SAVAGERY OF A CENTURY AGO.

Poor Woman's Execution Then a Matter of Little Moment

The hanging of a woman, which in these days calls forth public protests, was apparently a matter of indifference to our grandfathers and grandmothers, says the London Chronicle. It was in the nineteenth century that a woman found guilty of some trifling offense was sentenced to death. By chance the warrant for her execution was not sent to the high sheriff, and she remained in prison for about three years, acting as a jail washerwoman, and occasionally, as a favor in acknowledgement of her good behavior, going out, as was then the custom, as a washerwoman to private houses. But a clerk looking through the home office records found the warrant that had never been dispatched, and it was thereupon promptly forwarded to the sheriff for due process. The woman was found by the turnkey at the wash-tub in a house in the town—Aylesbury. "Well, missus," said he, "you are to be hanged. The warrant has come at last, and we must carry the sentence out to-morrow morning at the latest." "Werry well, then," the wretched woman submissively replied, "I suppose I must go," and having washed the soapuds off her arms departed with the official. She was duly hanged next morning. From all which it would seem that barely a century separates us from a condition of primitive barbarism.

FEARED FOR NIECE'S FUTURE.

Peculiar Bent of Child's Mind Discouraged Uncle.

"I hate to think it," grimly said Uncle Timrod Totten. "But I am mightily afraid my little 10-year-old niece, Luella, is going to cause a great deal of worry and unhappiness in the world when she grows up." "What makes ye think so?" asked old Squire Belcher, who had come over to borrow a whiffetree. "She seems to be a real nice, thoughtful, good-tempered child now." "Well," was the explanation, "to-day, our gray gander got tangled up in a discussion with the shepherd pup, and when the fracas was over there was skurled a feather left on the fowl. And little Luella took and dyked him out in a pair of draw-pantaloons—and a chin-slip, I mean—of white cloth sewed by her own fair hands. And, somehow, I can't help fearing that when she attains an appropriate age she will wear nose-glasses and several double-chins, and go crusading against all the common and unimportant indelicacies that human flesh is heir to."—Exchange.

Violin as a Hair Restorer.

It is now a scientifically proved fact that music exercises a great influence on the growth of the hair. It is with good reason that great musicians, such as Paganini, Liszt and Paderewski, are represented with a growth of hair which Absalom might have envied. Science has proved that stringed instruments have a favorable influence on the growth of the hair, while brass instruments act in the opposite direction. Every one has probably observed that a bald violinist is as rare as a bald horn player is common. Wood instruments, such as the flute, seem to have no pronounced influence either way.

British Scientific Farming.

A new era in British farming seems to be developing from the experiments at the Cambridge university farm at Impington. During the last eight years all known varieties of wheat have been collected, and, while most of them could not be acclimated, a few have been selected for resistance to rust, good cropping capacity, free milling quality, stiff straw, etc., and have been crossed with British wheat so successfully as to promise an immediate increase in value of 10 per cent or more. Like improvement of barley and other plants is anticipated.

meant for a Compliment.

W. S. Gilbert, the celebrated author of comic opera, once described Miss Rosina Brandram, the Savoy contralto, as "Rosina of glorious voice, that rolls out of full bodied Burgundy rolls down."

REAL CAUSE OF THE SMASHUP.

Railroad Sign to Blame for Accident It Was Intended to Avert.

The old ducky was suing the railroad company for damages. The man contended that, not being warned by whistle or engine bell, he had started to drive his rig across the company's track when a shunted box car of said company crashed into his outfit, causing the death of the horse, loss of the wagon and minor injuries to himself. After the prosecution had closed its side of the case, the company's lawyer called the old ducky to the stand and went at him. "Mr. Lamson," he began, "your rig was struck by the box car in full daylight—was it not?" "I flink dar was some clouds overhead, sub," answered the caviling witness. "Never mind the clouds! And only a few days before this accident the railroad company had put a new sign at that crossing?" "Dar was a sign dar, ya-as, sub!" "And didn't that sign say 'Stop! Look! Listen?'" "Now, dar am de whole accusation ub de trouble!" declared the ducky, with animation. "If dat stop sign hadn't caught dis chile's eye jes' 's Ah war squar on dat track, dar wouldn't 'a been no smashup!"—Bohemian.

POWER OF THE ROTHSCHILDS.

Accumulated Wealth Soon to Make Influence of House Enormous.

It has been calculated that at the present rate of accumulation the Rothschilds will own by the middle of the present century some £2,000,000,000 sterling, or nearly enough to pay off the national debt three times over, says a writer in the Grand Magazine, of London, England. The imagination is staggered and fails to realize the power which is represented by such figures. It could finance, or it could stop, a war; it could delay the industrial development of a country for a generation; or it could, on the other hand, enable a country which it favored to beat all its industrial rivals. A power like this must have its fingers on all the arteries through which flows the life-blood of commerce, the ebb and flow of which it can regulate uncontrolled.

For Happiness in Marriage.

I have spoken of the only true and right motive for marriage, and venture my opinion that marriage should not be too eagerly sought by either sex, but rather waited for until the certainty has come that one loves worthily and well. I mean, that for a man to say to himself, in cold blood, that it is time he should marry, and, for that reason, to look about for a wife—instead of being aware that he loves and therefore desires to marry the one beloved woman—is, to my thinking, as unwise and in almost as poor taste as for a girl to discover that it is time she were settled in life and, in consequence, set about trying to attract a husband. In neither case is happiness in marriage likely to be the result of such a quest.—Louise Chandler Moulton.

Out of the Schoolroom.

A schoolboy was asked to give some information in regard to the Cary sisters, the once famous New England poets, and he said of them: "The Cary sisters were two poets who lived in Massachusetts most of the time. They went to New York where they made many fast friends. Their fastest friend was John G. Whittier." At the time of the Longfellow centennial, when the school children were writing so much about him, one boy wrote: "Longfellow's poems were mostly of his own composition, but he wrote 'Tells of a Wayside Inn' where others did the talking. He was the poet lorryett of our country and was a crackerjack when it came to real poetry."—Lippincott's.

Spectacles for Cows.

A Russian firm which manufactures optical goods has just completed an order for 40,000 pairs of glasses to be worn by cows. These spectacles are necessary because the steppes, the great Russian prairies, are covered with snow for six months in the year, but during part of the time delicate fresh grass tips protrude from the white and dazzling mantle. The cows then are turned out to feed on the new grass, but if their eyes are unprotected from the dazzle of sunshine on the snow it gives them snow blindness. Hundreds have died from this cause; but a rude, cheap kind of spectacles, made of leather and smoked glass, was invented, and since has been used with great success.

What's Geography Good For?

This is from the philosophy of Mrs. Louisa Schmitt, who berated a teacher for not promoting her daughter because the latter was deficient in geography. "Teacher, you don't know it all, I guess," said the irate Mrs. Schmitt. "I wish it that my daughter gets through school so she gets a man. Never mind about the geography; just promote her without it. Why, my other daughter, she didn't know geography and she got a man. And you know all about geography and you ain't got any man at all. What is this geography good for? See that my daughter gets through school."

Serious, Indeed.

"Lady," said the tattered tramp at the gate, "can't yer spare me a dime on a very urgent collection?" "What do you call an urgent collection?" asked the busy housewife. "Why, yer see, I have just been fined $25,240,900 for ridin' on an oil car an' I've only got two days to get it together."

This One Thing I Do

THE APOSTLE PAUL'S FAMOUS WORDS ADOPTED TO MODERN THOUGHT.

Famous Physicians Devote Their Attention to Special Diseases and Effect Wonderful Cures.

Specialism is the idea of the day. Not that every physician can be a specialist nor would it be justifiable in every doctor becoming one, but there are advantages which can be derived only by a special practice.

The physician which treats both chronic and acute diseases, making no special study of one kind of ailments more than another, cannot be so successful as a doctor who makes a speciality of a certain line of diseases and devotes his whole time and attention to the study and practice of that speciality. The practice of medicine, (general practice) is too broad a field for one to become proficient. Medical science has advanced wonderfully in the past fifteen years, as you all know, which is largely due to centralizing its study. The specialists are the physicians that we must give credit largely for enlightening the medical world.

We cite, for instance, that of Dr. Caldwell, a specialist of Louisville, Ky., who now has one of her offices in Omaha and has had for the last four years where she has made many cures and has succeeded in building up a reputation and practice among those whom she has cured that would be hard to get away from her. Dr. Caldwell is a lady from the new school. Her experience and training has been that of many years' practice and vast experience. She confines herself to the treatment of chronic, lingering and deep-seated ailments. She pretends to cure only such diseases as she has had sufficient experience with in handling, and does not go into that class of incurable diseases which in many instances it is useless to bother with.

As a result of long experience, Dr. Caldwell is thoroughly familiar with her specialties. In the treatment of cancer, consumption, heart disease, nervousness and female diseases, there are very few specialists better qualified to treat them than Dr. Caldwell. It is claimed by Dr. Caldwell's friends that she can diagnose a disease without a question. This being the case, she is not liable to doctor her patient for the wrong ailment, which is many times done by physicians of inexperience. Dr. Caldwell does not treat typhoid fever, whooping cough, measles, and these acute diseases for which the local home physician is called upon to treat. It is not her desire to antagonize nor to take from the home physician that part of the business which really belongs to him. Many times Dr. Caldwell is called in consultation with the home physician and the kindest of feelings should exist between them.

Dr. Caldwell is charitable. In many instances where people are devoid of funds to pay for their service she charges in such cases for the medicine only and no person, no matter how humble, has she ever turned away without seeking to give them relief.

By permission we are pleased to publish a few of some of the cures she made throughout the state of Nebraska. These are only a few, as time and space will not permit us to publish more.
