Have You Worn Your "Rut" So Deep And Wide That You Can Live In It?

To the merchant who is destined to build a big store success, the question—"Can I afford to advertise aggressively?"—never occurs—unless it occurs as a mere absurdity.

The merchant who is absorbed in his store-making task will FIND WAYS TO "AFFORD" more and more advertising—and his very enthusiasm will breathe life into his ads.,—and will make them mirror his store as it is, and as it SHALL BE.

"The Palterers who ask for certainty" will always fail as merchants. They will stay in ruts until they wear these ruts deeper and wider—and until those same ruts will seem almost like little worlds, and fit to live in.

The awake merchant will make his advertising blazon the path for his store—a new path and leading to a new success.

Announcement Next Week

Willis Cadwell
Broken Bow, - - Nebraska

Zumbrot Zephyrs.

Miss Mabel Tappan was absent from school all last week, treating a troublesome sore throat.

W. W. Bishop's Sundayed with M. D. Colleen's.

Miss Loy Ream of Ormsby was the guest of Olive Cole Saturday night and Sunday.

B. B. Sands entertained Oscar Tappan and family last Sunday.

The young people spent a very pleasant time last Friday evening at Mr. M. D. Stone's. The occasion was in honor of his sister, Miss Carpenter, of Iowa. The time passed swiftly by in playing a number of various games. Refreshments were served at midnight and all departed for their homes, feeling that every one had an enjoyable evening.

There are quite a few young chickens in the neighborhood. Mesdames Tappan, Routh and Callen's incubators have made known their results, which seems very satisfactory to all concerned.

Mr. Peden put some cattle in his pasture last Monday.

M. Edwards is doing some building on his farm in the valley.

Mr. Healey of New York is working for Ralph Johnson and expects to remain the entire season.

Mr. Allen has accepted employment on J. G. Brenizer's ranch for the ensuing year.

E. B. Barber has a new plow, called "Good Enough."

Mr. W. R. Jackson has sold his farm to Mr. Lomax of the Bow. Mr. Jackson will remain there this year.

Mr. Small, Frank Routh and W. R. Jackson, purchased seed oats of J. L. Koozer, this week.

Miss Madge Bishop gave an "Easter Hunting Party" last Saturday between the hours of 2 and 6 p. m. Previous to the occasion, sixty eggs had been colored in various shades and hidden about the yard. There were several prizes to compete for. One finding the most eggs were given a pretty cup and saucer. Miss

Olive Cole and Miss Leona Heaps both found the same number. They were obliged to have an "egg rolling" to see which deserved the prize. Miss Heaps came out victorious in this, and won the cup and saucer. The table was decorated very pretty; some little nests with eggs, and the centre piece was a large nest filled with the eggs that had ribbons attached leading to each place card. The place cards were daintily made with the name written in gilt and little chickens and rabbits helped to give the finishing touch of same. There were two eggs in the center piece that were filled with candy. Those fortunate to draw these won prizes. The prizes were drawn by Almira McComas and Maud Callen. Lela Koozer and Ethel Bass won the booby prizes of little brown rabbits for finding one egg each during the hunt. The refreshments consisted of sandwiches, pickles, devilled eggs, potato and fruit salad, with four different kinds of cake. Those present from town were Ethel Bass, Mary Eastman, Helen Reneau, Florence Mauk and Clara Taylor. Loy Ream of Ormsby, Leona Heaps of Snake Run; and those from Tappan Valley, Olive Cole, Mable Tappan, Belle and Vera Sands, Adeline and Harriet Johnson, Almira McComas, Maud Callen and Lela Koozer. It is needless to say that the girls report a good time.

Mrs. Carpenter and daughter Cora, expect to leave Friday the 9th, for their home in Iowa.

Harriet Johnson had the la-grippe last week which kept her from school a few days.
