Poverty and Consumption.

That poverty is a friend to consumption is demonstrated by some recent German statistics, which show that of 10,000 well-to-do persons 40 annually die of consumption; of the same number only moderately well-to-do, 66; of the same number really poor, 77; and of paupers, 97. According to John Burns, the famous English labor leader, 90 per cent. of the consumptives in London receive charitable relief in their homes.

Secret of Happiness.

I have lived to know that the great secret of human happiness is this: Never suffer your energies to stagnate. The old adage of "too many irons in the fire" conveys an untruth—you cannot have too many—poker, tongs and all—keep them going.—Adam Clark.

NEWSY NOTES FROM NEW YORK

Edison Amazed by Electrical Display

ous fluid, or fire, or whatever it may be called goes."

"Then do you not yet know, Mr. Edison, what electricity is?"

The wizard's face assumed a tense expression.

"If only I or anybody else knew what it was we might do something really worth while," he said. "We know some of the things of its manifestation. But the best informed of us really know very little of its power, of its mystery, of its awe. However, it will not be long now until somebody discovers the means by which to conserve the huge mass of it that at present goes to waste."

"There are thirty or forty thousand earnest men all over the world working diligently on this and the myriad other problems that are balking the development of the science. I would not be surprised any day to learn that one of this great host of workers had solved the riddle of waste."

"When it comes it will appear a simple little thing. Maybe in bulk it will work wonders. It will reduce the cost so materially that our cities will be more brilliantly lighted everywhere, and the cost to private consumers will be more than cut in two. I hope that may come about soon. We must devise some means of conservation of the tremendous, almost incalculable energy that daily goes to waste through our present ignorance and the inefficiency of our machinery."

NEW YORK.—The $1,000,000 electrical display on the Hudson river in connection with the Hudson-Fulton fête brought forth some interesting comments from Thomas A. Edison, who stands at the head of the list among American "electrical wizards."

"It was wonderful! It was wonderful!" he exclaimed. "It far surpassed my expectations."

Mr. Edison was reminded by his caller that but for his discoveries and development in electricity the display would have been impossible.

"You have put the case too strongly," he responded, "and this is no expression of modesty on my part, either. If I hadn't done what I have done, somebody else would have done it."

"I judged that the first night's display on the Hudson took about 100,000 horse power of electricity. When you reflect that we now are able to utilize only about three per cent. of the efficiency of electricity after we have it harnessed, and that 97 per cent. utterly goes to waste, you will get some idea of how far a little of the myster-

City Teeters on Ledge of Tilting Rock

Under the old Times building, at Park row and Spruce street, the ledge is 100 feet below the surface. It lies at the greatest depth yet found—150 feet—under the southeast corner of the Tribune building, at Nassau and Spruce streets. Under the Waldorf-Astoria hotel the ledge comes to the surface.

The rocky ledge is hardest over on the east side of the city, and gets more chalky and crumbly toward the Hudson river. The rock also grows softer, in all the borings, as the depth increases. In one or two cases the bores have reached cavities in the ledge at a depth of 200 feet, which were from 12 to 15 feet deep. They are supposed to be old rain holes, before the glacial epoch.

The deepest holes made have been under the Carroll building, on West street. Under the Trinity and Boreel buildings 29 borings were made, averaging about 300 feet. From one of these the largest solid core of rock ever excavated was recently taken from a depth of nearly three hundred feet. The core was 22 feet long and 16 inches in diameter, and weighed 2,750 pounds. The rock was a gray freestone.

SOME curious facts about the rocky ledge, on the shelving slope of which lower New York, with its millions of tons of skyscrapers, teeters, have been revealed by the engineers who have been boring hundreds of feet below the surface in connection with the plunger elevators in the big office buildings. The center shafts in these elevators go as deep into the ground as the shaft itself is high. The plunger shaft in a building 400 feet high, for instance, must have a hole dug for it 400 feet deep, into which it can sink every time the elevator goes down into the basement.

At Rector and Church streets, under the United States Express Company building, the rock ledge is 40 feet below the surface. Just a few hundred feet to the northward this rocky ledge is 60 feet down under the ground.

Family Evictors Organize an Odd Club

They got only as far as deciding that hereafter the price for evicting a family from a cellar or a first floor flat shall be 50 cents for each room, and for every job above the street floor one dollar for each room.

Fred Kelly, who has been evicting for twenty years or more, was elected president, and Jim Brown was made secretary. Next the sign "Dispossess Club" was hung above the cellar door, and the members swarmed gleefully back down the steps into the hole to await the first job at the new scale of prices.

Penelope decks were produced and then the new organization was fairly under way. The room will get chairs and tables wherever the members run across bargains in sidewalk collections of furniture. Meantime a pile of fresh straw on the cellar floor makes furnishing that is luxurious enough for the latest addition to New York's long list of clubs.

WITH all proper respect for the necessary and noble are of evicting the poor, it must be said that the members of the new Dispossess club in their black hole of a cellar at 262 Madison street, New York City, suggested a lot of rats awaiting the merry marshal's signal to spring on the next family.

But that unpleasant impression was due to the fact that the 60 professional evictors had just organized to raise the scale of prices for throwing a family's furniture out on the sidewalk and had not had time to fix up their new quarters.

Batonyi to Score Enemies in His Novel

concern many persons whose names have been mentioned in the romantic career of Mrs. Aurel Batonyi, even as far back as her marriage many years ago with a brother of the Baron Permy.

The title of the novel will be "St. Urgis."

It is to be dedicated "to Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Witt."

Some idea as to the intention of the author may be grasped by the transparency of the disguise in the name and dedication of the book.

"St. Urgis," with the elimination of period and capital "U," spells "Sturgis," and the same process of elimination and change from upper to lower case letters in the names of "Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Witt" reveals "Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt."

The christening and dedicating of the book has been done, apparently, with sarcastic intent by the author, as the circumstances recall that one of the numerous suits composing the complicated mixture of legal affairs involving Mr. and Mrs. Batonyi was one by him against Frank K. Sturgis and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, the latter being Mrs. Batonyi's sister, for alienating the affections of his wife. In his suit Frank Work was also named, and the aggrieved husband claimed $1,500,000 damages.

THE sensations that have thus far marked the romance of Mrs. Fanny Work-Burke-Roche-Batonyi, the daughter of Frank Work, the venerable financier, and Aurel Batonyi, the well-known horse fancier of New York city and Newport, and former proprietor of the road coach "Good Times," are by no means at an end.

Two important chapters are to be added to the many that have piled up in the last three years. One of the chapters is to be made up of the reopening of the suit for divorce by Mrs. Burke-Roche-Batonyi against her husband, and the other is to mark the debut of Mr. Batonyi in the realm of literature.

Although little is known about Mr. Batonyi's novel aside from its name, its dedication and its motto, telling in a vague way what the aim of the author was in writing the book, it will be highly interesting, inasmuch as its characters and incidents, it is asserted, are drawn from real life and will

This $1000<sup>00</sup> Cup for an ear of Corn

Made by Tiffany. Nearly 3 ft. high—in solid gold and silver. Actual contract price $1,000. To be awarded at the National Corn Exposition, Omaha December 6 to 18, 1909 to the man, woman or child producing the best ear of corn grown this year in the United States.

Open to everybody belonging to the Association—Nothing to buy or sell.

The purpose of the donor of this trophy—W. K. Kellogg—is to improve the quality of the millions of bushels of corn used in making Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes.

Many people think the perfection of corn flavor has been reached in Toasted Corn Flakes. Perhaps it has. If you don't know how good Kellogg's—the genuine Toasted Corn Flakes—is, try it. Then you'll see how hard a task we are giving ourselves to improve it, and the only way we can improve it is by the betterment of the corn itself.

Professor Holden, of the Iowa State College, the greatest authority on corn in the world, will award the prize at the National Corn Exposition, to be held at Omaha, Neb., Dec. 6th to 18th, 1909. Two simple rules will govern the plan, and they are—that you send your best ear of corn to the National Corn Exposition, Omaha, Neb., before November 27, 1909, and that you are a member of the National Corn Association—full particulars regarding which can be had by writing to National Corn Exposition, Omaha, Neb. Tie a tag securely to your specimen and word it, "For the Kellogg Trophy Contest," and write your name and address plainly. If yours is judged the best, you will get the trophy for 1910. If you succeed again next year or the year following, the trophy will become your property for all time.

The contest will be open to every state in the Union. Professor Holden will judge the corn particularly on the basis of quality. The growing of more corn per acre is one object of the award, but the main purpose of the founder of the trophy is for improving the quality of corn used in making KELLOGG'S TOASTED CORN FLAKES. If you haven't tried this delicious cereal, begin your education in "good things to eat" today. All grocers have it.

TOTAL LOSS OF HAIR.

Seemed Imminent—Scalp Was Very Scaly and Hair Came Out by Handfuls—Scalp Now Clear and

New Hair Grown by Cuticura.

"About two years ago I was troubled with my head being scaly. Shortly after that I had an attack of typhoid fever and I was out of the hospital possibly two months when I first noticed the loss of hair, my scalp being still scaly. I started to use dandruff cures to no effect whatever. I had actually lost hope of saving any hair at all. I could brush it off my coat by the handful. I was afraid to comb it. But after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and nearly a box of Cuticura Ointment, the change was surprising. My scalp is now clear and healthy as could be and my hair thicker than ever, whereas I had my mind made up to be bald. W. F. Steese, 5812 Broad St., Pittsburg, Penn., May 7 and 21, 1908."
