THE Senatorial Convention meets at Culbertson, August 26th.

PERSONS unacquainted with the inner facts might suppose the wet goods organ to be honestly supporting G. L. Laws for secretary of state, perforce of local pride, or some other purely disinterested motive. Those cognizant of the real status of affairs, however, understand full well that the saloon pigot ostensibly supports Mr. Laws in the hope that he may secure the nomination, thus making a vacancy in the U. S. land office at this place, which "the man Friday" vainly hopes to have his bloated, guzzling partner at Hastings fill. Hence the whyness of the pigots, disinterested urging.

HON. G. L. LAWS, of McCook, will go into the state convention on the 29th of September as a candidate for Secretary of State with the solid delegations of the Republican Valley district at his back. This will be a support of such proportions as cannot fail to commend the attention of that assembly to a worthy and just claim. Mr. Laws has been a wheel horse in republican ranks during a long residence in Western Nebraska, he is highly respected citizen, a competent business man, an old veteran whose badge is a cork leg, and he comes up as the unanimous choice of a large section of the state rightly entitled to ask recognition.—Hastings Nebraskan.

As evidence accumulates THE TRIBUNE of a verity is becoming solicitous lest its aged contemporary at the county-seat is gradually dropping into that unhappy state, designated in modern parlance as innocuous desuetude. We recently, with a great flourish of trumpets, announced to his constituency the return of its editor to the realm of politics; we did so with sensations akin to those the sorrowing father experienced upon the return of the prodigal son, with the joy that the sad-eyed astronomer welcomes the reappearance of a brilliant star in the heavens, which have been a dull and uninviting void since the b. s.'s fleeting, yet transcendently majestic and victorious march through the firmament. It was with feelings such as we have above faintly attempted to depict that we welcomed the return of Bro. Bishop into the boiling, seething maelstrom of political life in which he is want to disport himself with the ease, grace and dignity of a storming. For this our mercenary quill propeller rewards us with, "Are you paid for it?" O, base, ungrateful man, not in silver and gold, but in seeing Richard himself once more, remitting and retaining, raising up and laying low, herein is glory, honor, wealth and happiness.

THE report that a new extradition treaty between the United States and Great Britain has been signed still lacks official confirmation. Unofficial advices, however, from both Washington and London announce that such a treaty has been arranged, though it may not go to the senate at the present session. The present treaty stipulation between the two countries authorize extradition only in cases of murder and forgery. It is understood that the new treaty enlarges the list of extraditable crimes, so that defaulters, embezzlers and dynamiters will be included among the criminals that may be delivered over to the authorities of the country whose laws they shall violate. It is remarkable that such an arrangement was not made long ago, in view of the asylum offered by Canada to criminals from the United States, but it would appear that it had to wait until England felt the necessity of such a treaty as a means of protection against the dreaded dynamiter. The treaty would be in the interest of justice, and both countries would derive advantage from it.

THE senate appears to be waking up a good deal lately and the debates are beginning to be remarkable for their personalities, rivaling the rows in the house. There are indications that presidential ambitions are not wholly disconnected with these outbursts of ill-feeling. Edmunds has had some sharp mills with Logan and Ingalls, and Ingalls struck out viciously for Miller's countenance the other day, and provoked the New York millionaire to the declaration, a la Cobb, that he didn't dare to say it out doors. But it stopped there and neither gentleman made a movement toward the door to have it out according to the Marquis of Q's. justly celebrated rules. Of course the senate should show some life, but perhaps it is overdoing it in this sudden revival.—Journal.

THE fact that nearly every member of the house is of the opinion that the rules of that body don't take cognizance of fisticuffs indulged in by members in the lobbies, is a pretty good indication that they are rather glad that Mr. Laird gave Mr. Cobb a lesson in good manners. According to all the evidence in he had needed an admonition. He has been travelling on his muscle ever since he has been in the house and has taken great pleasure in using brutal language towards those with whom he came in contact in debate. He will be quieter hereafter.

THE House of Representatives stands firm in the matter of the repeal of the pre-emption, timber-culture and desert land laws, and refuses to concur in the senate's amendment. So the probabilities are that the laws will not be repealed at all.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.

The singing at Philip Strines' was well attended.

The McCroskie family started for Colorado this week, we understand.

The school house is plastered now and you need not be afraid to lean against the wall.

S. Lincoln is having a windmill put up on his claim. It makes the fourth mill on the divide.

Sunday school and preaching were well attended, last Sunday. We were well pleased to see so many from Vailton.

The Matthews tree claim sold, last week, to a Mr. Allen from the eastern part of the state for $800. It is about six miles southeast of Culbertson and eleven miles southwest of McCook. It is a splendid piece of land and well worth the money. Z. Y. X.

BANKSVILLE.

John Winsor has gone east on a business trip.

Jesse Q. Goodwin is visiting friends in Kansas, this week.

T. W. Benjamin has disposed of his mules, to his brother Harry. Now please give the mules a rest.

Clinton Ely proposes to erect a new house immediately. He says it is for his own special use. No ladies need apply.

Dame rumor says, Charlie Bosworth proposes to renounce the title of "bach" and assume the more responsible one of "benedict."

James McKelvey is preparing to return to Saline county. Jim says "baching" on a homestead in the "far west" has no charms for him. Same here Jim, shake.

John Relph, a brother of our genial fellow citizen, Wm. Relph, is visiting with the latter. He is from off the Arkansas river in Kansas. His son, Frank, accompanies him.

Miss Lulu Billings departs soon for Hayes Centre, where she will visit for a short time, after which she proposes to return to Beatrice, her old home. "There is somebody waiting for me." Eh, Lu?

The fellow from off the Beaver, who took a new bridle from Harry Wade's horse and left an old one, at the dance at Mr. Dodge's, had better return the same, as he is known, and will find it a warm climate, if he does not follow our advice.

Harvesting, with the exception of a few late pieces, is finished, and stacks of golden grain may be seen rising like sentinels over the prairie. Everybody seems satisfied with the prospective yield, which is a good quality and promises a good quantity.

Saturday and Sunday nights we were favored with a few sprinkles from the breezy firmament. We think "old probs" corps must have become infected with the disease common to the labor unions and called for "less hours and more wages." Hope they will soon capitulate.

Thursday evening, the 15th, was the time of a most enjoyable gathering at Squire Dodge's, where were gathered all the elite of the community. All expressed themselves as highly pleased with their entertainment. The object of the party was a farewell to J. A. French who proposed to return to his old home, but we are informed that he has concluded to remain among us. Your head is level Lou; but we can't conceive what made you change your mind.

SOUTH-SIDE DOINGS.

W. T. Stone was up on the Medicine, last week.

Jake Mundal has been quite sick, but is on the gain now.

W. T. Stone rides behind a nobby new harness now a days.

Tim and Jack Hanam have gone over to the new railroad to work.

Bob. Mundal caught a young antelope, a few weeks ago. It is now as tame as a kitten.

Will Butterfield, brother-in-law of Joe Mundal, was down from Hayes Centre, last Thursday.

C. H. Jacobs says, when he looks at his smashed finger, he will let someone else stop the next runaway.

Marsh Phillippi, an old timer of this place, is back again looking for a piece of land. Couldn't stay away could you, Marsh?

The school board of district No. 8 settled up with the old treasurer, the 12th, and F. H. Preston, the new treasurer took possession.

The shunks seem to have a grudge against C. H. Jacobs. They dug into his hen-coop again, last Wednesday night, and killed 17 more fine chicks and stole a steel trap.

NORTH DIVIDE DOTS.

Harvesting is nearly over with us, as the binders make short work of it.

At last the long looked for rain has come, and we hope for a good corn crop this fall.

Frank Lytle is preparing to build on his claim on section 4. Wonder if Frank has found a bird for his cage.

The new school house in district 4 is ready for the roof. Lack of funds is the great drawback to finishing the house.

Miss Ida King is suffering from a dose of oak pollen contracted while on a berrying expedition, one day last week.

We understand T. J. Pate entertained a number of his friends and neighbors on Saturday evening the 19th inst. Refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, cake, etc.

Johnny Johnson came up from Newark, a few days ago, and spent a week visiting his father, Wm. Johnson. On Friday evening, before his return, the neighbors and friends to the number of about fifty gathered and gave him an old fashioned surprise. Singing and outdoor plays were the amusements of the evening.
