Dry Valley Doings.

A fine rain today which helped in the vegetation world.

Claus Worth lost a colt last week by its getting tangled in a snare and choking to death. The corn crop prospect was never more promising for a bumper crop than at this writing.

Alex Stone was in the Valley Thursday and Friday setting up a new eight foot Deering binder, sold to Claus Worth.

Harvesting is in full blast. The majority of the wheat was cut last week and the oats cutting will commence the latter part of this week.

Claus Worth's old binder unexpectedly tendered its resignation last Wednesday afternoon necessitating Claus buying a new machine.

We were sorry to hear of Mr. C. K. Bassett's resignation as editor of the REPUBLICAN and regretted very much that we were to lose him. However we welcome Mr. W. M. Dana in to fill the vacancy and shall do all possible to assist the new editor and trust the REPUBLICAN will still hold up its good reputation in the future as in the past.

Now is the time of the year when the eastern buyers will commence to come to buy lands here. Those wishing to sell their farms should list them with J. L. Ferguson. Cory should list for the best system of getting buyers of any one in Custer county. You can see Mr. Ferguson and list your farms with him and be sure of a ready sale.

Our good friend Mr. Geo. H. Kinsey, Republican candidate for state senator is as good a man to fill the senate as could be found in the district. As a business man he has been very successful and at the same time very accomplished and well liked by all his customers. If a man uses good judgment in his business relations, and is accommodating in his dealing with his customers he certainly would use the same tactics in our senate and we therefore trust at the primaries next September he shall be nominated and at the national election next November he shall be elected by an overwhelming majority.

JUNIOR NORMAL WAS A SUCCESS.

SUPERINTENDENT PICKNEY PROUD OF WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

BURKETT AND NORRIS LECTURE

Much Credit is Due H. M. Pickney For His Untiring Efforts in Making the Normal What It Is. Teachers Are More Than Satisfied.

The second session of the State Junior Normal at Broken Bow closed last week, leaving all who had any connection with it well satisfied with the work of the six weeks. At the beginning of the term, a great deal of disappointment was felt because of the absence of Dean Fordyce, who was Superintendent last year, and who has become so well and favorable known in educational circles here by his repeated labors in the County Institute. But whatever dissatisfaction on this account may have been prevalent in the beginning of the term just closed, it was speedily overcome by the masterly efforts of Dr. W. A. Clark, who had been secured to take his place this year. Those present who have had experience in schools of like size and character express themselves in terms of the strongest admiration at the speed with which the Normal was placed on a working basis. Only the first half day was spent in the work of registration and organization. The afternoon and the opening day was a school day of full and genuine school work.

The faculty of the Junior Normal was largely the same as last year, the changes being as follows: Prof. Van Orsdel and Miss Abbott were not here, and Prof. Mills of Ravenna, and Prof. L. Cornett of this place were added.

Miss Burley's work was somewhat different from that of last year, and perhaps a little heavier; but her enthusiasm for her pupils was unchanged, unless possibly intensified. Her instruction in drawing were most noticeably advantageous, and it is safe to say that never in the history of the county have so many good specimens of free-hand drawing been submitted by the teachers in any year. Her work in school methods and devices, while not so immediately of benefit, will certainly prove of inestimable value to the schools of the county in the coming months and years.

Prof. Howe also did a magnificent work for the schools of the county in his presentations of the Course of Study, with practical instructions and illustrations of its proper use. The teachers who took advantage of this opportunity have put themselves into line for the most progressive work, in greater measure than perhaps by any other class offered in the school.

For the more advanced teachers, the instructions in psychology by Dr. Clark, in botany, physics and literature by Prof. McIndoo, in algebra and geometry by Prof. Mills, all were of immense practical benefit. In book keeping and penmanship, the proficiency of Prof. Cornett made the progress more rapid than could possibly have been expected.

Old Settlers Picnic.

The Old Settlers of Custer county will hold their annual picnic in the public park in Broken Bow, Wednesday, August 5th. Nothing is being left undone which will tend to make this the best picnic ever held in the county. Congressman Polard, H. E. O'Neal, Judge W. F. Norris and Ex-Governor Holcombe will be the Speakers. There will be all kinds of sports and prizes. Full particulars next week.

Married.

Barcus and Howard, Sunday July 12 '08, Isaac H. Barcus and Mrs. Howard were united in the Holy bonds of matrimony in this city Judge Humphrey officiating. The bride bride has been a resident of Broken Bow for several years and has proven her true worth and womanly character by her industry and successful manner in which she single handed and alone has maintained her home and provided for four girls.

The groom is one of Custer County's pioneer settlers. He is a man of high Christian character and in every sense of a worthy citizen. The best wishes of the Republican join Mr. and Mrs. Barcus in their martial relations and trust they may enjoy many years of happiness and prosperity together.
