LIVES of bank clerks all remind us
We can make our lives all crime:
And, departing, leave behind us
Not a solitary dime.

SENATOR VAN WYCK's personal organ solemnly calls attention to the recent democratic success in Oregon and plainly intimates that, if the republicans nominated by the approaching convention in Nebraska are not of its kidney, the same reverse will be sustained here. Its threat is vain. There are worse things than defeat and keener pangs than disappointment. To bend before unavoidable disaster is one thing. To bow the supple knee to arrogant faithlessness quite another.

MR. RANDALL, not inaptly called the "Judas" of democracy, sat serenely composed when the vote was taken in the house on Thursday on the question of considering the Morrison tariff bill, indicating by his manner his entire confidence in the result and his self-satisfaction with what he had done to bring about that result, while the clerical-looking McKinley, of Ohio, presented a picture of absolute complacency and unconcern. These adroit champions of the tariff had certainly done their work well, and are entitled to the satisfaction of their temporary triumph. Meanwhile Morrison has given notice that he will renew the effort to have his bill considered on next Tuesday, not because he expects it will meet with any better fortune there, but to more surely brand those democrats who in voting against its consideration repudiated the pledge of their party to give the country tariff reform.

"OUR JEEMS" gave Sparks, the bump-tious land commissioner, a thorough ventilation in the house, the other day.

SPARKS is evidently subsiding, "until the clouds roll by," when he will make another "break"—with his wonted perennial freshness.

ABOUT the only way the profession can keep even with lunatics and thugs that now abound and thirst for journalistic gore is to shoot and shoot early and straight.

OTTO, the new King of Bavaria, like his brother, the late King Louis, is weak-minded. The reigns of government will therefore remain in the hands of Prince Luitpold, regent. They need an infusion of fresh blood into the royal family badly.

It is claimed that a Nebraska jury was recently polled and was found to stand eleven for Van Wyck to one for all others. This is the hardest blow yet struck at the jury system and goes far to confirm what has often been claimed by many people, that it is an impediment to justice.

THERE is nothing in the way now to hinder the Republican Valley from going into the state convention with a solid vote and will enable her to name a candidate for the state ticket, and that place will be about the size of Secretary of State, and the man to fill it the most popular man in the valley, Hon. G. L. Laws, Register of the McCook land office.—Franklin Echo.

THE breach between President Cleveland and Governor Hill is daily growing deeper and wider. Hill holds Cleveland and his mugwumpian ideas in pure bourbonic contempt, while the President looks upon Hill as the only man who can possibly unhorse him for re-nomination in 1888. If Cleveland really does not himself desire the nomination he will use his utmost endeavors to beat Hill out of the New York delegation. That he can do this for any other man than himself is questionable. Hill is lucky and plucky, and if he goes in for the persimmon will work a very long pole.

It has long been a conviction of all fair-minded people that General Black, commissioner of pensions, is a demagogue pure and simple, and his most recent appearances before the senate investigating committee have served to confirm this conviction and add to the number of those entertaining it. From the day of his induction into office Black has lost no opportunity to manifest his strong partisan feeling, and he has been more conspicuously offensive in this respect than perhaps any other man in the government service, although the bureau of which he is the head ought to be the least subject to the influences of partisanship. It will be very much like self-stultification on the part of the president if he permits Black to remain in office after the exposure of his conduct and character that has been made by the senate investigation.

Wiley & Walker the McCook Druggists, positively assert that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the safest and best treatment for griping pains, diarrhoea, cholera morbus or summer complaint, and THEY KNOW! It is not only recommended but guaranteed, and is just such a medicine as should be kept in every house.
