Orval Miller returned Tuesday from Halsey where he had been the past week looking for home-steads for himself and sisters, Merle and Martis. They filed contests on four sections on which they expect to locate if cancelled.

William Hunkerfer, of Loup City was among the number of applicants for government land yesterday, who filed on a choice section in the northwest part of Custer county, Sec. 22, 20-24, that was recently cancelled on contest he instituted several months ago.

H. L. Ormsby, agent for the Burlington railroad company in Broken Bow, will leave to night for Atlantic City, New Jersey, to attend a session of the Coupon ticket agents association and visit points of interest in the east during a vacation of three weeks granted him by the company. Mrs. Ormsby and two sons, Hugh and Clarence, will accompany him.

The Civic League dinner and supper at the Temple theater last Thursday proved a popular and successful venture on the part of the ladies, nearly one hundred dollars being realized by the undertaking. The REPUBLICAN has contended, for the past two years, that if the ladies undertook the work of cleaning the town and beautifying it—it would be done, and properly.

Upon petition by his attorneys, Messrs. Sullivan and Squires, James Carland, who was being held in the Custer county jail for shooting and killing John Sanderson, was taken to the penitentiary, by Sheriff Kennedy, on Monday. The transfer was granted because Carland's health was becoming impaired by confinement in the dampness in the county jail, which is in the basement of the court house.

Appreciating the fact that teachers enjoy an evening of splendid music especially when rendered by competent musicians, Mrs. English, of Lincoln, has arranged such a program for Wednesday evening, June 10th. Miss Genevive Foedra, Lincoln's talented violin prodigy will appear, also Miss Pearl Foedra, her scarcely less talented sister, on the piano. These ladies cannot be praised too highly. Mrs. English, already a favorite in our city, will both sing and read.

The Broken Bow Driving association, organized last week, is today holding its first meeting at the fair grounds. Among those who have horses entered in the several classes are: A. J. Elliott, Luther Miller, Jake Johnson, C. W. Bowman, Carl Bowman, Wm. Bruce, Tom Finlen, J. S. Molyneux, James Herbert, Frank Ward, Jud Morton, Ed. McComas, James G. Leonard, E. C. House, Will Frey, F. W. Hayes, Ed. Caywood, H. Rapp and Marshall Eddy. This indicates a successful association.

Decoration Day.

It is the day set apart to pay tribute to the brave men who gave up their lives that this Nation might live. It is the day the feeble survivors of that memorable struggle, assemble in their Grand Army posts and aided by younger friends place garlands on the graves of those who have gone before, and holding fitting services to their memory.

The rapidly thinning ranks of the survivors show that it will be but a brief period when they will cease to perform this beautiful and appropriate service and the duty will have to be taken up entirely by the younger generation—we who are now at the half way mark in life now, but were then only just entering upon the school days.

On this day the nation weeps in memory of its brave heroes. This day arouses a two-fold sentiment—one of sorrow that so many noble men have fallen—another of deep gratitude that the unity of the country was preserved, even at the great sacrifice, and that by the preservation of that union we stand today the greatest and most respected nation on earth. It is a holy day and should arouse the noblest patriotic impulses in the heart of every true American.

In many places, because of the day having become a National holiday, sports and festivities of a character wholly unworthy of its commemoration are indulged in to a more or less extent, but this feature is becoming unpopular—as it should—and the day is more generally observed now as it was intended it should be, than it was a few years ago.

In Broken Bow all business houses were draped in conformity with custom and so far as possible and practicable business was suspended especially during the services held at the M. E. church beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

At 10:30 a procession was formed in front of the G. A. R. hall composed of a fife and drum corps, Co., M., Neb. National Guards, members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., Spanish-American war veterans, school children and citizens in carriages and proceeded to the cemetery where the graves of comrades were decorated, the procession being nearly a mile in length.

In the afternoon at the M. E. church Memorial services were held, the address being delivered by Rev. J. R. Teagarden whose remarks were fitting and attentively heard by one of the largest audiences that ever assembled in the church.

Nearly Drowned.

Just before noon yesterday the two little girls, age 2 and 4 years, of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Simonson, were playing and throwing sticks in a pool of water caused by a leak in the water main and a hole dug in an attempt to fix it, the water being several feet deep. While thus engaged the younger one fell into the hole. The sister's cries attracted the attention of Miss Rose Rogers who hastened to the spot and rescued the little one who was just sinking for the third time.

After considerable work and application of restoratives, the little one was brought to life, although for a time it appeared as though the efforts would be in vain.

At The Theatre.

At Cozy Corners the Rural Comedy Drama in Four Acts will be presented by a strong cast in the Temple Theatre on June 10. This Drama is written by David Warfield and has had a successful season from coast to coast, only equaled by the Grand Army Man, a production by the same author.

A beautiful love story runs through the whole play not of the Dime Novel type but of the kind for which the Author is noted. His plays having been produced successfully for many years to ever increasing audiences.

The Comedy is new and full of wholesome humor for both young and old, with no taint of staleness.

It is true to life, true to nature and true to the hearts of the people, being replete with the many funny happenings of Rural life.
