

HEREDITARY TAINTS.

Some Revelations on a Subject Which Concerns the Welfare of the Race and the Happiness of All.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. To any one who has studied the laws of life, and especially those which relate to reproduction, an experience such as we are about to relate, will come with special force and interest.

These facts were strikingly brought out during a conversation which a representative of this paper recently had with Mrs. Carrie D. T. Swift, who is the wife of one of our most prominent citizens.

"I felt the beginning of this hereditary taint many years ago, in vague pains, which seemed to come unaccountably and at uncalculated times. They were annoying, exhausting, and interfered not only with my duties, but also totally destroyed my happiness.

"No one would ever suspect you had suffered so, Mrs. Swift, to see you now," remarked the reporter. "That is what all my friends say. Only yesterday, an acquaintance of mine whom I had not seen for some time, hesitated before speaking, and apologized by saying, 'Why, I really did not know you, you have changed so for the better since I last met you, how well you do look.'"

"Have you any objection to giving the name of the party who first mentioned this remedy to you?" "Not the slightest. It was Mr. R. H. Furman, the photographer." The newspaper man, after bidding Mrs. Swift good-bye, repaired to the photographic rooms of Mr. Furman, when the following conversation ensued:

"Have you been a sufferer from rheumatism, Mr. Furman?" "Well, I should think I had." "For how many years?" "Twelve or fifteen."

"Did you try to cure it?" "Yes, I tried everything, and, at last, went to the Hot Springs of Arkansas, and nothing seemed to do me any good until I tried Warner's Safe Rheumatic Cure."

"And it cured you, did it?" "Yes, completely." "And you can cordially recommend it?" "Yes, indeed, more cordially than anything I have ever known of. It is simply a wonderful medicine. I believe that two-thirds of all cases, both acute and chronic, could be cured as I was cured by the use of this remedy. In fact, I know a number of persons who have been in the worst possible condition, and are now completely well wholly through its use."

The statements above made are from sources, the authority of which cannot be questioned. They conclusively prove the value of the preparation named and show that even hereditary traits can be removed by the use of the proper means.

Oranges.

Detroit Free Press. Very red little oranges, tomato shaped, with shiny skin, and done up in colored tissue paper, can be found this winter in every fruit store and on many stands stands. They are mandarin and Tangier oranges, from Florida. The two varieties are so nearly alike in looks and taste that persons unaccustomed to them cannot always tell which is which.

very different from other oranges of good quality. Instead of the spicy flavor that is distinguishable in ripe and fresh Indian river oranges, there is in the mandarins and Tangierines a taste suggesting that of new wine. The pulp is very tender, and there is little but juice within the delicate lining.

The short, hacking cough, which leads to consumption. Take PISO'S Cure.

A Tale of the Comet.

Boston Advertiser. Boston Girl—"I can now see the comet with my naked eye." Boston Mamma—"Horrors, child! don't use such an expression. 'Naked eye' sounds so vulgar." Boston Girl—"But what shall I say, mamma?" Boston Mamma—"Oh, anything but that. I am sure you can think of some phrase less inelegant." Boston Girl—"Oh! I have it. 'I can now see the comet with my sans culottes.'"
