A WAR among the railroads running west from Chicago is expected.

It is computed that the driving of the last spike on the Northern Pacific railroad cost $23,000 worth of drinkables and cigars.

THE Anti-Monopolists met in state convention at Grand Island, last Thursday, and endorsed the democratic nomince, James W. Savage of Omaha, for the Supreme Court.

THE State Journal of Sunday last stated that "the hog cholera has broken out among the farmers on Long Island." The State Journal seems to have diagnosed the case fearlessly, if not accurately.

THE Seventeenth Annual State Fair opened at Omaha on Tuesday, with a larger display of exhibits, and a greater number of attendants than on any prior occasions. The indications were that the fair would be an unparallelled suc-

JUDGE NORVALL passed sentence on Steve Benfield, convicted of manslaughter, Saturday evening, at Grand Island. He gave him the full extent of the law -ten years at hard labor, but not solitary confinement. The young man is more unfortunate than bad.

THE acquittal of Frank James at Kansas City, last Thursday, is another instance in which the free use of money defeats justice. There can be no question but that Frank James is a desperado of the deepest dye, and deserves all the punishment the law allows, yet, in his first trial, he is by some hocus pocus acquitted.

LET the electors of this county remember when they attend the primaries, and convention, that what the county wants and requires is honest, reliable, efficient officers ; officers that not only have the qualifications necessary for their several positions, but who also will conduct the affairs and look after the interests of the county economically and justly. Men are prone to be influenced by partisan zeal, or personal prejudice, or preference, but under present circumstances, they should consider the crude state of politics in this county, and cast their influence, not for the partisan or friend, but for the candidate who is the best qualified to perform the functions of the office to which he aspires. We believe that merit should keeping enough for home use. No betalways be recognized and rewarded, and if among the candidates for the several offices, there are men who have served the county honestly and well, it would be but justice that they should receive the appreciation of the people by the further endorsement of their services. If there are those who lack the ability, or whose characters are such as to create suspicions as to their probity, they should be cast aside and better men

THE formal opening of the Northern Pacific road for traffic and travel marks the completion of an important 'enterprise that effects the entire country, and especially the northwest. There are now five lines that connect the Pacific states with the east, at suitable distances from each other. These will make the competition much sharper than heretofore. The Northern Pacific will un-loubtedly take much of the travel and trade, and force the others to reduce their rates to honest figures. But the greatest benefit will be the building up of the country. Thousands of homes will be brought near to market and the settlers will flock into the country it traverses by the thousands. Thus empires of wealth will be erected out of what now are but empires of wastes.

Mr. Villard, who is the head center of the Northern Pacific, is just now the central railroad figure. He is almost lionized in fact. His recent trip over to be held Oct. 3, 4 and 5, reported

Great as is the amount of her grain crops, her stock interests are much greater and will bring to the state much more wealth. From the state Auditor I find the following is the return or stock assessed in the state for the year 1882:

Horses, 532,032; cattle, 815,033; mules 31,314; sheep, 373,657; hogs 811,-049. When it is known that not half the stock is assessed in the great stock regions, it is safe to say that the live stock is worth $100,000,000. All these things combine to give the state the great boom which she nows enjoys. The oat crop is the heaviest ever raised here and there will be over 7,000,000 bushels to ship out of the state after ter corn crop ever grew than is now setting ears in this state. A large amount of it will be fed to stock.

The low price of range cattle will keep many back, and these will be brought here and ripened for the market on corn. The outlook now is that more cattle will be fed here than ever before, and that is as it should be. With its large corn crop, mild winters and pure, bracing atmosphere, Nebraska should be the great feeding state of the Union. The crop of hogs will be the largest ever shipped from the state, and they will be fully matured. In going over the country you no longer see the long-nosed, razor backed hogs of a few years ago, but the plump Berkshire, the large round and sleek Poland-China and the beautiful Chester whites, though the latter are not sought after much, have taken their place. The slab-sided, raw-boned cattle are passing away, and the beautiful short-horn and white-faced Herefords are taking their place.-Correspondent while she was trying to rescue a man from the fate that overtook her.

SITTING BULL had arranged with the managers of the Iowa state fair to be in attendance at the exposition but at the last moment went back on his word and failed to show up. Villard's party is responsible for the great chief's disregarding his engagement. So many distinguished men in his section of country, to whom he could sell his photographs caused Sitting Bull to forget all about his Iowa engagement.

Some few days since, a war between China and France seemed imminent, but late dispatches indicate that the casus belli will be amicably settled, and a great deal of unnecessary blood-shed obviated Imagine a battle ground with the French drawn up in battle array on one side, and the Chinese on the other, and you will readily see that a war between these nations would be ridiculous in the extreme.

THE town of Marion, Alabama, has a colored Republican postmaster. A few days ago, some of his white brethren who wanted his office for one of their own color, withdrew from his bond with a view of having him removed. But as he had made a good postmaster, some prominent Democrats, unwilling to see him treated in that way, made a bond for him amounting to $68,000, and he retains the office.

It is announced from Chicago that the postal note system, which went into operation on the first of the month, is proving somewhat of a failure, chiefly owing to the fact that there are numerous mistakes made in filling them out. As a consequence, banks refuse to receive them, and other parties, who have been placed to a good deal of trouble and inconvenience, are inclined to find much fault. There has been a bad beginning all around, and unless there shall be a radical improvement from this time forward it is quite evident the jostal notes must go.

Nebraska to the Front.

From all the reports which had reached me I expected to find a very fine crop of all kinds of grain growing here, and after going over the state, I find that 1 had not set my estimate high enough. There is no denying the fact that to-day Nebraska has the best crops of all kinds of any state in the Union. Her wheat crop is simply immense; the acreage is large, the straw is just the right length, the heads are large and well filled, and the berry is of excellent quality. On every hand are hundreds of self-binders throwing the golden sheaves. Yesterday I took a long ride of forty miles through the country in a carriage, and during the long ride did not see a poor crop of grain where it had been properly put in and cultivated. Nebraska is to-day gathering a harvest which is worth more than the out-put of all the precious metals of the mines of Colorado. From official returns I find that last year there were 1,040,907 acres of wheat, the acreage of this year is much larger, but if it be the same, and the crop will average the lowest estimate for the entire state, which is twenty bushels per acre. This will bring large amounts of capital to the state and relieve the farmers very much, as many of them are in straightened eircumstances, for this state is pre-eminently the poor man's home, and was settled by a band of homestcaders who had but little or no capital, but their willing hands and strong, brave hearts, | and these are the men who have made nations bud and blossom like the rose. There are no great land kings here, no immense farms covering entire townships, crowding out the poor man and keeping out the school houses, etc., like there are in Minnesota and Dako-

$107.50 subscribed.

Messrs. Ashmore, Maiken and Quick were appointed a committe to see to the erection of a proper building for displays of household and other goods, suitable pens for sheep and swine, and posts for cattle. Judge H. M. Ashmore was instructed to make and put in good order, a suitable half mile track for speed ring.

On motion, the following sums were fixed for licenses for their respective classes of business, which were limited as follows:

Two swings at $10.00 each; 3 booths at $15.00 for first choice, $10.00 for second choice and $5.00 for third place; and one lunch room at $5.00; which sums are to be paid on or before the first day of the fair.

The Board adjourned to the morning of the first day of the fair, when it is desired to have a full board present.---Courier.
