

which the President has advocated, we shall deserve that our motives at the time of making those promises be questioned.

There seems to be a disposition on the part of some statesmen on Capital Hill to think that the question of an early adjournment is of more importance than anything else. For my part, I think at the time of adjournment is of no importance. I am willing to stay here all summer if by so doing we shall be able to pass republican legislation, in accordance with the Taft program.

I am a Taft man—not on the the Payne law I shall be fully resigned, and shall make no complaint if I am succeeded in congress by a democrat.

A very distinguished man, a republican senator of the United States, has recently, in an elaborate speech, attacked the Payne law and defended his vote against it. He files a long bill of particulars in his indictment, alleging certain duties that he could not stand for; and most prominent of them are the duties on iron ore and lumber. He makes no mention, however, of the fact that both these duties

Monday April 25 was rally day for the Odd Fellows of this district.

The degree team and others of the local lodge were in attendance.

The meeting was under the personal direction of Grand Master J. W. Kelley and others of the Grand lodge.

Broken Bow put on the the initiatory while Grand Island, Columbus and Hastings, No. 50 in first work, second degree work respectively.

There were forty from the local lodge. About thirty seven lodges are in the district and nearly five hundred were in attendance.

At 8:30 they began the degree work and put eight candidates through the three degrees which is unusual except in cases of this kind where special permission is granted by the Grand lodge.

A Special Offer.

The big daily papers find it necessary and profitable to keep increasing their subscription list, and one of the fastest growers is the Lincoln State Journal. This splendid state has just opened up another big subscription campaign, offering the paper to Jan. 1, 1911 for only $2; with Sunday $2.50. This special rate will bring the business. The Journal has a way of its own—cutting out a lot of expensive methods of getting subscribers and making the low rate to its readers direct. The people of the state as never before are looking to The Journal for the real doings in the state. It is building up its business through reliability and enterprise, especially in covering the state news. Another good thing about The Journal is its policy of stopping every paper when the 'time is up. If you don't pay for it you don't get it, and when you do pay for it you are only paying for your own paper, not helping to pay for the one sent some deadbeat. You will like the clean-cut methods of The Journal people.
