GREAT cracks have recently been noticed in the earth in Pennsylvania. Nature is preparing to let the democratie party crawl into its hole.

Young Corneel VANDERBILT, the favorite son of W. H. Vanderbilt, has drooped in Wall street the $5,000,000 left him by his grandfather, the commodore. This may explain why William H. | ious result in Mr. Blaine's own state will | buck, heifer ; J. E. Berger, rocking sold Mand S.

off ten per cent and the republican vote eleven per cent as compared to that of 1880. This is not particularly gratifying to anybody, nor is it at all alarming strong, and their desertion of Cleveland to the republicans. One per cent. one way on the other in the round up is of no significance in a state as one sided the ranks of the democracy. The caras is Vermont.

"LET the people rule," repeats the Creighton Pioneer. So say we; but we would first like "the people" to give a indications now are that the republican healthy indication of ability to run a little five-for-a-cent caucus or convention, before we see the reins of government handed over. One or two embryotic politicians usually get away with "the people" bag and baggage.

BEN BUTLER has a "bar'l," and the question that troubles him most is whether he will tap it. He had a conference with the greenback state central committee of Michigan on Monday, and instead of a red rose on a green leaf. the committee was to decide whether he should put $10,000 into the campaign in that state or not. As nothing further has been heard concerning the matter, it is very likly that the commutater, it is very likly that the commutate decided not to call on Butler for the $10,000, the decision no doubt being rendered at Beu's request. He knows paign in that state or not. As nothing THE spectacle of Pomeroy, the anti- eling. - Lariat.

THE latest bank failure has developed some unusually sensational features. The New Brunswick, New Jersey, national bank failed on Saturday, the deficiency being reported at from $200,-000 to $250,000. Mr. Hill, the cashier, who had been speculating with the money, promptly committed suicide instead of running away to Canada. And now comes the startling inteligence that President Runyon has followed the example of the cashier. This is a pretty quick way of settling their accounts. There are a host of other dishonest and speculating bank officials who ought to do the same thing. In their death Runyon and Hill exhibited a manly remorse at least for their breach of trust. They showed that they preferred death to a intended to steal a cent, but having been tempted into the whirlpool of speculation they continued to lose, hoping each day to retrieve their losses, and replace the funds they had appropriated to their own use. It is the same old story. They were unexpectedly caught short, the crisis came, and they were ruined. To them perhaps, their own disgrace and ruin were not so much as the ruin and distress they had brought Courier. upon confiding patrons and friends .-

As the campaign progresses the prospeets of a grand republican victory all along the line grows brighter. There is no longer a question about the result of the national contest and the interest now is centered in the legislative, state and congressional campaign. Nebraska is reasonably safe for all the republican candidates, state, congressional and district. Republicans, however, should not be caught napping, and fold their arms because their is a fair prospect of success, for there are combinations and trades of all kinds being made to defeat here and there a republican nominee False charges are filling the air and every means is being resorted to to induce republicans to desert their ranks. We advise republicans to be on their guard and lose no opportunity to put in good work for the success of the entire ticket. - Gazette-Journal.

MAINE comes to the front with from 12.000 to 16,000 republican majority. time. The returns show slight republican gains in every section of the state. The republicans elect a governor, four congressmen and the legislature. Maine has done nobly, and if the other republican states that vote before November do as well, James G. Blaine will be elected president on the 4th of November by an overwhelming majority. The glortrue in this campaign.—Bee.

THE colors of Ben Butler are a red rose upon a green leaf, but, as the Chi- dow style of beauty. cago Times says, "If General Butler" places a higher valuation upon the field than upon the flowers of the garden, to be consistent he should have told his followers in selecting a badge to adopt a crooked-necked pumpkin on a long vine, What Ben Butler doesn't know about farming isn't worth knowing.
