CHURCH WEDDING.

Miss Adah Dell Bowen and Mr. Charles W. Cole United in Marriage.

At the Episcopal church Wednesday evening occurred the wedding of Miss Adah Bowen to Mr. Charles Cole by Bishop Graves of Kearney. The church was tastefully decorated throughout with the north and south ends of the channel screened by banked ferns palms and potted plants, and the altar and organ with cut flowers.

Two streamers of tulle were strung down the aisle from the vestry room to the channel. The church was crowded with the immediate family and close friends.

Promptly at eight o'clock the bridal party moved down the aisle to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March played by Miss Louise Ledwich.

The two ushers lead in full evening attire followed by the brides maid, Miss Nell Gutterson was dressed in pink satin with a picture hat of white Irish lace trimmed with pink and touches of black velvet.

The two flower girls Alice and Josephine Purcell came next carrying baskets from which they scattered roses in the path of the bride who followed them upon her father's arm.

The bride was dressed in a white brocaded satin with pearl trimming made with a long train and wore a tulle veil thrown back from her face and held in place with a sprig of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lillies of the valley and wore a beautiful bracelet the gift of the groom.

When the procession was in front of the chancel steps the attendants separated forming two lines before the bishop and the groom with the best man, Claude Currie, stepped forward from behind the screen and met the bride at the alter steps.

After the ceremony was concluded and the bride and groom had knelt for the benediction the newly married couple led the procession up the aisle while Miss Ledwich played the Lohengrin Wedding March.

At nine o'clock the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The house was decorated with cut flowers and the broad piazza was decorated with flowers and lighted with Chinese lanterns.

The guests were introduced to the receiving line, the bride groom and parents, by Miss Gutterson.

Raphael, Pred Co. wholesale and General merchandise dealers of Omaha have secured a five year lease on the Moise building just east of Anderson's Jewellery store which they are having remodeled and put in shape for a stock of merchandise with which to occupy as soon as the building can be put in shape.

B. Predmestky secretary and treasurer of the company was in the city the first of the week and arranged with Kem Wahl to do the necessary repairing on the building.

Mr. Predmestky informs us that he will put in a new up to date front and will remodel the interior in order to provide room for the large stock of merchandise that can be carried.

The members of the company are not strangers to Broken Bow and community. They conducted mercantile business of clothing and fabrics for several months in Broken Bow last spring under the name of the New York Store and proved their ability to do business by liberal advertising of special bargains.

The genial and pleasant way he treated his customers made friends of all he met and his return will be welcomed by his customers of Broken Bow and vicinity.
