Ten pages this week

We are glad to announce that our first issue was numbered over 1,000 copies.

Guard well the line where independence ceases and impertinence commences.

The residence building boom is very encouraging, with a half dozen on tapis, this week.

The Berger and Scott buildings on Main Avenue are moving along toward completion.

McCook is fast becoming a city of homes, in which her citizens take a pardonable delight.

The Frees & Hocknell Lumber Co. have built a large lime house in the rear end of their yard.

A neat, new awning now shuts out Old Sol's inquisitive, morning rays at the Paragon drug store.

The Israel property on Madison street has been purchased by Thos. McInroy, who held a mortgage thereon.

We give more reading matter than usual, although the demand upon our advertising columns is greater.

The blooded colts now under training in this city can't be duplicated in any town of our population in the state.

The hardware store of Coleman Bros. on West Dennison street was greatly improved by a new front, the first of the week.

The city council held a meeting, last night, at which a number of ordinances were passed and some bills allowed and others preferred.

The families of Harry Tyler and Fred Chaffe, last week, moved out onto claims near Haigler, where they will remain during the summer.

We are informed that the people of Indianola have given up the project of building a bridge east of that town, over the Republican.

With the fashionable, or at least prevailing, pen clip, it is difficult to discern the "noblest creation" from the less prepossessing monkey.

Quite a proportion of the populace, male and female were they, were playing "hokey," Sunday, with most disastrous(?) consequences to the funny tribe.

It has been suggested that roller skating and velocipede riding on the sidewalks in the business portion of the city has become a "tarnel nuisance."

Everybody would be delighted to see the McNeely building under way again, and it is to be hoped that Mr. McNeely will consider the matter favorably.

A store is being established at the Falls of the Frenchman on the Fisher ranch. Squire Fisher is up there now putting in the counters and shelving.

The family of Louie Wilson, a B. & M. brakeman, was visibly augmented, on Saturday, by the arrival of a brand new baby of 11 pounds avoidupois.

Engine No. 76 has been taken to Plattsmouth for repairs, and Jack Rawlings is now pulling the throttle on No. 134, one of the late and larger engines.

On May 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris moved into their pleasant little home on North Main, where they will shortly be cosily established under their own "vine and fig tree."

The crossings on Main and Dennison need repairing. In their present condition they are disastrous to vehicles, as in fact are they all over the city, by reason of their height.

Don't read Hayden & Co.'s mammoth adv. on the eighth page. They have stupendous bargains in every department, and want everybody to know it. "Call and look them over."

A consignment of three car-loads of polled Angus cattle, two and three, for the Harlem Cattle Co., of Hitchcock county, passed through this station, yesterday afternoon. They were beauties.

Services will be held in the Congregational church, next Sunday morning and evening, by Rev. J. W. Kimmel of the Lutheran denomination. A cordial and general invitation is extended.

The pupils of Red Willow school observed Arbor Day by planting over a hundred trees—the gifts, at that, of the children, who seem to be taking great interest in their school house and surroundings.

The speed programs for the fall races are now ready for distribution. The premiums offered are such as to absolutely guarantee as fine races as can be seen in the state. Address the Secretary, F. M. Kimmell, McCook, Neb., for copies.

The Omaha Daily World of April

It is not without reason that the Omaha Daily World of April has made by James LaTourrette of St. Louis, with the creditors of W. C. LaTourrette of our city.

It might not be amiss to remark that for a real dry country it does, in a moment of supreme forgetfulness, manage to rain about once a day, just now, while all nature rejoices and puts forth her brightest hues.

Among the new residences in course of construction are those of Miss Alice Murphy on North Marshall street, Sam Rogers on North Manchester street and F. L. McCracken on the hill in the northeastern part of the city.

School opened in the new school house at Red Willow, on Monday, with Miss Ada P. Buck in charge. The people of Red Willow have cause to be proud of their new structure, as it is, next to McCook and Indianola, the best in the county.

Has anybody observed that unsightly mass of rubbish, in front of the McNeely lot on Main Avenue, diminishing very rapidly? We haven't. Our main business street would look unfamiliar and strange without that miserable debris, wouldn't it?

WILL BUILD SOON—C. P. Rinker has purchased the lot just north of L. Roy Allen, on Monroe street, and will build a residence thereon in the near future. He has already had the lot plowed, trees planted, etc., in the line of improvement.

THE TRIBUNE prizes infinitely more highly the commendation and support of one honest, honorable citizen, than it cares for the sneers, vituperation and opposition of all the black-legs within the corporate limits. You pay your money and take your choice.

The Congregational social held at the residence of Albert Noren, last Friday evening, was enjoyed by a company of over forty persons, who passed the time until a late hour with games and other means of social pleasure, which have been characteristic of these assemblages.

The Agricultural Society is preparing to get out their premium list, and will shortly commence the canvass for advertisements to defray the expense of printing the list. Our people will doubtless respond to the call with their usual liberality, and thus help a very considerable item of the society's expense.

Twelve comfortable box stalls have been completed at the Republican Valley Horse Breeders' Association's grounds for the accommodation of horses, which will be trained on the track at this place during the summer, for the fall races, which already give promise of being as fine as any in the state of Nebraska.

This unique and suggestive inscription might have been seen on an immigrant's wagon that pulled through the city on last Saturday afternoon: "Smith, Jackson & Co. Busted before they left. Dont trust them. Beware of pick-pockets inside." Laconic, if naught else, and generally observed and remarked upon.

HOWARD LUMBER CO.—Messrs. Hallack & Howard have formed a stock company, (embracing some Chicago capital,) and have accordingly incorporated under the name and style of The Howard Lumber Co. The company is now stronger than before, owning their own mills, etc., and representing additional capital.

Saturday evening, a stranger, somewhat the worse for "Obejyful," in his meanderings through Small's barn on Manchester Avenue, cultivated a too intimate acquaintanceship with a horse's heels, to the slight detriment of the aforesaid stranger's personal appearance, though without serious injury, fortunately.

With a fine grist mill in sight, two bridges—one on the east and one on the west—would be paying investments, and would draw trade from quarters heretofore inaccessible. Already are the people on the Upper Driftwood and in the Ash Creek region jubilant over the prospect of nearer communication with the metropolis.

While our citizens are exhibiting commendable enterprise in the matter of improving their properties by planting trees, etc., would it not be a proper prank for the Lincoln Land Co. to do something in that line by fulfilling that $1,500 contract for planting trees, shrubbery, etc., in the block designated as the park. Everybody is anxiously looking for that event to transpire.

Wilcox & Fowler are in receipt of some extra fine Valencia Sweet Oranges.

T. J. Pickett, the talented and venerable journalist, of the Bloomington Guard, was a Saturday tourist in this commercial centre.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pate and the little ones went down to Blue Hill, Saturday evening, on a short visit to friends, returning Monday.

G. W. Daniels, wife and child came down from Culbertson, yesterday evening, on a visit to friends, returning home on 39, to-day.

Fred Snow went east on No. 40, Saturday evening, on a business tour, embracing Hastings, Beatrice, Steele City, and other points.

W. W. Palmer and Samuel Scott went up to Imperial, Chas. county, Sunday, on a prospecting tour, returning home, yesterday morning.

Rev. Harris of Oberlin, who has some residence property in the city, spent a few days, the first of the week, looking after his interests here.

F. H. Fowler went up to Yuma, Colo., the first of the week, to open up and arrange the stock of goods, which the firm is putting in at that point.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Welborn and Mrs. Geo. Hunter of Indianola spent a few days in the city, the first of the week, the guests of Mrs. George Hocknell.

Miss Ella M. Irvin went up to her claim near Haigler, this noon. The families of Fred. Chaffe and Harry Tyler occupy claims in the same section.

A. E. Menger, wife and family, of Gilman, Ill., visited J. A. Wilcox, last week. From here they went up to Trenton, where they will probably locate.

Sam Pennington of Mount Pleasant, Iowa, arrived in the city, last Friday, on a short visit to his old school-mate, John Doner of the P. O. news stand.

W. M. Anderson, a former Exeterite, now traveling auditor for Frees & Hocknell Lumber Company, of McCook, was in town, Saturday.—Exeter Enterprise.

H. W. Pike, the "Potato Bug man" of Akron, was in the city, Tuesday, en route to Cambridge on business. Bro. P. is holding up at the Commercial, to-day.

President Franklin of the Citizens Bank now draws the ribbons over one of the finest horses in Red Willow county, with a 2:50 gait, and as kind and gentle as a kitten.

Judson Babcock came up from Cambridge, Tuesday on 39, returning on 40. We understand that Mr. Babcock has decided to remain and engage in business at Cambridge.

Will Cramer returned on Sunday from a three week's trip to different points east, including New York City, and is now occupying his old position as clerk at the Commercial.

J. L. Taylor, who went to Akron, recently, to engage in business, returned to the city, Monday, and has resumed his old position in Spalding's drug store. Akron didn't move fast enough for him.

Geo. W. Colvin came up from Arapahoe, yesterday, to look after the contest of his timber claim east of town, in which one Dever is contestant, which transpires before the local officials, to-day.

L. M. BRICKEY & CO.,

THE CLOTHIERS.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—The Board of Education organized, Monday evening, with J. E. Cochran, Esq., as President of the Board, H. Trowbridge, Vice President, and W. E. Dauchy, Secretary.

While no formal action was taken in the matter of teachers for the ensuing term, yet the retention of Prof. Webster, as principal, seems to be unanimously agreed upon. The Board hold another session on Monday evening next, when the hiring of teachers, the consideration of the advisability of making application to the faculty of the State University for admission on their University list, and the course of study, etc., will occupy its attention. In this connection, we understand that all the action required is formal application to the faculty, as the necessary examination papers, etc., have been already considered.

Death invaded the home of Perry Jones on Ash Creek, Monday morning, and claimed as his victim their 14-year-old son, who has been a sufferer for sometime with heart disease. Dr. Kay was called to see the deceased on Sunday night, but becoming lost in the Egyptian darkness that prevailed, did not reach the house until early the following morning, after the child's spirit had returned to its Maker. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of that entire community.

At the residence of Squire Colvin, just east of town, yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. William Russell of our city, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. The event was a pleasant, though quiet, one and was only participated in by members of the family and a few near acquaintances. A number of presents, tokens of love to the aged couple, were received, a list of which we were unable to secure before going to press, to-day.

On Saturday morning, No. 2, which was a number of hours late, run into a hand-car loaded with ties, in the "narrow-gauge" near Culbertson, demolishing the car, scattering the ties promiscuously, and knocking the headlight of Engineer Hunt's locomotive clear over the baggage car. The occasion was an interesting, we might say absorbing one, for a moment, though the damage to property was light.

We understand that the grand jury will investigate the Democrat's election day episode. If the Democrat can't afford a genuine $5,000 libel suit, it may have the felicity of growing eloquent over that interesting and potential feature of the city election, in which they are generally supposed to have figured.

There are a number of places around the city that need cleaning up most imperatively. The chief of police might bring this matter to the notice of a number of property-owners in the business portion of town with good good effect.

The B. & M. Surgeon was ordered down the road, Tuesday, to investigate an alleged injury. We have not heard his report. These railroad men have a happy faculty of keeping their business to themselves.

The new town of Bartley, between Cambridge and Indianola, is an absorbing topic. Even Bishop of the Courier is delighted and wants to pay a bonus to start a newspaper there.

The firm of Walsh & Boyd are putting up another residence in the northeast part of the city.

Don't fail to speak a good word for the fair. October 5, 6, 7 and 8.

MARRIED.

FLANNIGAN—MAHONEY—At the Catholic church, Tuesday, May 4th, 1886, John F. Flannigan, of this city, and Mrs. Maggie Mahoney, late of Chicago, Father Cullen officiating.

In the evening a number of friends of the happy couple met at the section house, where an excellent supper was partaken of and the light fantastic tripped until a late hour.

Add. Coyan, an old C. B. & Q. engineer, years ago employed on the middle division between Ottumwa and Creston, but now guiding an iron horse between McCook, Nebraska, and Denver, arrived in this city, yesterday, and will visit a few days with his sister, Mrs. Riley. Add. used to whip all the leaves off the trees between Albia and Tyrone, in the night across the intervening territory, and if the 253, carrying a full gauge of steam, didn't "git there" on time, railroad history has failed to record the incident.—Creston Advertiser.

Rev. George Dungan of the Congregational church went up to Akron, this noon, to be absent a number of days.
