

The welcome to Roosevelt at his home coming on the 18th will be most fitting. The bay of New York harbor will be crowded with boats bearing his host of friends, while his greeting on land will be hearty and unprecedented. It will be a non-partisan welcome as it should be and yet all will have in mind that it was as a republican governor, vice-president and president that he gained his fame. He will continue to a loyal republican and give his unqualified endorsement to the present administration.

The so-called unpopularity of President Taft seems to be confined to the muckraking magazines and those disgruntled news papers which did not succeed in intimidating Congress to give them free print paper. The people are with the president, and are fast finding out his worth. They are learning to love him for his sincerity, his rugged honesty and his devotion to the best interests of all. Rarely in public life do we find a more unselfish, less unostentatious official.

He is doing much for his countrymen, and in return, they should do much for him. They should resent imputations against his motives and actions, and rally to his support. They should see to it that in the coming primaries and conventions only loyal republicans are nominated for Congress and State Legislatures, and then they should devote their best energies to the election on November 8th of those nominees. The elections this year are important in the extreme. See to it that no good republican is defeated.

There will not be a single issue where republicans cannot rally to the support of the policies and candidates of the party. The work of the two sessions of the present Congress will be phenomenal, and the legislation and administration under President Taft will compare favorably with any in our history. There will be no reason for any man to give his heartiest and most enthusiastic support.

There is much yet to be accomplished during the next session of the Sixty-first Congress and the two sessions of the Congress following. For that reason the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second Congress should have a substantial republican majority to work with the senate and president in rounding out an administration that will redeem every republican pledge. A democratic house means a nothing Congress. A republican house means a continuation of the splendid work so well begun.

Rarely, if ever before in the history of our government, has so much been accomplished in a single day for the good of the people as was attained by President Taft on the 6th of June. On that day he persuaded the representatives of practically all the western railroads, which was acquired in the next day by the eastern roads to withdraw their recent increase in rates filed to become effective on or after June 1st, 1910, and to file no rate increase until after the passage of the railroad bill.

In return for this concession, the Government abandoned the injunction suit against the West-Trunk Line Association. By this mutual action, a great community of shippers will gain immediate relief from months, if not altogether from a threat, of tremendous increases in transportation charges.

In July 1907, I gave a public statement in their favor and at this time I gladly confirm it. I had acute pains through my back and kidneys and at times sharp twinges darted throughout my body. Every sudden move caused an attack of pain and I was often so lame and sore that it was almost impossible for me to straighten. The kidney secretions were unnatural and distressing in passage and if allowed to stand, deposited sediment. I had headaches, felt restless and was unable to get my proper rest. Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Haerberle's Drug Store helped me from the time I began them and continued use entirely relieved me. During the past three years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills, whenever I have been in need of a kidney medicine and I have received benefit.
