

THE LOCAL NEWS OF THE WEEK

Gleaned for Your Perusal by Our Rustling Reporters

Next Thursday is Turkey Day. George Palmer was a Grand Island visitor Sunday.

O. H. Conrad went to Kansas City Monday on business.

Thos. A. Wells, of Missouri, was a Broken Bow visitor Tuesday.

This snow ought to be good for at least one jack rabbit hunt.

Mrs. J. G. Swope, of Dunning, was a Broken Bow visitor Tuesday.

Look out for new rugs of all description at Konkels' about Dec. 1st.

Sidney Parkinson, of Lakeside, visited friends here the first of the week.

The snow rather shortened our grist of news, but it is great for fall wheat and alfalfa.

Thanksgiving vacation in the public schools will cover Thursday and Friday next week.

J. N. Weith, from near Ansley, was in town today transacting business and talking democracy.

Mrs. W. W. Pierce, of Seward, who had been visiting her son near Georgetown, came in today to take the train for her home.

Cattle sold in South Omaha yesterday at $6 to $6.50, with the common class around $5 to $5.50. Hogs brought $7.90 to $7.95 with the top at $8.

Holiday shoppers are already making purchases. Mr. Merchant, don't be late with your adv. if you want to catch your share of the trade.

Farmer's couldn't shuck corn this week, so a large number of them came to town to trade, meet neighbors and talk about the cornstalk disease.

Charles Cleun, J. E. Albrecht and Otto Schmidt, of Gandy, were here Tuesday and Wednesday defending a contest case against Mr. Schmidt.

After several days of stormy weather, today brings us to a realization that we are still in Nebraska. Its shirt sleeve weather outdoors today.

R. Tidyman, of Beaver Crossing, who has been building a house for Noah Davolt on Ansley way, came to town yesterday and left for home this morning.

Garland E. Lewis, county superintendent-elect, came down from his homestead in the northwest part of the county this morning. He reports the snow from 14 to 16 inches deep.

The snow fall measured from 14 to 23 inches in this county. In this city it fell to a depth of 16 inches. Many of the roads leading to town are broken today and everything in the nature of a sled is doing day and night service.

Dr. J. R. McKirahan, of Grand Island, was called in consultation with Dr. Sheridan Wednesday morning in the case of Press Richardson. Mr. Richardson is improving slowly and his many friends will be glad to note that the physicians are hopeful of his ultimate recovery.

Claude Horton returned the first of the week from Valentine where he went to file on a Kincaid homestead. He purchased a relinquishment in town 27, range 29, with small frame house, sod barn and well for $500. He informs us that 150 acres of the land is fine hay land in the river bottom.

The newspapers build your town; why not help build up the newspapers? There is no better advertisement in the world than a good newspaper. A newspaper is the barometer of the town's industry. Show us a good newspaper, full of advertising and we will show you a good town, full of live merchants.—Barker (N. Y.) Register.

Miss Eva Cadwell was a Grand Island visitor Monday.

The corn stalk disease is prevalent in all parts of the county.

W. H. Lewis, of Anselmo, was a Broken Bow visitor Tuesday night.

Of course you did not expect the snow, but make the best of it. You can shuck corn next week.

The H. T. Bruce Lumber Co. are building several large sheds at their yards for the housing of their lumber.

Hastings must be getting to be a mighty slow town. A coyote was killed in the streets of that city this week.

The Nebraska City vinegar works closed down this week after using over 60,000 bushels of Nebraska grown apples.

Come to this office for your sale bills. We will not only do you a good job, but guarantee the weather. This is no joke.

Attention is called to the adv. of F. J. Bahr in this issue. Mr. Bahr is the gentleman who recently purchased the West Elevator of Ras Anderson. He has moved his family to this city and expects to make Broken Bow his home.

Owing to the lateness of the train, Houstons were unable to arrive here in time for their entertainment Tuesday evening. Parties holding tickets for this entertainment can have their money refunded by calling on Prof. Cornett at the college.

Butter and eggs are high. A chicken costs as much as a hog did fifteen years ago. Flour is up and beef and pork are at the top. Good enough! Let the "consumer" rave and sweat. York county people are producers Nebraska people are producers and the people of the United States are producers, far more than consumers. When prices hit the top we all ride in automobiles and take a trip on the varnished cars as often as we like.—York Times.

W. H. Carson, the old time proprietor of the Gibbon Reporter, has become associated with the Broken Bow Republican as assistant editor and business manager. After leaving Buffalo county he ran a paper at Syracuse, Neb., and from there went to Sutton and published the News. Mr. Carson is a capable newspaper man and will prove to be a valuable acquisition for the Broken Bow paper.—Kearney Hub.

Friends of W. H. Carson, former editor of this paper, will be pleased to learn from an article in another column, that he has secured the position of associate editor of the Custer County Republican, a paper printed at Broken Bow. Mr. Carson can make good in any newspaper position and we wish him well.—Sycamore Journal.

Right Kind of Advertising. If advertising newspaper space for sale brings good returns the prudent business man cannot dodge the conclusion that the conspicuous placing of his commodity before the public eye will attract trade.

Not the least important phase of advertising is the information which the columns contain. The best rounded men and women, the practical housewife and the best shoppers always rely on what a merchant or manufacturer has to say about his article of sale or production. It always gives poise to a person or corporation to put a claim on paper and hence the value of an ad. It is more than talk—it is a written bulletin fresh from the store or factory.—Cashion (Okla.) Independent.

We are having the worst snow storm we have had for years. It is eighteen inches deep on the level and still snowing.

The Official Figures. The official figures of the vote cast at the recent Nebraska election are now at hand for analysis.

The total vote in round figures is 207,500. The highest vote polled by any candidate is 104,188 for one of the regents on the republican ticket, who is therefore elected by a clear majority. The total vote for the six judges foots up 188,561, making a shortage of 24,000. The total vote for judges is less than the vote for regent to fill vacancy which was much further down on the ticket, and which sums 188,450. The tremendous shortage of the vote for judges as compared with the total number of ballots cast is due to the fact that there were three candidates running on each ticket and thousands of voters recorded themselves for only one candidate, or two candidates and threw away part of their franchise.

The vote on supreme judges shows that all three candidates ran remarkably close together. The high man on the republican ticket is 2,394 ahead of the high man on the democratic ticket and 2,616 ahead of the low man on the democratic ticket. The average republican majority for judge is therefore about 2,000. It is interesting to note that while the low man on the republican ticket won out by 1,273, his majority in Douglas county was 1,591, and without Douglas county his majority would have been wiped out.

On the part of the ticket devoted to regents it is difficult to make accurate deductions because the fusion between the democrats and populists included only the one candidate for the short term vacancy. The republican regent for the short term wins by 12,912, and the two republican candidates for long term each win out over the combined vote of the democratic and populist candidates running separately. The candidates running as a democrat alone received 71,438 votes and the candidate running as populist alone 24,891, making their combined vote 96,329. This is not a fair way to combine the two, however, because no doubt a considerable number of democrats and populists voted for both candidates. It is a fair inference that the populist contribution to the fusion combination is still upward of 15,000, and it is likewise plain that these votes would not have been cast for the democratic candidates except for their fraudulent masquerade in the populist garb.—Bee.
