"All political parties are made up of foxes and geese—about five thousand geese to one fox."

"The great beauty of charity is privacy; there is a sweet force even in an anonymous penny."

GOVERNOR FORAKER is reported as saying "that the American public must have either a hero or a victim."

THE President remarked to a visitor: "I am tired." The people by a large majority would be glad to see him take a long rest.

"The great mass of mankind can only gaze and wonder; if they undertake to think, they grow listless, and soon tire out."

MR. BLAINE is reported to have once said, in reply to a remark: "In politics there is no gratitude. Politics means ambition and success."

NEAL DOW says, "Democrats are showing a remarkable capacity for blundering, and I believe Republicans will again elect the President."

A BUTLER COUNTY aspirant for legislative honors is described as soft-handed, palms uncalloused by toil, parts his hair in the middle, big mouth and bellows, and the possessor of two galls.

"STORMY JORDAN," who kept the notorious saloon at the Ottumwa (Iowa) depot, whose sign bore the appropriate legend, "The Road to Hell," has been jailed for violation of the prohibition law, and will serve a sentence of 300 days. "Stormy" has been converted to the belief that prohibition does prohibit—sometimes.

In passing sentence upon a negro rapist, the other day, Judge Davis of Chillicothe, Mo., expressed the following "unprofessional," though eminently sound doctrine: "It is well for you, sir, that the offense you are guilty of was not committed in my family. If it had been you would not be here now to bother this court. You would have answered for your crime long ago. You would have been at another bar of justice now. Mr. Clerk, give him four years."

THE latest spook story is to the effect that a man who cheated a contractor died soon after. His ghost came back and apologized for the villainy committed in the flesh. Not much good in that story. If the spook had brought back the money and paid it to the defrauded man, it would have been a great hit. But a spook that only comes back and fesses up is of no material advantage to the world and should be frowned down.—Topics.

THE evil days have come when the dealer shall say, I am sick of this. At the rising of the sun he goeth to his place and no man interfereth with his slumbers. He sitteth all day like a bottle of castor oil, but the people of the shekels come not nigh him. He adverteth not his wares and his face is forgotten on the face of the earth. Who hath dried apples? Who hath gingham? Who hath baking powder without end? He that knoweth not the way to the printer.—Exchange.

THE way in which Cleveland is vetoing pension bills clearly indicates that he is not the soldier's friend, and this fact will be remembered by the boys in blue in 1888.

THAT offensive smell that is spreading over the country comes from one of the rottenest administrations that ever disgraced the American people.—Indianapolis Journal.

THE Nebraska press excursion, by reason of inability to procure Pullman cars, has been postponed until about the middle of August, the date to be announced hereafter. The trip may possibly extend to California.

THE veto is Cleveland's strong card, because it is the only thing he can do that resembles originality. He is working it to the fullest extent for the reason that he has somewhere imbibed the impression that he can thereby convince the country that he is a four-pry statesman of a new brand.—Detroit Tribune.

CLEVELAND continues sending in his vetoes of bills, for the relief of old soldiers, with the intelligence and complacency of a stall-fed ox. And thus is insult added to injury to the nation's heroes by the rotund hulk, who smelled the smoke of battle afar off, while those he now sneers at were fighting their country's battles.

POLITICIANS in Ohio are puzzled to know why, under Democratic rule, the Penitentiary of the State always runs in debt, and under Republican rule has a surplus. The last Democratic year it came out $200,000 short. This year, under Republican rule, it pays its way and has money to spare. It may be because Democrats are made to work harder.

COMMISSIONER SPARKS has just received another clear knock down from Secretary Lamar and it practically settles the practice for the settler against everything involved in Sparks' orders and circulars as to the order of proof in cases of entries. Mr. Lamar decides that where an entry has been reported as fraudulent by one of Sparks' spies, and a hearing has been ordered by Sparks, the "special agent" making the report must make his report first and it must be sufficient to make a prima facie case. Until that is done the entrymen need make no proof whatever and when in such a case, if the agent fails the local land officers must dismiss the case and kick the special agent out of court. This is precisely what Congressman Laird has been contending for all winter and it is just what Sparks has by orders and circulars attempted to refuse to the entrymen. Laird is ahead by a large majority. THE TRIBUNE is constrained to take a little stock in Lucius Quintus Cassius, who is beginning to show some indications of horse sense, if not of transcendent legal lore. As to the yelet general, he is no less the superlative long-earned quaruped he has ever been since his induction into office.

Wiley & Walker the McCook Druggists, positively assert that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the safest and best treatment for griping pains, diarrhoea, cholera morbus or summer complaint, and THEY KNOW! It is not only recommended but guaranteed, and is just such a medicine as should be kept in every house.
