"I see your town has again drawn capital prize in Louisiana Lottery," was sufficient to set our "city on the hills" in a blaze of excitement. An indescribable hunt for ticket-holders ensued. Pocket-books, daybooks, desks, safes, trunks, valises, satchels, everything was rummaged and tickets brought forth. For a time suspense prevailed, and then the discovery was made that only one list had been received at the postoffice, addressed to S. H. Bettys. Mr. Bettys and J. M. Mr. Bettys informed us that he had been holding a ticket regularly in The Louisiana State Lottery for four or five years, with the exception of a few monthly drawings, and he would have invested in them if he need of the dollar. I always recognized that the chance of drawing the capital prize was meagre, but felt my chances were as good as anybody else's. My faith is rewarded after long years of deprivations by receiving a sufficiency of money which, if judiciously invested, will kee; me in comfortable circumstances the remainder of my days." Many are the congratulations he is receiving on his streak of good fortune.

Since Montgomery drew $15,000 in April, 1884, and even since Bettys and McDowell | Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt. drew a similar amount in this month's drawing, we have received numerous letters from persons in several States and Territories inquiring if the drawing were genuine. The Last Effort the Best.

"This is a world of effort, we know, Fanny, and we must never yield when so much depends upon us," Mrs. Chick said to Mrs. Dombey as the latter lay dying soon after little Paul had been ushered into the world. But Mrs. Dombey could not make an effort and "drifted out upon the dark and unknown sea that rolls round all the world." Mrs. Chick was not an agreeable character and no words of hers could rouse the gentle mother's spirit.

"We will make one more effort," said Mrs. O. Thornton, of Stuart, Ia., to her husband when he was utterly discouraged by sickness. Mr. Thornton made the effort, and why it was necessary for him to make it he tells as follows:

"I had been subject to the rheumatism for several years, it often confining me to the house for two or three months at a time. During my last attack I was entirely helpless and could not do so much as to feed myself. I had been in this condition for six weeks and was getting very much discouraged, as nothing I had already done had even given me relief. My wife noticed the advertisement of Athlophoros about the first time it appeared in our papers. She said to me:

"Well, here is another remedy for rheumatism. We will make one more effort.' "I took my first dose about 6 o'clock and almost directly went to sleep. Not having had any sleep for three or four nights the relief was gladly received. I slept soundly until 9 o'clock, when my impure blood, liver complaint, or biliouswife awoke me to take another dose. I had been for several weeks lying on a lounge. When I awoke to take my second dose I found that I could move without pain. I said to my wife:

"'I guess I will get up and go to bed, and did, getting a good sound sleep. The next day I was up and could walk around. I continued with the medicine until I had used three bottles. In five days after I had taken my first dose of Athlophoros I went to work and I have never lost a day's work from rheumatism since. That was over a year ago."

"You probably spent considerable money before that in doctoring yourself with different kinds of medicines, Mr. Thornton?" "Yes, I did. If I had known of Athlophoros four years ago it would have saved me much suffering and money for medicine, as well as the time I lost in not being able

"Don't you think you ran a risk in going to work so soon after such a long sickness? "I did, no doubt, but I felt assured that I now had a remedy that would soon knock the rheumatism out of me if I had it again. I felt anxious to go to work after being kept from it so long. Athlophoros has done for me what nothing else could do, and I take pleasure in recommending it to others. It has proved itself in my case to be all that it is claimed to be."

Mr. Thornton is employed in the Chicago, the genuine fairness of The Louisiana State | Rock Island and Pacific Railway shops at pleasure in telling the story of his cure and often says that that "one more effort" was the best he ever made, and that he owes life probably to Athlophoros.
