While the cool nights and dry weather retard the growth of winter wheat and grass there is the consolation that while the weather is dry and the dark of the moon stays with the frost is not liable to kill the early fruit that is now in full bloom.

The lecture delivered last Tuesday by W. L. Gaston, on "Yosemite," was one of the most eloquent, instructive and entertaining we ever heard. Owing to the inclemency of the weather the hall was not as well filled as it should have been, but the best judges our city affords were there and everyone was well pleased.—Silverton Appeal, Silverton, Ore.

Next to visiting a place yourself is to have some one tell you about it in such a manner that you can see it and feel that you are there. That's what Rev. W. L. Gaston did at the opera house last night. He made his hearers see the pikes and domes and hear the roar of the falling water in the Yosemite valley, he was eloquent graphic. Amusing incidents were scattered throughout the lecture.—Oregon Mining News.

Surprise Party.

There was a nice birthday surprise in our neighborhood near Ansley at the W. E. Higgins home Saturday night April 2nd.

The neighbors gathered there about nine o'clock with full baskets of delicious food and marched in and were given possession of the home. It was Mr. Higgins twentyfifth birthday.

The evening was spent in social chat and good music. At twelve o'clock the table was spread and all partook of the best of the land. All went home feeling glad they were there.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames J. H. H. Cross, J. S. Allen, J. L. Mutchie, A. E. Pittaway, Messrs. E. D. Cross, Harold Points, Carl and Floyd Wait, Vernie Dewey, Mesdames Retta Heathman, Ira Allen and Miss Nettie Cole.

There were several nice presents and some birthday cards given.
