Our readers are requested to look over the full program, which will be found replete with many good things during the two days session of this mammoth gathering.

Complaint Dismissed

Roy Perry, a young man living six miles northeast of Anselmo, was on trial in county court yesterday on complaint of the county attorney, the allegation being that he willfully set out a prairie fire which did considerable damage to neighboring property. The complaint was drawn under the criminal code, and the judge held the evidence not sufficient to hold defendant and discharged him. A number of witnesses were present from the neighborhood where the fire occurred both for complainant and defendant.

At the annual meeting of the Gold Medal Mining Co. the following men were elected directors for the ensuing year: R. T. Walker and C. H. Kammon, of Hill City, S. D., S. J. Lonergan and G. F. Bartholmew, Broken Bow, W. W. Dye and W. F. Dunbar, of Comstock, and Frank Woodard, of Aurora. The board has not yet organized but will at the first meeting which will be the first Monday in December. The stockholders have good reason to feel proud of their property as it has paid its own way this summer and there have been about $6,000 worth of development work done and about $2,000 put in new machinery. Out of about three weeks run with five stamps they have cleaned up $5,704.65 which is better than $20.00 per ton for the ore run.

A gasoline stove exploded at the laundry Tuesday about one o'clock causing a small fire and a big excitement. A quick response on the part of the fire boys, who had water flying on the fire within ten minutes of the first clang of the fire bell, probably prevented a disastrous fire, as the wind was blowing strongly at the time. The damage to the building was light, and aside from the inconvenience it occasioned in getting out the work, Laundryman Thomas is to be congratulated.

M. F. Young, of Lincoln, came up yesterday evening on a visit with old acquaintances. Uncle Milo says city life is not the best and it does him good to get out in the rural districts where he can breathe the pure air. He will go up to Hyannis while here to visit friends on the ranches where the experiences of his younger days still prevail in reality. For a man eighty-two years old he is enjoying splendid health.

Dr. Blanchard, a graduate osteopath with considerable experience in the practice of his profession has located in Broken Bow and will be found in his office over Todd's millinery store. The doctor's attention was called to this city by a request that he come and look the field over. He came and was so favorably impressed with it that he has become one of us.

It is hardly necessary to call your attention to Ryerson Bros' Piano Sale adv. in this issue. Read it and go and see their instruments and get acquainted with their way of doing business.

Maud Runyan of Lincott, was in the city yesterday to file on a homestead which she had recently contested.

Ed Runyon, of Halsey, was transacting business in the city yesterday.

H. B. Andrews and daughter, Miss Mary, of Anselmo, were city visitors yesterday.

Dr. Blanchard, the Osteopath, has rented office rooms over Todd's millinery store.

Bound Over to District Court

The preliminary hearing in the case of The State of Nebraska vs Roy Parker, charged with wilfully and maliciously shooting Ralph Bihop, was held in county court, and defendant was bound over to district court under $1,000 bonds which he gave.
