REPRESENTATIVE PAYNE ON TARIFF

Representative Payne of New York: "I will make no promises, Mr. Chairman, because I am anxious to get at the consideration of this bill and pass it through the House. The country is waiting for the action of Congress. Trade is waiting. The wheels of industry are silent until the action of Congress upon this bill. The business interests of this country and the business interests throughout the world are waiting for the action of this Congress. I want the bill passed at the first possible moment, and I believe that when it is passed and signed by the President of the United States it will accomplish the purpose which was designed in framing it."

"I believe it will open the ports of other countries. I believe it will give better trade relations the world over. I believe it will not stop the labor of a single hand. I believe it will start up industries throughout the United States. I believe that labor will be fully employed. I believe that good and blessing to the people of the United States will come from the passing of this bill, and my ambition and hope is that at the earliest possible moment the bill will go through the House and to the Senate, on its way to become a law." [Loud and long-continued applause on the Republican side]

LINCOLN BASEBALL CLUB—SEASONS DOPE

The exhibition season of the Lincoln baseball club promises to be the best this year in the history of the club. Some of the more important games are as follows: April 8th, Chicago White Sox; April 9th, and 10th, Minneapolis; April 19th and 20th, Omaha; April 23rd and 24th, Nebraska Indians.

In outfielder Neixell, whom Manager Fox picked up in Minnesota this winter, the baseball team has one of the most promising youngsters ever seen in uniform in Nebraska. President Green traded for Waldron of Denver, late in the winter, else Neixell would easily win a regular place on the Lincoln team this year. As it is, he will probably be placed with a team in the Three-I league for a season's experience and brought back to Lincoln next season.

George Huff, the famous coach of the University of Illinois baseball team for so many years, recommended to the Lincoln baseball team this spring one of his catchers by the name of Hason. Hason has arrived in Lincoln and has been setting the town afire by his backstopping, hitting and throwing. He is almost sure to remain a regular on the team this season.

Frank Jude, the little Chippewa Indian outfielder of the Lincoln team, has reported to Manager Fox, and is looking better than ever. President Green has two Indians on the Lincoln team, both of whom are stars. They are outfielder Jude and pitcher Johnson.

In answer to the question of "what are the best towns in Nebraska?" the Lincoln Daily Star unhesitatingly declares they are those towns whose newspapers carry the largest amount of advertising. It never fails to show up that way, and you can safely count upon any locality whose merchants are sufficiently wide-awake to advertise and to advertise right.—Miller Forum.

Carl Jeffords who is a Senior this year at the State University came up from Lincoln last Thursday, to spend the Easter vacation with his parents.

Last week Ed McComas received compensation from the Burlington R. R. Co., for the damage of his Auto by a switching car, last Oct. 16.

THE ELEVATED HANDSHAKE.

How it Originated as a Fashion—Empress Josephine's Lace Handkerchiefs.

It appears that some of the present-day fashions owe their origin to physical defects. The elevated handshake is one of these, and a Paris contemporary throws an interesting light upon its origin. It appears that a prince, a leader of society in the French capital, had a carbuncle or some such inconvenient and painful growth on his shoulder. Whenever a friend gave him a handshake the operation as far as the prince was concerned was most painful. To prevent this he raised his hand horizontally to his shoulder, and, if we may use the expression, had "the whip hand."

This new method of handshake was the astonishment and admiration of certain persons always on the lookout for the latest in society, who thought that the prince had inaugurated a new fashion which one sees daily in operation in the Strand.

The dainty lace handkerchief which ladies use owes its origin also to the defects of nature. The unhappy Empress Josephine introduced the fashion. She suffered from bad teeth, and living in the time when American dentistry was unknown, she cast about her for some means to hide the defect. The cambric handkerchief with rich lace was the outcome. If the empress wished to laugh or had to open her mouth widely the handkerchief was requisitioned.

Again, yellow lace has its origin in sadness, according to tradition. A lady of distinction had lost her husband by shipwreck or some other cause. She was impressed with the idea that he would return and vowed to continue wearing until he was restored to her the lace which adorned her dress when she said farewell. Like Josephine's handkerchief, her intimates thought her soiled lace was an innovation in fashion and adopted means to copy it.

EGYPTIAN GOLD MINING.

An Egyptian mining center—probably worked as early as 2500 B. C.—was in the eastern desert, between the Red sea and the Nile. The lately discovered remains described by C. J. Alford include small irregular stone huts, arranged in groups of two or three, to towns large enough for 1,000 men. The ancient workings are buried in sand. The only vestiges of mining appliances are elliptical rubbing stones for coarse crushing and quartz mills for reducing the rock to fine powder, ready for washing out the gold.

TOO TAME FOR HIM.

Missionary—See here, young man, why don't I see you in Sunday school any more?
 Kid—Aw, go on! Dey ain't even got de life of Jesse James in de library.

TOLERANCE.

We must vindicate the right of each man to do what he likes, and to say what he thinks, to an extent much greater than is usually supposed to be either safe or decent. This we must do for the sake of society, quite as much as for our own sake. That society would be benefited by a greater freedom of action has already been shown, and the same thing may be proved concerning freedom of speech, and of writing.—Thomas Henry Buckie.

WORTHY OF HIS METAL.

"I fear no foe in shining armour," sang the man at a concert.
 "Don't you, old chap?" grumbled the bachelor in the front row. "Then you try to open a sardine box with a pocket-knife."—Penny Illustrated.

CARELESS CONVERSATIONALISTS

"What caused that awkward break in the conversation?"
 "Some one dropped the subject."
