

LEWIS' "SINGLE BINDER."

A hand-made cigar fresh from the table, wrapped in foil, thus keeping fresh until smoked. A fresh cigar made of good tobacco is the ideal smoke. The old, well cured tobaccos used are so rich in quality that many who formerly smoked 10c cigars now smoke Lewis' Single Binder Straight 5c. Lewis' Single Binder costs the dealer some more than other 5c cigars, but the higher price enables this factory to use extra quality tobacco. There are many imitations; don't be fooled. There is no substitute! Tell the dealer you want a Lewis' "Single Binder."

Silence.

Very few men know how to keep still. The Italians have a proverb, "Hear, see, and say nothing," if you wish to live in peace. The man who is bent on telling all he knows, generally ends in telling a good deal more than he knows. The tongue is harder to bridle than the wildest horse that ever roamed the prairie. The Germans say truly that talking comes by nature, while silence comes of the understanding.

All Tired Out.

Do you feel dull, occasionally—out of sorts? Headaches and Dizziness? The fault is either with your stomach or your liver. The safe, sure and easy way to get rid of either trouble is to take NATURE'S REMEDY. Take an NR Tablet to-night—it will sweeten the stomach and regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels. Easy—sure to act. Get a 25c Box. The A. H. Lewis Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo.

TALES OF GOTHAM AND OTHER CITIES

This Elephant Has Odd Dinner Call

NEW YORK.—Luna, the big elephant at the Bronx zoo, has found a new use for the big hignum vitas bowling ball the keeper has given her. Gunda, her husband, has a big cage in the other corner of the building, but Luna can never catch sight of him. So to amuse her and keep her from making too many eyes at Pete, the fat hippopotamus, whose cage is across the room, the keeper got her a bowling ball bigger than a man's head.

Luna never learned to bowl, and the round, hard, inedible thing was a curiosity to her.

When they put an empty beer barrel in her cage for her to play with she solved the mystery by finding that if she blew into the bung hole it made a whistling noise that attracted the attention of Pete and sometimes woke him out of an afternoon nap, but this hard, round polished ball was no good as far as she could see.

First she put it in her mouth and tried to bite it, but it wouldn't masticate and only hurt her tongue. Then she put it on the floor and tried to stand on it with all four feet, but it wouldn't be still long enough and her feet were too big. Then she put it in a corner and sat down and talked to it, but the mysterious thing was mute.

It was continually under her feet, and when she lay down at night it was always under her and necessitated her moving to some other corner.

Now Luna is particular about her meals. If her hay isn't brought at the precise moment she toots and trumpets and makes a fuss, and as the visitors like to hear her toot and the keepers don't care, it doesn't hurry her dinner any.

The other day when she got hungry and ordered her dinner and it didn't come she flew into a passion and walked rapidly about sputtering and tooting. Suddenly her feet touched the big bowling ball. She picked it up and fairly hurled it against the wall with all her force.

"Bangety-bang-whang!" it went, bounding from side to side and filling the elephant house with clamor. She stopped, amazed, and picked it up again.

"Bang-whang-bangety-bang!" went the ball, and the keepers, thinking that she was tearing down the pen, came on the run.

Seeing that at last she had attracted attention she kept throwing the ball with energy till the keeper brought her dinner. Now, when she wants to eat she throws the ball against the wall until her order is brought, and it always comes in a hurry.

Story of Gotham Peddler's Revenge

A wild shout of laughter came from the crowd and several of them whacked the peddler on the back.

"Great stuff, old man, great stuff," they whooped. "Best make-up we ever saw. Pretty near stung us, but we are wise to that crepe beard, old boy!"

The peddler stood bewildered.

"Gentlemen," said he, "you all been schicker, I thinks. Vat funny business iss dis you makes it mit me?"

Another shout of glee.

"Make-up is so good," cried Joe Humphreys, "that I can't spot him. Take it off, old pal." And Joe, seizing the straggly black beard, gave it a hearty haul. The peddler emitted a howl of surprise, agony and rage. Dropping his head, he butted goat-like and drove his derby into Mr. Humphreys' features.

"Loafers, loafers," he squaled, enraged beyond endurance. "You been fresh too much, and I go get it a policeman for you!"

He broke away, followed by enthusiastic cheers, and not even when he returned with Officer Hughey Jones could the crowd be convinced that it wasn't some joyous actor playing the best impersonated joke that has been seen in years on Broadway. It was no joke, however—the peddler was as real as Essex street, and the crowd had to buy 90 cents worth of his collar buttons before he would be pacified.

Women Are Not "People" Now 'tis Said

CHICAGO.—woman—An adult female of the human race.—Century Dictionary.

People—The whole body of persons who compose a community, a tribe, race or nation.—Century Dictionary.

But behind—
Women are not people.—Prof. Charles Zueblin of the University of Chicago.

bered among the people, then what are we?" was the cry that went up from club women, suffragettes, pretty women, plain women, old women and young women alike.

And Prof. Zueblin's answer, entrenched behind a bulwark of logic, smashing traditions and upsetting definitions compiled by the lexicographers, is this:

"When we analyze the political plattitudes that we make almost a part of our being we discover that women are not people. Our great platitude, Lincoln's definition of democracy, 'a government of the people, by the people and for the people,' serves, without further ado to put women entirely out of the people class."

"From Prof. Zueblin's interpretation of the situation it would appear that we are like the Indians," said Mrs. Ella Flag Young, superintendent of schools. "The Indians don't vote and neither do we, but personally I am more interested in the study of children than in the status of my sex."

Two Poor Girls Palmed Off as Rich

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Alma Webster Powell, wife of A. Judson Powell, a rich piano manufacturer of Brooklyn, was the chief speaker at a suffragette mass meeting and told this story:

"I brought two young women—poor girls—from the east side to my residence last week, and after dressing them in my most beautiful gowns, introduced them into a select, aristocratic assemblage that had come to my home for the evening. Although members of a poor, self-supporting class, these two young women, genteel and nicely educated, departed themselves during the reception so charmingly that two gentlemen present—who, like the other guests, posessed no knowledge of the true social position of the girls—were much smitten with them and requested permission to call on them in their homes. One of these men was a count, the other was possessed of riches to the extent of $2,000,000.

"All of this strengthens my claim that wealth and false pride alone make a shirtwaist is good enough for me."

Mrs. Powell said it was not the first time she had fooled her friends by introducing among them persons not affluent like themselves.

"Once," she said, "I dressed up my cook Mary in one of my gowns and she mingled with my guests. Her figure is beautiful, and she made a stunning appearance. But she did not feel at ease in the strange company and stayed only a short time. Back to the kitchen she went."

Mrs. Powell then entered into a tirade against bad government and the idle rich, whom she characterized as being the arch-enemies of the suffragettes.

MOST PEOPLE DO NOT KNOW CAUSE OF THEIR SICKNESS

Does human health depend on one organ alone? This question is becoming widely discussed since L. T. Cooper first advanced his theory that the stomach is the true seat of life and all health dependent upon it.

Mr. Cooper, who has met with remarkable success in the sale of his new medicine, believes that the stomach is responsible for most sickness, and that this organ is weak in the present generation. While discussing this theory recently, he said: "I am asked time and again to tell why my medicine has made such a record wherever I have introduced it. My answer always is, 'because it restores the stomach to a normal condition.' No one will deny that today there are more half-sick men and women than ever before. Nothing critical seems to be the matter with them. They are just half-sick most of the time. They don't know really what is the matter with them. I have talked with thousands during the past two years, and few knew indeed what their trouble was. One said nervousness, another said kidney trouble, another liver complaint, some constipation, or heart trouble, or lung trouble. Many had treated as they called it, for most of these diseases at different times. A very common complaint is 'all run down,' or 'tired all the time,' or 'no appetite.'

"I know positively that every bit of this chronic ill health is caused by stomach trouble and nothing else. My New Discovery puts the stomach in sound condition in about six weeks. Mighty few people can be sick with a sound digestion. That is why my medicine is selling at such a tremendous rate. I have convinced many thousands of people that these things are so, and the number is growing by leaps and bounds."

Among more recent converts to Mr. Cooper's beliefs is Mrs. Lottie L. Miner, living on Rural Route No. 2, Henniker, N. H., who says: "I was in poor health for six years, from stomach trouble and indigestion. Quite frequently my stomach was so weak that it would not retain solid food. I had vomiting spells every morning, and was subject to frequent attacks of dizziness. Life became such a burden that I often felt it was not worth the living. I tried everything I could hear of, but found nothing that would afford relief.

"For some time I had been reading of the Cooper remedies, and finally decided to give the New Discovery preparation a trial. After taking the first bottle, I noticed a marked improvement. Five bottles made me entirely well. I can eat anything I wish, and have not been troubled with my stomach since. The dizzy spells disappeared long ago.

"My mother, Mrs. Susan Parkins, is a nurse of long experience. Both she and my father have used the Cooper remedies with splendid results. I will be glad to answer any personal correspondence in regard to my case."

Cooper's New Discovery is sold by all druggists. If your druggist cannot supply you, we will forward you the name of a druggist in your city who will. Don't accept "something just as good."—The Cooper Medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio.

GLADNESS COMES

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of illness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant laxative, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the only remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is, therefore, all-important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to purchase and note that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

It is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and assists in overcoming habitual constipation permanently, also biliousness and the many ills resulting therefrom. The great trouble with all other purgatives and aperients is not that they fail to act when a single dose is taken, but that they act too violently and invariably tend to produce a habit of body requiring constantly augmented doses. Children enjoy the pleasant taste and gentle action of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the ladies find it delightful and beneficial whenever a laxative remedy is needed, and business men pronounce it invaluable, as it may be taken without interfering with business and does not gripe nor nauseate. When buying note the name, California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of every package. Price, 50 cents a bottle.
