A Moral.

A duck which stuck faithfully to business during the summer and laid several dozens of large fawn-colored eggs complained that she wasn't appreciated. "See that hen over there," said the duck; "she hasn't laid as many eggs as I nor as big, but she has books written about her and verses composed in her honor, while nobody is saying a word about me."

"The trouble with you is," said the wise old rooster that was standing near, "that you don't tell the public what you have done. You lay an egg and waddle off without saying a word, but that sister of mine never lays one without letting every one in the neighborhood know about it. If you want to cut any ice in this community you must learn to advertise."—Exchange.

Mrs. Frank Reeder, of Seneca, who has been suffering from an ulcerated stomach for over a year was taken to Omaha last Friday, by her husband, where it is hoped, a surgical operation will benefit her.

Died.

At her residence in the north part of the city, Monday, December 6, Mrs. Sarah Dent, aged 47 years, 10 months and 12 days.

The deceased was born in Ohio on January 24, 1862. In her childhood she with her parents, located at Red Oak, Iowa, where she grew to womanhood and was married to Mr. Dent. For the past nine years she had been a resident of Broken Bow, and was engaged in dress-making as a trade. She was the mother of three children, one dying in infancy, two, Mrs. Andrew J. Lee, of Kearney, and Harry Dent, of Pleasanton, survive her.

She leaves others to mourn her death, among whom are two sisters, Mesdames Cozad and Pat Piley, of New Helena, and two brothers, one in Callaway, the other in Red Oak, Iowa. She enjoyed the esteem of all who knew her intimately for her kindly deeds, modest and womanly character.

Her children and sisters, reached here in time to be with her in her last days and to participate in the last sad rites that can be bestowed upon our departed friends.

The funeral services were held in the Presbyterian Church yesterday, afternoon at 2 p. m., by Rev. Aubrey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which the deceased had been a member since her childhood.

Died.

Edward C., son of P. A. Walton of this city, died at Kansas City, Monday, Dec. 6, where he went about four weeks ago, accompanied by his father with hopes of receiving medical relief. But the disease with which he was afflicted, ulceration of the bowels, had advanced too far and nothing could be done for him.

His remains arrived in Broken Bow Tuesday morning and were taken charge of by the Woodmen of which he was a beneficiary member. The funeral services were held at the Christian church of which he was a member, yesterday morning, under the auspices of the Woodmen. The sermon was preached by Rev. Doward.

He leaves father, one brother, Dan of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Mittie Russom, of Kern, California, to mourn his death. The deceased was 35 years of age, being in the prime of life, and enjoyed the esteem of a large circle of friends of this community.

Three Dollars.

During the one Bargain Week, December 21 to 28, you can get The Nebraska State Journal for the whole year 1910 for $3, without Sunday, or $4 with Sunday. Your paper will be started as soon as your order is received and continued to January 1, 1911 for this special price. This is the fourth annual bargain week, and each year thousands of new readers take advantage of the low rates, which are made possible by doing business direct with the subscribers, thus saving salaries and expenses of traveling solicitors. All papers are stopped when time is up.

The Journal's growth under this four years of square-deal and no middle-man, has been marvelous. This cut price saves over ten thousand dollars to our subscribers and yet enables us to spend more than ever on perfecting the paper. There are thousands of families in Nebraska who think The Journal is the best paper in the state, and its publishers believe that a year's trial convince you also. This paper from the capital city is sure to be of more interest to you than any other. The Journal stands for the things that will benefit the great mass of people in the state and has no deals or tieups with the elements which balk the public. It is out-spoken on public affairs, and every man who regularly reads it will be convinced of its honesty and truthfulness. Don't pay money to strangers for papers that may never come, but send direct to the publisher or subscribe through your local agent whom you know and can trust. Remember that as soon as this one week is past, the prices are $4 and $5 per year. Send in now and get the big Lincoln Journal all next year.

LUNCHEON

The engagement of Miss Slater, of Boone Iowa, to Mr. Peterson, of this city, was announced last Friday at a one o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. F. M. Rublee and her niece Miss Slater at the lovely home of the former.

Covers were laid for ten. The table was perfect in all appointments. In the centre was a large raised heart, covered with forget-me-nots and blue ribbon artistically arranged, and resting on an elaborate piece of mountmelick. From the heart to each guests place, extended bands of blue ribbon with yellow arrows attached, which were the names of the guests.

At each place were small yellow heart shaped boxes of candy bound in blue ribbon; on the lid were the names of Miss Hazel Slater and Mr. James P. Peterson; also a spray of forget-me-nots tied with blue ribbon. After the last course, Mrs. Rublee requested each guest to draw her ribbon and read the toast on the yellow heart at the other end of it. Miss Slater also received the congratulations and impromptu toasts of the guests.

During the afternoon Shakespeare's play "As you like it" was finished. The musical numbers were:

My Hearts Desire. Once in a Purple Twilight, Miss Bowen.

Happy Days. The Dawn, Miss Slater.

When the Roses Bloom, Mrs. Frank Taylor.

Seven Times Three, Mrs. Stuckey.

A Scotch Ballad, Mrs. Gutter son.

The guests were The Shakespeares, Mrs. Izard, and Mrs. Xanders.

LINEN SHOWER

Mesdames Gutterson, Stuckey, Ed McComas, F. E. Taylor and Miss Bowen, members of the Shakespeare club, entertained Tuesday at a one o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Gutterson in honor of Miss Slater, who will be married Dec. 15th.

Covers were laid for ten. The large living room was profusely decorated with large and small red hearts. The centre piece was a maiden hair fern resting on a large red heart pierced by an arrow; around this small hearts, out lined a still larger heart. Suspended above the table were long strings of hearts. Four individual candle sticks with red shades were used on the table.

The place cards were hearts. When the guests were seated the toasts found at each place were given. They were taken from the different plays of Shakespeare.

Miss Bernice McComas and Miss Hazel Molyneaux served the five course luncheon.

During the afternoon whist was played at three tables. After each game Miss Slater received a gift of linen; attached to it was an apt quotation from the great author. At the end Miss Slater had received many useful and beautiful pieces of linen.

A few musical numbers closed a perfectly charming affair: Solo, Sylvia, Miss Bowen. A Lover and His Maid, Miss Slater. Just a Song at Twilight, Ladies

Quartette. Instrumental solo, Miss Bowen.

The guests were the same as at the announcement, members of the club and Mesdames Xanders, Molyneaux and Izard.

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Groat entertained at a six o'clock dinner Tuesday in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Xanders, who will move to Columbus the first of the year.

Covers were laid for ten. The table decoration was a Xmas cactus full of buds and blossoms.

EASTERN STAR

After the regular meeting of Arrow Chapter Tuesday night, the members engaged in a spelling contest, followed by charades, and a taffy pull. The twenty two members who braved the cold, felt amply repaid for coming out by the delightfully old fashioned entertainment.

LANGSON—WILSON

Miss Francis Langson, eldest daughter of Mrs. J. J. Wilson, was married Wednesday at high noon, to Mr. Clyde Wilson, second son of Mr. J. J. Wilson.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride and groom seven miles west of town. Rev. Aubrey of the Presbyterian church officiated.

Miss Adah Bowen presided at the piano. To the strains from Lohengren's wedding march, the bride and groom entered the parlor unattended.

After the ceremony the newly married couple received the congratulations of the few friends and relatives present. An elaborate course dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilson resided in this city a number of years. Mrs. Wilson is an accomplished musician and Mr. Wilson at the recent election was a close second for the office of County Superintendent of Public Schools.

REYNOR—TAYLOR

Wednesday at high noon Miss Francis Reyner became the bride of Mr. Willis Webb Taylor. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Reyner, five miles northwest of this city.

The ceremony was preformed by the Rev. W. H. Xanders, of St. Johns Episcopal church, and was witnessed only by relatives.

Promptly at twelve o'clock while the wedding march was being played by Miss Millie Taylor, the bridal party entered the parlor; Rev. Xanders followed by the groom and best man Mr. Charles Reyner; the maid of honor Miss Emma Reyner; the bride and her brother Mr. Paul Reyner. The bride was charmingly attired in white.

After congratulations, dinner was served. The menu was fine and excellently served.

The bride for several years was a nurse in a Philadelphia, Hospital and in Omaha. She is admired by a wide circle of friends for her many excellent qualities.

The groom having resided here a number of years, is well and favorably known.

RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Webb Taylor gave a reception Wednesday afternoon from three to six o'clock at their home on the Taylor farm.
