A Question of Political Morals.

A special telegram sent out from Cincinnati furnishes a remarkable and noteworthy incident in current political history. It mainly consists of two letters, one to and the other from President Cleveland, copies of which are presented herewith:

JULY 24, 1885. TO THE PRESIDENT, WASHINGTON. DEAR SIR:—This community read the announcement of—to the—Judgeship with astonishment and regret, if not pain, and none were more astonished than those who signed his petition. And I regret to say that my name is to be found upon it. I have refused several, whom I know to be unfit, but I signed this one, thinking it would never be considered, and not for one moment believing that the appointment was possible. When first presented to me, I put him off and hoped to escape, but he came again with it, and with others, I signed it, thinking there was no chance for its reaching even a consideration. It was signed by many prominent men, who hated to refuse, and hoped and thought it would result in nothing. Yours very respectfully,

WASHINGTON, AUG. 1. DEAR SIR: I have read your letter with amazement and indignation. There is but one mitigation to the perfidy which your letter discloses, and that is found in the fact that you confess your share in it. I don't know whether you are a Democrat or not, but if you are, the crime which you confess is the more unpardonable. The idea that this administration, pledged to give the people better government and better officers, and engaged in a hand to hand fight with the bad element of both parties, should be betrayed by those who ought to be worthy of implicit trust is atrocious, and such treason to the people and to the party ought to be punished by imprisonment. Your confession comes too late to be of any immediate use to the public service, and I can only say that while this is not the first time that I have been deceived and misled by lying and treacherous misrepresentations, you are the first one who so frankly owned his grievous fault. If any comfort is to be extracted from this assurance you are welcome to it. Yours truly,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

The hot indignation of the President is fully justified. It is a "crime" which the correspondent confesses, and "atrocious" "that an administration pledged to give the people better government and better officers, and engaged in a hand-to-hand fight with the bad elements of both parties, should be betrayed by those who ought to be worthy of implicit trust." It was certainly improper and reprehensible for any reputable citizen to recommend an incapable and immoral person for a public position, and it is a pity that the blanks in the correspondence are not filled up, as the publication would be beneficial in having a tendency to discourage such utter disregard of responsibility on the part of signers of petitions.

The freedom with which people will affix their signatures, and necessarily in a measure their own reputations, to an office seeker's petition when they really have no interest in the matter, are ignorant of the character and merits of the applicant or even believe him to be an objectionable person in a deplorable practice. It is a dangerous and immoral habit. Every citizen should make it his duty to learn how and when to say "No" to those seeking endorsement. No good citizen could knowingly and should not unknowingly become a party to deceiving the President in matters of this kind.—Omaha Herald.

THE state republican central committee met in Omaha on Tuesday and called the state convention at Lincoln on the 14th of October. The committee was informed that in the opinion of the attorney general the law passed by the last legislature providing for a register of deeds in all counties having fifteen hundred inhabitants should be observed until it has been declared invalid by the supreme court, and counties must elect such an officer where the population is equal to the figures specified. The legislature intended to provide for a register of deeds in counties having fifteen thousand population, but the enrolling clerks left off a cypher with disastrous effect. As it now stands it takes the "howlers" out of the clerk's office in a majority of the counties in the state. But as the bill was signed as enrolled, the courts will probably not go behind the record, whatever may have been the actual intent of the legislature, and the law will have to stand for a couple of years. By that time the new registers may muster in strength sufficiently to make it popular and perpetual. The committee made the apportionment of members of the convention on the usual basis of one for each 150 votes for Secretary of State E. P. Roggen last November. Lancaster has twenty-seven delegates, and this time Douglas caps her with the unprecedented number of thirty-one. The convention will consist of 472 delegates, by far the largest that ever assembled in Nebraska.

Now comes Wiggins of Red Cloud who, like Mr. Thompson of the Democrat, would like to serve the dear people in the capacity of Receiver of the McCook Land Office. Wiggins looms up as a formidable competitor. Wiggy has taken his seat near the Democratic throne at Washington, and having pitched his tent there, will remain until he receives his verdict.

MATERIAL for another paper at Benkelman is now on the road. Mr. Pierce of Des Moines, Iowa, is projector of the enterprise. An outfit costing $1,200, so we are informed, will be put in.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Wm. Byfield, wife and son of South Pueblo, Colo., arrived in the city, Wednesday. Mr. Byfield has come to occupy his valuable land near the mouth of the Red Willow, known as the "Byfield hay lands."

Ed. Leavenworth, late with W. H. McCarty at Indianola, and now travelling for the Canfield Mfg Co. of Omaha, was in the city a few minutes, Monday, on his way west to Stratton and Benkelman.

Rev. W. S. Wheeler of the M. E. church occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church at Franklin, last Sunday morning. Rev. E. Thompson, D. D., President of the York College, preached in the evening.

Sheriff and Mrs. Thos. Bohrer of Rawlins county, Kansas, took dinner at the Eating House, Monday, on their way home from Hastings, where they have been passing a brief honeymoon visiting relations.

Chas. Noble and family go east on No. 40, Sunday evening. Mrs. Noble and daughter to Indianola, Iowa, where they will make quite an extended visit, and Mr. Noble to Chicago to purchase a fall stock of goods.

Mrs. R. R. Woods came in from the homestead near Bird City, Kas., Friday, and remained with her husband in the city over Sunday. Embracing purchased land and claims, R. R. has quite a body of land in Cheyenne county.

R. M. John of Pontiac, Ill., an old-time friend of Thos. Coffey, who has been visiting in the city for a number of days, started for home, Monday evening on No. 40. Mr. John is a prominent attorney and land man of Pontiac, besides being a hale fellow, well-met.

C. Clothier of New Jersey, who has been spending a few weeks with Messrs. Stokes and Troth at their ranch on the Willow, came down to the city, Monday afternoon, remaining here until the following morning, when he continued his journey toward his native state.

Ed. Wilson late manager of the circle ranch, spent two or three days in town, the close of the past week. Edwin looks pale and wan, the result of his arduous duties as successful manager, you know, of the "blasted" cattle ranch. Remorse is also doing sad work with Ed.'s manly physique.

Dr. J. C. Moore of Tekama, who is a victim of lung trouble, and Dr. Hasemeier of Louisville, who is a sufferer from asthma, have been in town the past week or ten days, seeking relief. Both gentlemen have been materially improved by our climate, and Dr. Moore will remain some weeks longer. Dr. Hasemeier goes to Denver and the mountains.

Old Settler's Meeting.

At a meeting of the President, Vice-Presidents and officers of the Old Settlers' Society, held on Monday, the 10th inst., at the office of R. H. Criswell in Indianola, Thursday, October 1st, was the day fixed and agreed upon for holding said meeting, the place to be Teeter's Grove and the Fair Grounds at Indianola, both of which have been tendered for the use of the meeting on that day. On motion G. S. Bishop, editor of the Indianola Courier, was unanimously invited to deliver the annual address on that occasion. An original poem will be read by Miss Ada P. Buck, other volunteer poems and essays will be cordially received, and are invited. After the meeting will call for short speeches from any or all old settlers who may have the inclination to tell their experience of the days when our fine shirts were made of flour sacks and our overalls of patches of various things; and we will hear descriptions of our food and style of living in the years 1873, 1874, 1875, 1876. Anyone having samples of old grasshopper garments may exhibit them, and both men and women are invited to do so. Although as its name implies it is an old settlers' meeting, all new settlers and everybody in the county are hereby invited to attend. The meeting is to be a basket picnic, and it is particularly requested that all old settlers bring plenty of cooked provisions and come early. The design and intention of the meeting is that it shall be a grand holiday for farmers and all others who are in sympathy with it. The date points of qualification for membership are from 1872 to 1877, both the years inclusive, but this year they will be extended a year or two farther. It is plain a new settler cannot be an old settler, but all are invited to come. And now old settlers and new settlers, friends and fellow-citizens, come and meet together on the appointed day, and let that day be given to recreation, to old-time memories, to love and friendship, to generosity and joy. It is to be a kind of love-feast day—the men are to shake hands, the women can kiss if they desire to and the more enthusiastic brothers and sisters may shout if they feel like it. R. H. CRISWELL, Secretary.

A MILKMAN'S MARRIAGE.
To a Maiden Fair From Merry Old England.

Among the arrivals in Plattsmouth, yesterday, was a young man from McCook, Neb., a dairyman at that place, and evidently a young man of thrift and means. When the 7 o'clock train from the east pulled in, among the passengers who alighted was a Miss Susanna Johnson, and the stamps and labels upon her baggage showed that she had come directly by the Anchor line from Basingham, Lincolnshire, England. The young man above mentioned, whose name by the way, is John Winter, was at the depot to meet her. They came directly up to one of our jewelry stores, where the young man shelled out some golden coin and instructed Miss Johnson to select her wedding ring. When she had made her choice the pair proceeded to the residence of Mr. S. A. Davis, where they were united in marriage at 9 o'clock last night. Rev. Esterbrook officiating. The young man had not seen his sweetheart for seven years, and was not by any means certain that he would know her when she got off the train. He recognized her, however, and in less than two hours their long-delayed happiness was consummated. A reporter was introduced to them at the depot this morning, and could see reflected in their eyes the joy that was in their hearts. They left on No. 1 for their future home at McCook.—Plattsmouth Journal.
