morning Sanders Vandlingham and Misses Myrtle Lyell and Janie Cooper left for Paris and other points in Texas to visit relatives—which abound there in large numbers—expecting to be absent from home about four weeks. A post card received here this morning indicates they are now in Kansas City rubbing at the tall buildings and wondering how many jumps it would take to reach the tops if the buildings were laid down flat.

The Federal grand jury in session at Omaha two weeks ago returned an indictment against Arthur Norcutt on the charge of having broken into the U. S. postoffice in this city on the night of July 8th and removing therefrom $45 in currency. Since his arrest, ten days after the robbery, he has been in the custody of Sheriff Richardson. Last Friday a deputy U. S. marshal came and took him to Grand Island where he will be held until a hearing by the Federal court next February.

Those of our merchants who were recently inveigled into exchanging good Uncle Sam currency for defunct Georgia bank notes may find some consolation in knowing that two fellows who performed the same trick at Blair, Nebr., last week, were arrested. After consoling themselves with this information the aforesaid Broken Bow merchants are entitled to a weep, for the sharpers testified the bills were taken by them for good money and they had no knowledge they were other than good until their arrest, so they were discharged.

Great Poland-China Dispersion Sale.
On account of removal from State will sell the greater part of my fine Perfection-Sunshine herd. Hogs neither overly coarse nor too small, the best money-makers. I have ideal shape and size. All ages to select from at bottom figures. Write for prices. Dispersion sale Tuesday, November 12th.
J. M. TITTERINGTON,
Cairo, Nebr.

Miss Cora Foote, of Dunning, is visiting in the city.

Fred Ream Seriously Injured.

On Monday while doing some work at home, Fred H. Ream, of the firm of Johnson & Ream, fell from a step ladder and, although at the time not greatly inconvenienced, is now seriously ill, having been injured internally by the fall.

Mr. Ream is one of Broken Bow's most enterprising and energetic citizens and an unusually large number of friends will regret to learn of the accident and its results.

Boy Disappeared.

Rev. H. E. Meyers, residing 5 miles from Broken Bow, phones the REPUBLICAN that he would like information concerning his son, George, who disappeared from home last Monday, the 14th inst. The boy is 15 years old and when last seen had a shot gun and was accompanied by a black female rat terrier dog. He was attired in black plaid jacket, blue overalls and white felt hat. Rev. Meyers would be pleased to have anyone who can convey information concerning the boy report either to him or the authorities at Broken Bow.

A Fine Herd of Hogs.

Brief mention was made in the REPUBLICAN last week that Willis Cadwell had received a fine lot of Duroc-Jersey hogs on Wednesday.

On Tuesday of this week we had the pleasure of seeing this consignment of hogs—twenty-two in number—and in saying they are undoubtedly the finest bunch of Duroc-Jersey hogs ever brought to Custer county is not putting it any stronger than the facts will warrant.

They were bred and raised at Ragan, Nebraska, and purchased by Mr. Cadwell at a public sale at Aurora. Mr. Cadwell did not purchase for the purpose of selling again for a profit, but as a nucleus to establish a herd of Duroc-Jerseys which he can claim as being equal to the best or better than any in the state.

In the herd are four boars—three last spring's and one yearling—and each of them is a fine specimen of animal, the yearling being well worth the time spent in going to Mr. Cadwell's farm to see.

Destructive Prairie Fire.

A destructive prairie fire occurred at Sullivan's ranch ten miles south of town on Friday last. The men were burning weeds and shrubbery when the fire became uncontrollable and before the flames could be extinguished over fifty tons of good had gone up in smoke.

Sudden Death.

Anna R. Leserve, who died on Saturday evening, October 12, 1907, was born at Huntington, Huntington county, Penn., on March 10, 1848, and was married to Wm. A. Leserve, July 6, 1865. She joined the Christian church when but fourteen years of age, and has been a faithful Christian worker ever since. About sixteen years ago she became a member of the Methodist church. In 1870 she moved from Pennsylvania to Indiana, and in 1882 she moved to eastern Nebraska, and from there to Westerville, Neb. in 1891, at which place she resided until coming to Broken Bow last February. She was the mother of fifteen children of whom four, three sons and one daughter, survive her.

The deceased was in her usual health up until an hour of the final summons. Her husband, Col. Wm. A. Leserve, having just returned from a trip to the sand hills, had retired early and was awakened from a sound sleep by his son who informed him of his wife's illness. He immediately arose and poured out a teaspoonful of medicine, which relieved her during sinking spells, to which she was subject, but she waved it away. He then assisted her to a couch and summoned a physician, but the spark of life was almost extinguished by the time he arrived and medical aid could not revive it.

She was a faithful wife, loving mother and true Christian friend.
