

Sarpy County the Scene of a Bloody Tragedy.

Special to the Omaha Republican. PAVILLION, January 21.—A terrible tragedy was enacted at the farm of Patrick Buckley, three miles southeast of this place, at an early hour this morning, in which John Bradford came to his death by the hand of Jesse McCarty. Bradford was chopping wood on Buckley's land. The cold weather impeded progress of his work, and he sub-let a portion of the work to Jesse McCarty and Michael Cain. These two men felled a large oak tree, which Bradford claimed to have reserved for his own use. When Bradford saw the men fell this tree he went to them and remonstrated, ordering them to cease work upon the fallen tree. This the men refused to do, when Bradford sought to enforce his commands, rushing upon McCarty as if to brain him with a huge maul. McCarty was in the act of trimming the limbs from the disputed tree, and, seeing he could not retreat through the thick underbrush and tree-tops, turned to defend himself. He warned Bradford not to come within reach of his axe, but the warning was unheeded. As Bradford was on the point of crushing McCarty with his powerful weapon, the latter raised his axe and struck his assailant a terrible blow on the neck, severing the jugular vein and almost decapitating him. The wounded man did not speak, but started in the direction of Buckley's house, his life-blood gushing forth at every step. When he had walked about twenty yards he stopped, looked around at his murderer, who was still pursuing him with uplifted axe, made several attempts as if to speak, threw up both hands, apparently in supplication, and fell to the ground, a corpse. The only important witness before the coroner's jury was Cain, the man at work with McCarty when the deed was performed. He testified strongly in favor of the defendant, but in spite of his assertions that the defendant acted only in self-defense, the jury found that Bradford came to his death by a blow from an axe in the hands of Jesse McCarty, and that the act was willful.

The Hon. Billia Flint, Life Senator of the Dominion parliament, Belleville, Ontario, Canada, writes: "I tried St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism in my face and toothache. It acted like a charm. A few times rubbing with it took away all soreness and pain; far better than having them drawn at the age of seventy-seven."

The Tripartite Rejected. CHICAGO, January 29.—The Burlington announced its ultimatum to the other western railway managers this afternoon upon the proposition to pool the trans-Missouri business, and upon its rejection quit the conference and the session was adjourned without date. This is the outcome of the long-pending negotiations which have been pursued by the Union Pacific and the other four Omaha lines to induce the Burlington to join the tripartite alliance or to agree to form another distinct pool with the Burlington on one side and the Union Pacific and its new allies on the other.

HOW TO CURE A COLD. To cure a cold quickly it must be treated before it has become settled in the system. The first symptom is a dry loud cough and when you have such a cough you may know that you have taken cold and the usual symptoms will soon follow unless checked. The quickest and surest way is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in full doses. It has in many instances checked a cold in a single day, and if not taken in time to completely check it at once, it will greatly relieve the attack and insure a cure in less time than any other treatment. Sold by all medicine dealers.

LEADER OF LEADERS.

The State Insurance Company of Des Moines Shows an Unparalleled Growth—Its Receipts Double Those of Any Other Company Doing Business in Iowa.

The growth of the State Insurance Company of Des Moines, Io., under the active personal management of the Hon. John A. Elliott, is marvellous. In 1877, when Mr. Elliott assumed control, the entire yearly receipts were but $61,000, while in 1883 the receipts were over half a million—$517,643—in round numbers. The assets of the State are to-day $772,106, and its surplus to policy holders is, over and above all liabilities, $433,158. It is a grand western company, and the people of the west are supporting it nobly, as they ought. The Iowa State Register, of January 22d, has the following: "The State Insurance Company publishes in this issue of The Register its annual statement for the business year ending December 31, 1883. We call the special attention of our readers to it. The growth of this company is unparalleled. The 'State' stands away above all other Iowa companies in the amount of its assets and surplus, and its receipts for 1883 are about double those of any other company doing business in Iowa, as reference to the official documents in the office of Auditor of State will prove. The 'State' is noted for the safe and conservative manner in which it does business. Its risks are widely scattered. It does not confine its business to a small locality and every one that knows anything about the insurance business is aware that the more a company's risks are scattered, the less the danger of heavy losses. Instead of dividing all the profits of the business among its stockholders annually, the 'State' adds a large amount to its surplus, and in this way it is now able to show a larger amount of assets than any other insurance company. The 'State' has paid to its policyholders in clean cash over $500,000 for losses. By fair and honest treatment of its patrons it has gained the confidence of the people, and no company doing business offers better indemnity to the insuring public."

James Nutt Pronounced Sane and Released. PITTSBURG, Jan. 23.—The hearing as to James Nutt's present mental condition took place this morning before Judge Stowe and resulted in the prisoner's release. Drs. Wylie, Beatty and Herron were examined, and all agreed that at the present time Nutt is of sound mind and fully responsible, and thought it would be perfectly safe to restore him to liberty. He was then discharged, and, in company with his friends, left the court room for Major Brown's office, where his mother, sister and other relatives were waiting to receive him. On the way he was tendered a perfect ovation. The scene at Brown's office was very affecting. The mother and sister wept as they threw their arms around him. The joy thus expressed seemed to know no bounds.
