DR. CALDWELL'S CURE FOR CANCER

Authorative Instances of the Treatment's Curative Results.

Treatment Produces Almost Immediately a Complete Relief From Pain

Cancer as a rule has no respect for person, climate, altitude or position. It is found as often in the large cities of the United States as it is throughout the country. Dr. Caldwell, affording herself of the opportunity by her frequent visits professionally to the different parts of the United States, has had access to a proportionate percentage larger than that of any known physician. Her plan of treatment, beginning some years ago, has extended to now almost all parts of the United States. Doctors in general are willing to admit of her ability and while there are a few in particular who do not like the methods pursued by Dr. Caldwell still they cannot help from admitting that she is a wonderful element in the profession. The one particular complaint laid at the door of Dr. Caldwell's method is that of advertising. The old time school of medical ethics an unwritten law prohibits advertising. Not that the plan of advertising detracts or interferes with any physician's professional ability but is not considered by doctors as a whole as a fair and square deal. In fact in the doctor business, the code of medical ethics and the adhering to that plan of ethics is what we might term a trust, a law or an understanding which binds physicians socially to carry out a certain plan of laws formulated and known to themselves only. Dr. Caldwell has always believed in letting the good things be known.

Diseases of women, which require more ability and skill in their treatment than any other class of diseases are treated with the greatest success by methods original with Dr. Caldwell and 90 per cent of the usual operations are avoided. Operations, as is well known, even the slightest of them, are attended with danger, and when a system of treatment is so effected as to render a cure possible without operating it is certainly one to be considered. Dr. Caldwell's system of treatment means natural medication, it means no poisons given, it means no diseases produced or injury done, it means a most successful system of medicine known all as a result of her experience in her large continued practice. Years of the largest and most successful practice in the northwest is evidence of the superiority of her ability and integrity. Dr. Caldwell furnishes her own medicine. Her laboratory is known to contain the largest assortment of pure medicines of any laboratory to be found throughout the United States. She is directly interested in each patient, therefore when she treats them and the medicines are prepared directly under her supervision she knows that the patients are getting just what she intended them to have.

We publish below some recent cures:
Mrs. John Wibbles, Wolbach, Nebr., cured female, nervous and kidney disease. Had been given up by a number of doctors and told that she must be operated on. Today is sound and well.
Mrs. Frank Henderson, of Spaulding Nebr., cured of heart disease, female, liver and kidney disease. Had suffered for many years.
Mrs. S. E. Hanley, Kearney, Nebr., cured of a complication of many diseases. Had been to many doctors previously.
Frank Colton, Oakda'e, Nebr., says: "I was an invalid for eleven years from stomach and heart disease. I had been given up as incurable by five doctors, and concluded to give Dr. Caldwell a trial. After three months treatment I was almost well; I continued it two more months and from that day to this which is seven years, I have been a well man."
Mable Swanson, Greeley Center, Nebr., cured of long standing nervous disease. Dr. Caldwell will make her next visit:

ALLOTMENTS FOR GRAZING.

STOCKMEN MAKE EQUITABLE ARRANGEMENTS FOR 1909.

ON THE NATIONAL FORESTS.

The Old Encounters Between The Stockmen Fighting For Range Are Now Lacking And an Equity is Given by The Forest Service.

Washington Nov. 28. No more forcible demonstration of the value of range control now existing with the National Forests of the United States can be found than that afforded by the meeting of the Advisory Board of the Carbon County Wool Growers association which was held at Rawlins, Wyoming, October 29, to arrange for the grazing of sheep upon the Hayden National Forest during the season of 1909. The Hayden Forest is situated in southern Wyoming, a part of it extending into Colorado, and has been one of the important summer ranges of the west, its open parks and ridges among the timber being of particular value for the grazing of livestock.

In past years before the land of the Hayden Forest was placed under administration, numerous conflicts took place between the opposing livestock interests. The sheepmen found that these summer ranges were essential to the welfare of their business, and brought in their sheep in constantly increasing numbers. The cattlemen who had previously occupied the country viewed these advances of the sheep with disfavor and alarm, and range wars of the most serious character, not only threatened but occurred. The rivalry among the sheep owners themselves was also keen, there were long hard races for the choicest ranges, resulting in heavy losses of sheep and in still further clashes.

Under the administration of the Forest Service conditions have been changed for the better. There are no encounters between the two interests, as both sheep and cattle owners know that they will be protected in the use of the range in which they have an equity and there is no further necessity for a sheep owner to go on to his summer range before it is ready for use, against his best judgment, in order to hold it against some other sheep man.

In 1906, the woolgrowers of Carbon county, Wyoming who were users of the Hayden National Forest secured official recognition from the Forest Service in accordance with the regulations and in the spring of 1907 the Advisory Board of their Association, working in co-operation with the Supervisor of the National Forest and other Forest Service officials settled some very important questions of range division, allowances, and grazing periods during that year.

This year, the services of the Board were again requested by the Supervisor. It was pointed out that the ranges within the Forest were carrying a greater number of stock than they should with due regard to all interests represented, that a reduction in the number allowed was necessary, and that an equitable method of reduction should be established. The meeting of the Board at Rawlins, was the result. There, the various matters were taken up and discussed, the amount of the reduction was decided upon, a satisfactory sliding scale to be followed in making the reduction in each individual was established; the grazing periods were changed to conform to the needs of the stock owners while giving attention to the proper protection of the Forest interests; changes in sheep driveways or trails were taken up and approved, and the short meeting resulted in a harmonious agreement whereby the stock-owners received all consideration requested by them, while the Forest interests were fully protected.

Under the old regime such an agreement would have been impossible, for each stockman would have been prompted by his desire for individual gain rather than a wish to promote the general welfare of his industry, and his range. The number of stock allowed on the Hayden Forest for the season of 1909 is 6,000 head of cattle and horses, and 240,000 head of sheep.

I have now arranged to take care of a general collection business, having secured a competent clerk and stenographer, and all collections will receive prompt and energetic attention.
