President Roosevelt has been criticized for assisting Taft in securing the nomination for president.

In his columns the editor of The Chicago Socialist says: "The socialist party is a political party. It wants votes."

While on his recent visit to the White House, W. J. Bryan perhaps made some mental calculations on the changes in the building.

Foraker and other opponents of Taft are now howling for a third term for Roosevelt and hope to stampede the Chicago convention for the man in the White House.

The custom of giving showers to girl friends about to be married is becoming rather expensive for some society girls and they are forced to get married themselves to get even.

Someone has declared that no man had a greater desire to be president than James G. Blaine.

President Taft is hopeful for the completion of the Panama canal in three years.

With North Carolina going dry there will be more truth to that famous remark of the governor of that state to his friend, the executive of South Carolina.

The Forest Reserve. In speaking of the Forest Reserve it may be regarded by some as an exaggeration.

Yet the one to which we refer is the government Forest reserve located at Halsey, Neb., fifty miles west of Broken Bow on the line of the B & M. railroad.

This Forest Reserve is not as suppose by some, a body of timber set apart by the government, in order to preserve the forest.

The facts are the reverse. It is a treeless waste. There is practically no native timber on the tract. It is located between the Middle Loup and Dismal rivers and includes 85,000 acres of rolling prairie.

For some time the Halsey forest Reserve has been the leading one of the nation. It has now attained the reputation of being the largest plant of its kind in the world.

About ten acres is used for seed beds, each of which are six feet wide and sixty feet long, with walks between them.

cultivated and their roots more fully developed. After the plants have in this way been developed sufficiently, they are taken up and placed in cold storage for transplanting into the forest.

Something of the amount of labor required can be understood when we are informed that four million pines are growing in the beds at this time and that 200,000 trees have been transplanted to the forest this spring.

Besides the Halsey, plant has grown and shipped to other forest Reserves in the United States about 650,000 for transplanting.

In transplanting to the forest they aim to set about 2000 to the acre. Only the north and east slopes are being used at the present time as the trees grow and do better than they would if planted on the south and west slopes of the hills.

Supt. Mast who is in charge of the plant has had seven years experience in this line of work and is posted. He practically is the head of the Department.

He is of genial disposition and takes pleasure in explaining the details of the work to strangers. He is thoroughly imbued with the importance of the work in which he is engaged and he takes great pleasure in explaining it to others.

The First Chautauqua. The original Chautauqua at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y.

These Chautauquas bring to the communities in which they are located the best men of the pulpit, press and platform as well as the best entertainers and musicians that the county affords.

The programs are calculated to reach all classes of people. That this is a proven fact is shown by the great demand the country over by wide awake communities for these summer assemblies.

Sunday Base Ball. The REPUBLICAN has received an anonymous communication protesting against Sunday baseball. The writer evidently wanted to keep in the back ground and did not sign his name.

There are many honest differences of opinion on Sunday baseball. To some people of a religious disposition the idea of any form of amusement on Sabbath is objectionable.

Many other people—just as law abiding as the first—believe there is no harm in Sunday baseball. They contend the sport to be healthful and sane.

In this connection the following, published in the Herald at Albert Lea, Minn.,—while not necessarily convincing to opponents of Sunday baseball—will show, to some extent, the present day sentiment on the matter:

One of the features of a ball game here Sunday afternoon was an address by Rev. Albert H. Muller, rector of the Episcopal church. The divine spoke just before the game was called.

In giving his response why he was at the ball game he said that there was an old conventional idea that it was a sin to go to a baseball game on Sunday.

After enjoying the literary feast everybody was ready to relish the supper which Mesdames, Wells, Baker and Holcomb had in waiting in the banquet room.

$150 For Best Article. The Republican Congressional Committee offers $150 for the best article not exceeding 1,000 words on the subject.

The competition is open to all. In judging the merits of contributions consideration will be given not only to style, arguments, and facts presented, but to the convincing power, and it should be borne in mind that Members of Congress are to be elected as well as President and Vice-President.

No manuscripts will be returned, but will be the property of the Committee.
