WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

F. M. & E. M. KIMMELL EDITORS and PUBLISHERS,

SOUTHERN Dakota adopted a constitution Nov. 6th, and will make application for admission to the family of states.

THE next Legislature of New York will elect a U. S. Senator to succeed Senatur Lapham. The Republican majority on joint ballot is 24, which insures a Republican Senator from the Empire state.

TRUMAN J. SMITH, of Waterbury, Conn., choked his wife and broke her leg because all the children have turned out to be girls. His third and last girl was born about three weeks ago. Truman is quite a strict disciplinarian, but the neighbors talk of a course of spouts for himself.

THE land office at Beatrice will be open, December 10, 1883, for the purpose of receiving applications for the purchase of the remainder of the lands of the Otoe and Missouri reservations which reverted to the government by reason of the default of the bidders at the auction of May 31, 1883.

How thoroughly the campaign was worked "for all it was worth" in Massachusetts this year, says the Chicago Journal, may be inferred from the fact that Butler gained 16,000 on his vote of a year ago, and Robinson increased Bishop's vote of 1882 by 40,000. It was the largest vote ever polled in the state, amounting to 313,000, while the combined vote for Garfield and Hancock in 1880 was only 277,000.

MARTIN LUTHER has been dead more than three centuries, but twice or three times as many people turned out to hear a comparatively obscure man talk about him at the opera house, Sunday evening, as went to hear the renowned Bob Ingersoll announce the demise of God and the banishment of hell. It was Christ who taught that men should build upon solid rock. Luther seems to have so builded, and three hundred million people worship in the temple he raised. As between Luther and Bob, we think the dead reformer has decidedly the advantage, from any point of view .- Topics Man.

Moses, the relict of the fat girl who died in Baltimore, a few days since, felt very badly on account of his fears that his dear departed angel's body would be stolen by the medical students. The terror grew on him day by day, till a happy thought struck him. He hied him to a doctor's office and asked the medico what he would give for what was left of his love-and he indicated that a good deal was left. The doctor said he guessed a hundred dollars would be about right, and Moses then and there sold her. If his conscience never wakes to the fact that he might have got two hundred had he opened her up to bids, he will always be grateful for the inspiration by which he has cheated the grave robbing fraternity.-Jountal.

The 400th anniversary of the great reformer, Martin Luther, was celebrated with great splendor, Saturday, in Germany, England, Ireland, and also in our own land. At Berlin the festival opened by a gathering of 80,000 school children in 53 divisions, who marched to the various church edifices and attened religious services, and a bust of Luther was placed before the altar in each church. The Emperor and Crown Prince and officials of the Imperial University, city officials and clergy marched in procession to St. Nicholas church. Imposing demonstrations were made in all the cities and towns of the German Empire, monuments erected and memorial stones laid. At Worms, that historic place to the reformer, a new hall was opened in his honor. Celebrations were held in London, Dublin, Rome, Copenhagen, and in most of the cities and towns of this country honor was paid to the memory of the great Protestant reformer.

THE following excellent advice is given to colored men by the New York Globe, the organ of the colored race: "Let each man of us resolve to save more money. Without money a man cuts a very poor figure in the world. He is, to a certain extent a cipher—a sort of drone in the social hive. Our children should be taught the value of time, value of intelligence and the value of money. Now is the time to begin."

The suit of Gardner vs. Pullman Palace Car Company has been decided in favor of the plaintiff, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania holding that the company while not liable in action as an inn-keeper or common carrier, yet a reasonable and proper degree of care is imposed on them. The plaintiff recovered $300, having been robbed of some valuables while asleep in a Pullman car.

How many tormented girls of the period will sympathize with Molly Churchill's assertion that she ran away from home to become a chambermaid because they would make her practice four hours a day on the piano. If a girl does not like music, nothing is more foolish than to force her to practice four or any other number of hours a day on the instrument. She can put in her time to far greater advantage on something she is fit for.

THE visitor to the Supreme Court room while the court is in session may find much of interest in the proceedings, but the nine immaculate silk gowns that enwrap all the learning, dignity and gravity of our highest judicial tribunal are a shock to his ideas of republican simplicity. Not one of the judges seems to feel at home in that sombre relic of a past age, which in the eighth century was donned only of the gibbet from the King's bench. The American people, reared in an atmosphere of democracy, have never yet realized, and probably never will realize, that the wearing of these black mantles lends any greater degree of dignity to the bench than the trappings of Marcus Furius Camillus made him more terrible in the eyes of those who ultimately got the best of him. Besides, these ill-cut mantles have a disagreeable faculty of enticing themselves above the ears of some of the members of the court, whose ineffectual attempts to keep them in place are at times as ludicrous as they are exasperating. One heaves a sigh of real pity for Judge Miller, who would unquestionably yield a year's salary for the privilege of shedding this gownish, and we might say clownish, heritage from the English law. It is unbecoming in our peculiar system of government, and is decidedly objectionable to all who have business with the court.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor of the State of Nebraska.

Recognizing the source from whence cometh every good and perfect gift, it is right and proper that the citizens of this Commonwealth should offer their most grateful thanks to Him who hath in the past dealt so bounteously with them. The President of the United States has designated THURSDAY, the 29th day of November, as a day of National Thanksgiving, and in harmony therewith, I, JAMES W. DAWES, Governor of the State of Nebraska, do hereby recommend to the people of this state that the day so appointed be observed as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer to Almighty God. Manifold have been our blessings. Let us, so far as practicable, refrain from secular pursuits on that day; and gathering in accustomed 1 places of worship, render our humble thanks for the mercies and blessings that have been showered upon us during the year, and invoke a continuance of the Divine favor. In the midst of the general rejoicing we should remember the poor and the needy. "Blessed is he that considereth the poor."

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Nebraska. [SEAL.]

Done at Lincoln, this Fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Eight Hundred and Eighty-Three; of this State the Seventeenth, and of the Independence of the United States the One Hundred and Eighth.

JAMES W. DAWES.

By the Governor, E. P. ROGGEN, Secretary of State.

SEVERAL posts of the Grand Army of the Republic waited on General Sherman at his residence, Monday night, and serenaded him, the United States arsenal band furnishing the music for the occasion. Some 500 veterans were in procession, and about as many more outsiders were present. On appearing on occasions of pronouncing sentence in response to a call the General was cordially greeted. Ex-Governor Thos. C. Fletcher made a brief speech, tendering a most hearty welcome to their old commander. In reply the General said he was glad to see so many of his old comrades present and thanked them for their hearty greeting.

A LAW suit about a horse is always exciting, but they have one on hand in England that eclipses all former contests of this kind. The widow of an Earl has sued the Prince of Wales and two companions for the loss of a valuable mare, and lays the damages at twenty-five thousand dollars.

A SEVERE storm swept over the Lakes and Eastern states, Monday night, attended with great loss of life and destruction of property. A number of vessels and crews are known to have gone down, and grave apprehensions are felt for the safety of others.

INVESTIGATIONS into the reported treuble among the negroes of Southampton county, Va., develops nothing in the rumor.

A little daughter of Mr. H. Wiloughby, who lives near Superior, was bitten on the ankle by a large rattlesnake the other day. Remedies were promptly administered, but the poison seemed particularly venomous, and in the evening the child died.
