VOL. XXVII

BROKEN BOW, CUSTER COUNTY NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1908.

NO. 21

See the Boy Swallow the Ball

Hold this picture directly before your eyes at the normal reading distance of about 14 inches, draw it slowly toward the face and the boy will swallow the ball "like a little man." People are proved to swallow too much senseless stuff about their eyes and are very often unnecessarily alarmed by the talk of unscrupulous and ignorant practitioners. I am not the only one giving honest conscientious eye and glass service but would be pleased to convince you that I am one.

The Quality Store

Dr. Geo McKewen and wife of Farmington, Missouri, who have been visiting at the home of T. W. Edwards for the past two weeks, returned to their home Tuesday. Dr. McKewen is a nephew of Mrs. Edwards.

An Iowa farmer has just sold his corn crop for $12,390. He should be interviewed by that commission which is discussing plans for the uplift of the farmer.

WOULD GO OUT OF BUSINESS.

IF SAFETY OF DEPOSITS DEPENDED ON BRYAN'S GUARANTEE.

WOULD MAKE DEPOSITS UNSAFE

Bryan's Plans of Linking The Banks of Wall Street, Texas and Florida With Nebraska Banks Would Take Away Safety of Deposits.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

Every effort is being made to blind voters and catch votes in the excitement of the campaign. To illustrate, take guarantee of deposits. I heard a Republican the other day say he was inclined to vote for Bryan as he liked Bryans view on guarantee of deposits. Think of it. Think of the dangerous influence of these catchy features thrown into platforms to catch votes. This man would forget all that his party has stood for and done. He would forget Roosevelt and He would forget the prosperity of the last eight years. He would forget the good prices he has received for his products and the increase in the value of his properties. He would even change administrations, and why? Because for the moment he sees but this one question that Bryan dangles before his eyes. It is positively foolish. Men must think and not be thus easily led away.

This man should stop and see that there are a dozen questions on which he could agree with Taft or Bryan; and then he will realize how foolish it would be to go to either candidate because of one question and that a new one just sprung. What candidate and what party is best for the country is the important thing. Every intelligent voter will decide his vote on that basis and not on any one question or any one plank of anybody's platform.

Guarantee of deposits is not an issue and is being used merely to draw unthinking votes. I am personally in favor of some system guaranteeing deposits and gave an address to that effect before the Nebraska Bankers' Association at Omaha, November 22, '06. A copy of the pamphlet will be mailed you on request. I speak therefore from the stand point of an advocate of guarantee of deposits; but I am not in favor of Bryan's plan and you would not be if you understood it. Bryan's plan would link the banks of Texas, Florida and Wall Street with the banks of Nebraska. If my bank was thus tied up with the banks of distant states and territories you would not risk your deposits in my bank. If the success and safety of my bank depended on the management of banks in remote regions I would for my own safety go out of the banking business and so would every other careful banker in Nebraska. This important question has no place in a political campaign. The problem of guarantee of deposits will be worked out in due time in a careful manner and without politics mixed up in it.

The False Issue.

The success of any party or any candidate is not the real issue in this campaign, and every voter should think over and realize this fact.

The True Issues.

The true issues in this campaign are, first, that the prosperity of the past eight years be continued; second, that the great reform work for better government be ratified and effectively continued.

These are of just as much importance to Democrats, Populists and others as to Republicans. Continuation of this prosperity can be expected, and continuation of the vigorous efforts for purer government will be insured by continuation of the present administration. Are there not many reasons, of self interest and public interests, why voters of all parties should support Sheldon and carry Nebraska for Taft?

ORDERS IF TAFT IS ELECTED.

Traveling Man Says He Has Taken Many Such in The Last Few Weeks.

"Talk to the effect that the traveling men, or any considerable proportion of them, will vote this year for Bryan is tommyrot," declared T. R. Travis, of Kansas City in the Loyal Hotel. "If Bryan gets 20 per cent of the commercial travelers' vote he will do a good deal better than I expect. Practically all the men in our line are Republicans in the first place and believe in the Republican principles. In the second place, all of them know full well that they will get precious few orders if Bryan should win. This is not because Bryan could do any great harm himself, for he could carry none of his wild schemes into effect, because business men are so afraid of him."

"If he, by any miracle, should get in things would shut down absolutely for a year. Everyone would be afraid of his neighbor; would think and think rightly, that Brown and Smith and Jones would be afraid. It is exactly the same principle that causes runs on a bank. Many intelligent depositors are not afraid of the bank which has ample resources, but they are afraid that their fellow depositors will be afraid of them and so they hurry down to go in line."

"I have had many orders lately subject to Taft's election. This was a pure business contract and not designed to influence me. People simply want to be able to swing the goods if Bryan is the victor. This is not politics. It is business.—Omaha Bee.

KINKAID NOT FOR CANNON.

CONGRESSMAN GIVES PLEDGE TO HIS CONSTITUENTS.

UNFAVORABLE TO SPEAKER.

Stands by The People in Their Opposition to Cannon's Obstructing the Progress of Roosevelt Legislation.

Congressman Kinkaid has announced that he will if elected not vote for the re-election of Speaker Cannon. There has been this fall considerable opposition to the idea of electing Cannon to succeed himself in the speaker's chair. This opposition seems to come mainly from the western states where the spirit of progressive Republicanism is the strongest. Cannon as speaker of the last House of Representatives was regarded by western people as a man who was trying to hold down the passage of the Roosevelt legislation and this feeling is responsible for the demands that were made on some of the western candidates for Congress in opposition to him. By placing himself on record as opposed to the re-election of Cannon, Kinkaid has showed that he is in line with this western progressive sentiment and has proved that he stands squarely with the people for the Roosevelt policies.

Entitled to Support.

I have known Mr. Gadd for a good many years and if there is a man who is entitled to the support of the young, that man is N. T. Gadd. Many are the young people both girls and young men whom he has aided both educationally and in other ways in the last ten years that I know of.

Never does he say no to a young man or young woman with a reasonable request and when he renders the service it is freely given.

His advice is always most sane and honest and in accord with high moral principle.

He is a cultured gentleman; a true friend and a forgiving foe; an able lawyer and a strong advocate.

Ohio For Taft by 80,000.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—A straw ballot, taken by Chicago, Cincinnati, New York and St. Louis newspapers, indicates that Taft will carry Ohio by 80,000; Kansas by 40,000; Maryland by 30 ballots, and all the New England states. Bryan will carry Oklahoma by 25,000.

The poll of the southern states indicates that the democrats have slightly reduced the pluralities in many communities.

The biggest returns of the straw vote of any state was in Ohio, but it represents only the cities, exclusive of Cleveland and Toledo.

The claim that Kansas belongs to the doubtful states is called baseless.

The vote in Maryland was taken in all sections and represents all interest. It indicates that the voting will be so close that the real result will probably be unknown until the official ballot, as was the case four years ago.

In New England the test failed to show that Connecticut and Rhode Island are doubtful.—Omaha News.

Kinsey, for state senator, is meeting with unusual success in his canvass over the district.

FREE TRADE SAVED HIS CLIENT.

The Low Price of Horses in 1894 Enabled Lawyer Dunn to Keep a Horse Thief From Going to the Penitentiary

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—The writer in 1894 lived in Iowa where he was then practicing law. A young man had been indicted for grand larceny, being charged with stealing a horse, saddle, bridle and a pair of pants from his employer, the property being alleged of the value of $55.00. The writer was appointed by the Court to defend the prisoner. On the trial of the case the states witnesses as to the value of the property proved themselves not as competent on that question as the defendants, whose testimony as to the value of the horse were men engaged in buying and shipping horses. The witnesses as to the value of saddle, bridle and pants were men who had been in the respective businesses for years. The testimony of these witnesses proved the value of the stolen property to be only $19.50. The jury returned a verdict of guilty of petit larceny and found the value of the property to be $19.50. This saved the young man from going to the penitentiary.

The writer has always given the Democratic free trade administration of that time credit for keeping his client out of the pen, for there has been at no time since 1897 that a horse of the kind stolen then would not readily sell on the horse market from $30.00 to $40.00.

"YOUNGER SET" BY CHAMBERS.

A POPULAR STORY BY AUTHOR OF "THE FIGHTING CHANCE."

STORY STARTS IN THIS ISSUE.

Chambers Describes in Fascinating Love Story the Modern Social Conditions Among the Wealthy Men and Women in New York City.

In this issue the REPUBLICAN begins the publication of a popular story of New York society, entitled "The Younger Set," written by Robert W. Chambers, the author of "The Fighting Chance." The author throughout the story tries to give the readers a knowledge of the social conditions in New York City and to point out to him some of the problems of modern social conditions.

Interwoven with this fine, gripping story of a splendid girl and a real Man—one of the most charming love stories of recent years—are the author's views of some of the problems of Society. Divorce, gambling, marital unhappiness, are here treated as they enter into the lives of men and women possessed of wealth and social position. If the writer seems harsh in his characterization of the older members of the "smart set," he is tender and hopeful in his views of the incoming generation. In the "younger set," according to him, lies certain hope of regeneration of the wealthy and fashionable world. As he sees those who will sit on the thrones of power, their hands are clean, their hearts are pure, their ideas and aspirations are worthy. When they shall take their mature places in Society's ranks, it will acquire a new tone and a better and worthier view of life and its problems and responsibilities than now prevail.

The story is not one of the blood and thunder sort. It is a story which imparts to the reader a knowledge of the evils of the social conditions in New York and at the same time fascinates and holds the interest of the reader.

This captivating love story by the popular author Robert W. Chambers has been secured for publication in the REPUBLICAN at a great expense. The price of the book itself is $1.50. By subscribing for the REPUBLICAN you can get the REPUBLICAN and the story both for $1.00, only two-thirds the price of the story itself. Send in your subscription at once and secure all of the story.
