PRESIDENT-ELECT CLEVELAND has engaged rooms at the Arlington hotel in Washington from March 2, for himself, his brother, his three sisters, and his private secretary.

LAST Saturday afternoon, about 10 miles west of Creston, the Q. met with one of the worst accidents in the history of the road. The accident was occasioned by a broken rail, and the entire train, engine, baggage and mail cars excepted, was precipitated through a bridge. The sleeper, smoker and one day coach were burned. The loss of life and number wounded were heavy. The number of killed has reached seven, and wounded twenty-four. Of the kill we note Mrs. M. Farrell, wife of a section foreman on Roadmaster Phelan's division, west of McCook.

It has long since been a debatable question with many thoughtful Nebraskans, what to do with that errant old demagogue, Van Wyck, and since the latest prank of that amusing crank has come to light, the recent contemptible sling at the western part of this state, made by our senior senator in the halls of the senate, the conundrum assumes a more serious aspect, among Western Nebraskans at least. Many favor giving it away, but Van's erratic tendencies are so well known and understood, that that means of disposal is blocked. Many and sundry other plans have been presented and discussed and still the old gentlemen holds the fort and airs his mirth-provoking idiosyncrasies.

THE Bloomington Guard thus voices a want in that and neighboring localities: "The Republican valley is greatly in need of able bodied ministers of industrious habits, with sufficient push to supplement their small salaries by selling books, teaching music, short hand, book keeping, or some other useful occupation, filling up a part of their time—give their best time and strength to the legitimate work of the ministry for a year or two more or less until these weak churches become self-supporting." If we might put in a suggestion without offense, it would be that the Valley is in need of a widely distributed spirit of liberality that would cause the church members to cough up enough money to support their preachers.—Topics.

"THIS monster (the liquor traffic) has the world for house, the flesh for a mother, and the devil for a father. He stands erect, a monster of fabulous proportions. He has no head and cannot think. He has no eyes and cannot see. He has no ears and cannot hear. He has no heart and cannot feel. He has only an instinct by which to plan, a passion by which to allure, a coil by which to bind, a fang with which to sting, and an infinite maw in which to consume his victims. I impeach this monster and arraign him before the bar of public judgment and demand his condemnation in the name of industry robbed and beggared; of the public peace disturbed; of private safety gaged and garroted; of common justice violated and trampled; of the popular conscience debauched and prostituted; of royal manhood wrecked and ruined; and of helpless innocence waylaid and assassinated."

Atwood Citizen:
J. P. Mathes came over from McCook on Sunday, bringing supplies for Harry Alexander and the ranch up the creek. Mr. Mathes has some of the best kept cattle in the county on his ranch, which now is one of the best in the Northwest.

Benjamin Bird, of Benkelman, was in town this week. He is largely interested in stock, running the 25 and round top A brands. He has lost so far about twenty head that he knows of, and has been lifting cattle for several weeks. He will farm extensively next year.

J. C. Arbuckle came in from McCook on Sunday evening, and found his cattle doing splendidly. Mr. Arbuckle has some first class cattle, and they are doing unusually well this winter being in good flesh. His loss is next to nothing and with the care they are receiving they will come out in good shape in the spring. Energetic, wide-awake, and broad-gauged, there is no man in our town who has done more than Mr. Arbuckle to advance its interests and increase its prosperity.

THE storm that has been prevailing throughout the United States since Sunday night, is reported to be without a precedent; embracing a circle of not less than 8,000 miles in circumference, and varying greatly in different parts of the country. This winter will be a memorable one the world over.

We have in stock a full line of commercial stationery, also some invitation cards, regret cards and envelopes, calling cards, etc. We do the neatest work in Red Willow county. Call and we will convince you of that fact.

Dr. Gibson has purchased the store-room between Farley's meat market and Roger's store, and will occupy the same as a dental office.

Prof. Webster read an excellent article on Progress, showing that the only safety to School and State lies in the constant advancement of all concerned.

Mrs. C. L. Nettleton read a very interesting paper on History of English Literature, and urging upon teachers the necessity of inculcating in the minds of pupils the love for good literature.

Music by the McCook Quartette, "Sleep, my little one, sleep."
Miss Jamison, in an essay, gave us her "Occupations of Primary Pupils," and suggested that since a successful primary teacher should possess so many graces and virtues, the name Angelic Teacher might be used instead of School Marm.

Interesting and suggestive remarks were made by G. L. Laws and other citizens.
Adjourned till 9 A. M.

Morning Session.
Called to order by the President. Exercises opened by music, and prayer by Rev. Hall. The Association then proceeded to business.

The President appointed on Committee on Resolutions: M. H. Cavanaugh, Miss Boyle and Miss Jamison.

Class exercise on Arithmetic conducted by Miss Murphy. Her methods were well presented and successfully sustained.

Supt. Nettleton read an article on Institute work, giving the origin of Institutes, and citing various points of school law.

Mr. Stephenson tendered his resignation as President, but by unanimous request of the Association, it was withdrawn.

By request of Mr. Nettleton, Mr. Meserve made some very pointed and practical remarks, for which he was tendered a vote of thanks.

After a short recess, the committee on Resolutions made the following report which was adopted. The Association then adjourned.

shots followed in quick succession. A warrant was issued at Chicago for the arrest of E. A. Barnes, principal of one of the best schools, for his alleged maltreatment of a 12-year-old boy named King. The boy is covered with bruises and cuts caused by whippings with a large horse-whip. The principal alleges that the boy refused to perform some duty and refused to take off his overcoat, for which causes the punishment was more severe than otherwise.

They arrived at a cabin of Hugh Parks, an eccentric individual. He refused them entrance and the sheriff swore out a warrant for his arrest. Men hid near the cabin to watch. After
