We notice from the Blaine County Booster that Carl Amsherry of Mason City is the associate editor of that paper.

Carl is the oldest son of J. M. Amsherry and has practically been brought up in a printing office and ought to make good. The REPUBLICAN hopes for his success.

The Beacon's offer to "give $10 for a valid reason why a man living in Custer county should vote to uphold a protective tariff" seems to be all wind. We gave the Beacon four good reasons two weeks ago and as yet have not seen a red cent. Until we can have some real evidence that the offer is genuine we do not deem it wise to advance other reasons, for fear of being accused of casting our "pearls before swine."

Governor Shallenberger has decided not to call an extra session of the legislature in order to pass an initiative and referendum law.

His decision not to call the extra session in face of the fact that the Bryan forces had secured a pledge from three-fifths of the members of the legislature that they would support the bill would indicate that the governor and Mr. Bryan are not eating their ice cream out of the same dish in this campaign.

Side Walks.

The time has come when every body in Broken Bow should urge the building of better sidewalks. Most of our board walks are in a bad state of repair. Then there are several residence streets with no walks simply because one or two parties do not care to go to the expense of putting in cement or brick walks on their property unless they build their walks so they can get out without wading through mud. Let the agitation become general. If necessary the council should plan a system of walks throughout the several residence districts leading to the business part of town and pass an ordinance meat the whole system compelling walks put in

The remark is frequently heard to be made by strangers that Broken Bow is behind the times with her side walks. This should not be. Let us begin at once to put in a complete line of walks.

It is true that Kinkaid did prove of some service to the people in procuring the passage of the Kinkaid homestead law but a similar bill had been introduced by his predecessor, Judge Neville and that Kinkaid simply reaped the reward that should have come to Neville.—Beacon

We have seen the before that Judge Neville the author of the Kinkaid but the statement is false. The section homes was originated in Broken

The matter was suggested by members of the state legislature by two men at Lincoln matter of the Detrich pending in congress to government land.

These two men from Broken Bow urged upon members of the legislature to pass legislation opposing the law and suggested that instead of the homestead law be allowing 640 acre homestead the sand hill county memorial to congress be sent forward, out of Kinkaid, Judge Kinkaid entitled to full credit and securing the Kinkaid law. The matter was originated after Judge Neville

CONGRESSMAN KINKAID Did Not Enter A Coal Claim by Opposition

It is interesting to the opposition will misconstrue a fact to make a political capital. That such will be confined to the democratic candidates in the republican party for president and democratic resorts to democratic. We stated last week that a coal claim in did buy a quarter section with coal on a part of an entryman who complied with the law and made final plat. The title to the land fore private property subsequently exempt from valuation policies and enactment. The r this coal land was similar to the right has to buy land which homesteaded, after it has complied with the law and made final plat. There was nothing in the transaction and at the time, also represent said it was neither improper. Congress looking over deed Custer county with investing in it. He good a right to buy in Alaska as in Custer

FLIRTS WITH DEATH

THE FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE ENGAGES A DARING ATTRACTION FOR THAT DAY

DOES EIGHTEEN FOOT DROP

Professor Arthur Holloway Hold Audience Spellbound During The Act.

The members of the Fourth of July committee of Broken Bow wanted to give the people of this city and surrounding country something out of the ordinary for a free attraction for the Fourth and after considerable correspondence and at no small expense have secured Professor Arthur Holloway, of Chicago, one of the greatest aerial artists that this country has ever known to give two performances of his thrilling act of dropping backwards from the top of an eighteen foot ladder, fighting on his hands turning a somersault in the air and then lighting on his feet.

This act is one that has received brilliant press notices from all over the country, owing to the fact that during this drop Prof. Holloway holds the audience spellbound. Should he vary from his course two or three inches while performing this seeming impossible act he would break his neck. Many aerial artists have endeavored to learn this act but none have ever succeeded, several having been killed or crippled for life.

The age of daring feats is at its height and the committee in order to show that this city could have first class attractions secured Professor Holloway. The performances will take place at 1.30 p. m. and 7 p. m. No one should miss this, no doubt, their last opportunity to see Professor Holloway, the dare devil of the air.

On Monday evening Mrs. O'Bryan entertained at a seven o'clock dinner in honor of her daughter Nellie. Covers were laid for fourteen. The decorations were pink and white. Hearts of pink and white were suspended from each corner of the room to the chandelier over the center of the table where a pretty little brass cupid was possible, and delicate streamers of pink and white satin ribbon fell gracefully from the hands of the cupid to a single long stemmed pink carnation at every cover. Glass candleabras with pink shades stood in the center and at each end of the table.

Dainty place cards of white with a wreath of pink roses and tiny gilt hearts suggestive of the occasion.

The floral decorations were a large vase of pink and white carnations standing on a beautiful hand embroidered center piece, under which was hidden the secret.

Each guest was told she could read the secret by drawing the carnation at her plate to which the ribbon was fastened. They found to their surprise tiny little "suit cases" on which pretty which arrows were fastened on the words "the man in the case" were printed. On opening they found the picture of the groom to be, Mr. Chas. Brittan, and just below the picture, a little gilt heart with the date of the wedding, June 29, 1910.

An elaborate four course dinner was served. Tiny individual candles were brought in with the last course to determine which guest would be the next bride.

Mrs. O'Bryan was assisted in serving by Mrs. C. J. Christensen and Mrs. F. W. Hayes.
