Why Do Doctors Prescribe Liquors? Because they know not what else to do; or because sometimes a little liquor serves to kindle the exhausted fires of digestion. But this liquor prescription is bad business for the patients, for it makes drunkards out of a large na-jority of them. Brown's Iron Bitters does not kindle a temporary fire. It nourishes, enriches, strengthens, purifies. It drives out debility and dyspepsia, and sets the invigorated system at work on a basis of health. He was poor and without connections. Still he studied, lived in great poverty.

A KISS DID IT.

The Bold Move of a Poor Student Brought Him a Fortune and a Beautiful Wile. From the Boston Transcript.

In the University of Upsala, in Sweden, lived a young student, a lonely youth, with a great love for studies, but without means for pursuing them. Still he studied, lived ingreat poverty, but keeping up a cheerful heart, and trying not to look at thefuture, which looked so grimly at him. His good humor and good qualities made him beloved by his young companions.

Once he was standing with some of them in the great square of Upsala, whiling away an hour of leisure, when the attention of the young man was arrested by a very young, elegant lady, who at the side of an elderly one, walked slowly over the place. It was the daughter of the Governor of Upsala, living in the city, and the lady with her was her governess. She was generally known for 'her' goodness and gentleness of character, and was looked upon with admiration by the students. As the young men now stood gazing at her, as she passed on like a vision, one of them exclaimed: "Well, it would be worth something o have a kiss from such a mouth." The poor student, the hero of our story, who was looking intently on that pure, angelic face, exclaimed as if by inspiration: "Well, I think I could have it." "What!" cried his friends in chorus, "are you crazy? Do you know her?" "Not at all," he answered; "but I think she would kiss me now if I asked her."

"What, in this place, before all our "In this place, before your eyes." "Freely?"

"Freely?" "Well, if she will give you a kiss in that manner I will give you $1,000!"

exclaimed one of the party. "And I!" "And I!" cried three or four others; for it so happened that several rich young men were in the group. Bets ran high on so improbable an event, and the challenge was made and received in less time then we take to relate it.

Our hero (my authority tells menot whether he is handsome or plain; I have my peculiar ideas for believinghe he peace and comfort of home. This was rather plain but singularly good ort of preaching produces conviction looking at the same time)—our hero if guilt in the bachelor conscience, and, looking at the same time)-our hero immediately walked off to the young is Mr. Webster has said, "guilt can lady and said: "Mein Fraulien, my not long keep its secrets."—St. Louis fortune is in your hands." He wanted to see the man who had dared to seek a kiss from liocese, was first promoted to this high his daughter that way, and whom she had consented so to kiss. He received nan who came from the same strange him with a scrutinizing brow, but after an hour's conversation was so pleased with him that he invited him to dine at his table during his studies at Upsala. Our young friend now pursued his studies in a manner which soon made him regarded as the most promising scholar in the university. Three years were not passed after that day of the first kiss when the young man was allowed to give a second one to the laughter of the Governor as his intended bride. He became later one of the greatest scholars in Sweden, as much respected for his learning as for his character. His words will endure forever among the works of science, and from his happy union sprang a family well known in Sweden at the present day, and whose wealth of fortune and high position in society are regarded as small things compared with wealth of goodness and love.

A Campaign Secret Given Away, In the campaign of 1884 the two canlidates for governor in a "pivotal" western state arranged for a series of bint discussions. Both men were popilar, both of fine appearance and were so well matched in mental force and as prators that the contest between them promised to be a magnificent one. For leveral weeks the scales balanced in the cure of all nasal, throat and lung venly.

But one day the brilliant Republican andidate came up ailing. He seemed overcome and spoke laboredly. The next day he was even less effective. ater he was compelled to ask his opponent for a postponement of certain ippointments, which was granted. Be-ore the campaign ended he had aban-loned the field altogether.

Clubs and Bachelors.

Some have claimed that their keen yes caught a glimpse of impending langer to society in the multiplication of clubs and the contemporaneous inrease in the number of confirmed bachdors. CARENES COLL

An Heroic Cure for the Opium Habit.

A pathetic story has lately come to my knowledge of a young man, an undergraduate in an eastern college, who had become a victim of the hypodermic use of morphia. He went with his father, who was engaged in the lumbering interest, into the primeval forests of Maine, hoping that during his stay of months with the wood choppers he would beable to fight out the battle of gradual abandonment successfully. If, instead of five, 500 views should be taken a few econds apart, the whole could be aranged, on the same principle as a welltnown children's toy, in a swiftly rerolving series, so as to represent the whole scene just as it occurred. The only difficulty in making sets of views ike these would be to have the photogapher ready with his camera and a set of plates just at the right moment, and to prevent him and his machine from blowing away with the rest of the things.
