

Only an ad-reader can wisely manage
HOUSEHOLD FINANCES

The Ads make "management" of "money matters" in the home POSSIBLE. The wife who always studies the ads is working in business partnership with the husband—who, supposedly, has to "know things" in order to EARN the money. On her part, the wife comes to know values, and prices, and where and when and how to buy—and such knowledge, such education comes chiefly through reading and answering ads.

"Household prosperity" is assured if the wife makes ad-reading a part of her daily routine.

Destroys Hair Germs

Recent discoveries have shown that falling hair is caused by germs at the roots of the hair. Therefore, to stop falling hair, you must first completely destroy these germs. Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly do this. Then leave the rest to nature.
Does not change the color of the hair.

Recent discoveries have also proved that dandruff is caused by germs on the scalp. Therefore, to cure dandruff, the first thing to do is to completely destroy these dandruff germs. Here, the same Ayer's Hair Vigor will give the same splendid results.

Closing Week at Trinity College.

many class reunions alumni mass meeting, luncheons and teas during the week.

Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock occurred the 83d commencement in alumni hall. A large orchestra was stationed in a room at the rear of the hall and gave all the musical numbers.

Dr. Luther, the faculty and graduates, wore cap and gown. The four honor men delivered orations. Mr. Chandler won a $75 prize for the best material, as well as the best delivered oration on "The Crime of the Tariff." The class received their degrees of B. A., B. S. and B. L. Honorary degrees were conferred on two professors and two clergymen and was quite an interesting ceremony. All the speeches connected with it were in Latin, but then that only added to the ceremony a greater interest similar to a certain southern campaign story I read about the other day. The Republican candidate inter-larded his speech with many Latin phrases and the audience was delighted with his depth of learning. Later when the democratic nominee appeared before pretty much the same audience and was about to take his seat, after a brilliant peroration, when the chairman noticing the disappointment visible on the faces of the audience said to him, "be quick, make a few Latin remarks or your chances of winning are at zero," so he at once turned to the audience and with a magnificent gesture said, "E pluribus unum! Sic semper tyrannis! Teni, vidi vici!" and this little spurt of the only Latin he remembered actually brought him victory.

That evening at six I entertained a few of the boys at dinner at our boarding house. We then took a ten-mile trolley ride to Farmington. We passed Mark Twain's pretty home and wondered what he will do now since the death of his friend, Rodgers, who untangled his financial affairs and came to his rescue in more ways than one. Hartford is such a wealthy and beautiful city and has such large palatial homes and so many of them, surrounded by extensive grounds in perfect order, snow-balls, mock orange bloom and roses, roses everywhere, a perfect riot of bloom, such as I have never before seen anywhere and the roads are as smooth as a floor and are the autoists paradise. I promised myself then that if my ship, which has been tossing about on the high seas lo, these many years, ever reaches port, I will make a tour of the New England states in a big white steamer car. At Farmington we took in the very select young ladies' finishing school, as the place of most importance. The environment is all that could be desired.

California is not the only state that produces immense patriarchal trees. They have them in abundance in Connecticut, in fact, in all the New England states, I am told.

The capitol grounds in Hartford once belonged to Trinity college and we were located only two blocks away—from our porch we had a fine view of the capitol which stands on rising ground, with a small river flowing at the foot of the grounds. There are quite a few parks throughout the city and a very pretty summer resort, called Luna Park.

Trinity college stands on an elevation fifty feet above the city. From the rear there is a magnificent view of the broad valley over which the sun cast its shining light, with here and there dark cool looking spaces of shadow, and presents a pastoral scene worthy of the brush of a famous artist.

Early Thursday morning we left Hartford for New York.
