THE IRISH AMERICANS.

The following official notice was issued at Chicago on the 24th:
The second national convention of the Irish National League of America will assemble at 11 o'clock a. m. on Wednesday, August 13, 1881, in Fanculi hall, Boston, Mass. Every branch having fitty members in good standing on the national treasurer's books is entitled to be represented by one delegate, and every branch having more than two hundred members in good financial standing is entitled to be represented by two dele-gates. No branch can have more than two representatives. Any society desiring to affiliate with the league in time to be entitled to representation can forward the requisite one quarter's dues to the treas-urer, Rev. Charles O'Reilly, D. D., Detroit, Mich., and any body of the men in sym-pathy with the struggle of the Irish people for self-government can organize as a branch of the league by remitting one quarter's dues to the reverend treasurer, becoming thereby entitled to send a representative to Boston. The dues are one dollar per year per capita. We have the great pleasure of announcing, on the authority of Charles Stewart Parnell, that Hon. Thomas Sexton, member of parliament, by friends and foes acknowledged the most brilliant orator in the British parliament, and Hon. John E. Redmond, member of parliament, with whose earnestness and eloquence our countrymen are already acquainted, will attend the convention on behalf of Ireland. They will address the rep-resentatives of their race in the United States on the outlook for liberty in our native land and will convey to them information on the plans, hopes and expectations of the national organization. All men who sustain the methods and the objects of the Irish people under the chosen leader, Charles Stewart Parnell, are cordially invited to become members of the league, in order, by the numbers and personnel of the delegates at the convention, to demonstrate the devotion of the Irish people in America to their motherland and her patient and heroic struggle for political and civil liberty. A NARROW ESCAPE.

Wreck of an Excursion Party Attending With Miraculous Escape.

A Canton, O., special says a point on the Valley railroad, two miles east of that place on the 20th, was the scene of a terrible wreck, in which one thousand excursionists miraculously escaped with injuries. The employes of Aultman & Co.'s machine ville, Illinois, to New York, and extending works had their annual picnic at Cuyahoga Falls and over 2,000 went on the excursion, made up of two trains of fifteen cars each. The first section arrived at Canton at 7:20 p. m., and while a hundred fathers, brothers and sisters were at the station waiting for friends and relatives on the second section. a hatless messenger came running down the track crying that the train had been wrecked and many killed and injured. The scene that followed was of the wildest description, and when the wreck was reached men, wo-men and children ran around wringing their hands and looking for their loved ones. Nine cars were off the track and in we often incline to deny its existence at we often incline to deny its existence at but it was impossible to know how many or who were killed.

The engineer says the wreck was caused by the track spreading. The engine passed sately but the first car jumped the track and eight others followed and ran alongside the track, throwing the occupants from side to in three feet of water. The doors were cut sewed on. Suddenly a desire seized open and the people got out. Later intellince shows that twenty-two persons were injured, but no deaths are reported, and the wounded are doing better than expected. No one was killed, and those missing and supposed to be under the wreck have turned The loss to the railroad company is about $3,000.

ORGANIZING FOR THE WORK.

Meeting of the Committee of Seven Ap pointed to Consider Plans.

The committee of seven appointed at the meeting of the democratic national committee to consider a plan for organizing a national committee for campaign work, met depths of a lovely shell. "My baby!" in New York after the national committee adjourned. All members or proxies were present. A general discussion took place and a conference with the congressional committee was held. It was estimated that there are seventy-eight congressional districts that are confessedly se, and to these the congressional committee should give their particular atten-Representatives Stevens, of New York; Murphy, of Iowa, and Rosecrans, of California, were appointed a standing committee of the congressional body to work with the national committee. LIEUT. GREELY.

A High Compliment to Him from a Dis tinguished Explorer.

Sir George Nares, the distinguished Arctic explorer, pays this tribute to Greely's success: "I want to felicitate Lieut. Greely on his safety and success in making the longest strides yet made toward a knowledge of the Arctic mysteries. My thoughts have been with Greely from the time he started, and now that we have got some account of his experience, I see that he has shown splendid leadership and wonderful strength and firmness of character. His keeping his crew together during such a long period and such trying times is a brilliant feat and worthy of every praise. I see that the underlip. Henry of Navarre, the galstores cached by my expedition proved useful to the Greely party, and I am very glad they did so, for that gives England another claim to a share in the glory of the achieve ment. But it must be admitted that Mr. Greely's achievement has placed America in the van of Arctic research up to the present moment. This eminence has hitherto be-longed to England, and whether she will be content to take second place remains to be seen. I hope not, and I shall be ready to try to carry the Union Jack further north the earth, and subjected to every vari-

CONGRATULATIONS

From the Queen on the Rescue of the Greely Party.

The president has received the following cable message from Queen Victoria: LONDON, July 21.—To the President of the United States, Washington: The queen heartily congratulates the president and people of the United States on the rescue of Lieutenant Greely and the gallant survivors of the Arctic expedition. She trusts favor-able reports have been received of the s.f-erers. THE QUEEN, Windsor Castle.

The president replied as follows:
To the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, Windsor Castle: The president, for himself and for the people of the United States, sincerely thanks the queen for her most welcome congratulations upon the rescue of Lieutenant Greely and the survivors of his party, and is happy to say that favorable reports are received as to their health. The president takes this occasion to express anew his high appreciation and that of the people of the United States for the timely gift of the "Alert," which gen-erous act added spirit and encouragement

Sentenced to Swing.

At Charleston, W. Va., Judge Guthrie held a special session of court and sentenced Charles Spurlock, a member of the "Hill boys" (Jesse James) gang, who murdered Alvin Woods and shot his father, Jack Woods, near St. Albans, in the latter part of April. Spurlock is to be hanged October 17th. His only request when sentence was pronounced was that he be baptized. Notwithstanding that he confessed to murder in the first degree, when brought out for trial, he said that he did so in fear of the mob and now denied ever having Charged With Cutting Rates.

Something of a flurry was produced in railroad circles at St. Louis by a circular stating that one of the eastern lines had cut through the month of August. It is claimed that this does not violate the agreement, as the freight goes from a point outside of St. Louis, but the case will probably be re-ported to the commissioner for decision.

Woman's Sixth Sense.

Here is a singular instance, says the Boston Courier, of the working of that subtle, fine, sixth sense which is apt to affect women more than nien, and water four feet deep. The cries of the in-jured were heartrending. Hundreds of all. A lady sat quietly sewing in her willing hands set to work and soon found sitting room, and in an inner chamber that not more than twent-five were injured; the nurse had just put the baby to sleep and laid her in basinet. As the nurse came out of her chamber she said to her mistress: "The little thing is asleep for three hours, ma'am, I'll warrant." The nurse went down stairs, side and finally jumped the track and landed and for about a minute the mother her to go and take the sleeping child from its crib. "What nonsense," she said to herself. "Baby is sound asleep. Nurse just put her down. I shall not go." Instantly, however, some power stronger than even the last urged the mother to go to her baby; and, after a moment, she rose, half vexed with herself, and went to the chamber. The baby was asleep in her little bed, safely tucked in with soft, white and pink blankets. One small hand was thrown above the little brown head. It was half open, the exquisite fingers slightly whispered the mother, adoring the lit-tle sleeper as mothers will. "My own little baby!" She bent over suddenly, a third time impelled by the mysterious force which was controlling her, and for no apparent reason took the sleeping baby in her arms and went swiftly into the other room. She had searcely crossed the threshold when a startling sound caused her to look back. Through a stifling cloud of thick gray dust she saw that the ceiling above the baby's cradle had fallen, burying the basinet and lying heaviest of all on the spot where, but for the mystic warning, her

A recent writer on heredity points out the fact that resemblances will crop out in families after centuries have elapsed. There is a picture of Governor Winthrop hanging up in the state house. When ex-Speaker Winthrop took his seat beneath the portrait, everyone was astonished at the resemblance between the old Puritan

The likenesses are extraordinary, and all, or nearly all, the lant French Monarch, assassinated by a fanatic priest, is reproduced in form and features by his descendant, the

This extraordinary people have been scattered over than the Stars and Stripes whenever I am ety of climate and local conditions; yet in Russia, Arabia, Morocco, Germany, England or the United States there is a family resemblance which cannot be mistaken.
